HOUSE DESTROYED — Corte Madera firemen in a vain attempt to save this doomed house flood it with water, the car and garage are already gone. The house at 17 Constitution Drive and the one next door were destroyed yesterday in a fire that also damaged a third home. Damage to the three houses and contents was estimated by firemen to total $120,000. (Another photo, page 21)

Explosive Blaze Hits Three Homes

$120,000 In Damage Reported

Two houses in Corte Madera were destroyed and a third badly damaged yesterday when a car battery charger, left going for several days, exploded setting the homes afire.

The fire began at 17 Constitution Drive, residence of Linda B. Goldberg, her daughter and her brother, Leonard Boro, and spread to the homes of her two neighbors, Walter S. Smith Jr., of 13 Constitution Drive and Barry Blakely of 21 Constitution Drive.

When the 3 p.m. blaze was out, 90 minutes later, the Goldberg and Smith homes had been destroyed. Blakely's residence was livable but the attic had been thoroughly gutted.

The Corte Madera Fire Department responded with three units and called on Larkspur firemen to man their station while they were gone.

Firemen said they could spot smoke from the overpass on Highway 101 and saw the house explode as they approached. High winds hampered them in bringing the blaze under control.

None of the occupants was at home at the start of the blaze and no one was injured. Boro, owner of the vehicle in the garage, was out of town. Mrs. Goldberg had gone to pick up her daughter at nearby Granada School. Smith and Blakely returned home during the fire.

Apparently none of the victims lost all belongings firemen said, and Mrs. Goldberg reentered her house to salvage clothes and miscellaneous items.

Damage has been set at $50,000 to the Goldberg residence and its contents; $55,000 to the Smith house; and $15,000 to the Blakely residence.

Firemen said a battery charger attached to the Boro car for several days, become overheated and erupted starting the fire which spread to the rest of the home.

Mrs. Goldberg told firemen she and her daughter would spend the night with her parents in Belvedere; Smith was to stay with friends and the Blakelys reoccupied their home.

State To Keep Control Of Roads

The state director of public works will not recommend deleting Shoreline Highway and Tiburon Boulevard from the state highway system as long as Marin County wants them in the system.

That assurance came last night from Bruno Dentino, chief of transportation for the state director of public works, at a hearing at the Civic Center.

But Highway 17 — a highway that exists only on paper, because no one can agree on the route it should take to connect West Marin with Highway 101 — appears due for elimination from the system.

The three-man hearing committee, headed by Supervisor Donald M. Hillman of Tulare County, included Dentino and Harold Taylor, planning engineer for the State Divison of Highways.

Dentino announced that state Public Works Director James A. Moe must report in January to the State Legislature concerning deletions and additions to the state highway system.

"We recognize that deletions could create financial hardships to local areas, and so I want to emphasize that Mr. Moe will not recommend additions or deletions which are not jointly proposed by the state and the local governments involved," said Dentino.

Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., representing the Marin County Board of Supervisors, asked the state not to delete Shoreline Highway (from Richardson Bay Bridge to Point Reyes Station) and Tiburon Boulevard because both carry recreation traffic to major state and federal parks.

Similar argument for retaining the two highways were advanced by Ezilda Lucheta, speaking for Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood and several others.

Marin County Supervisors did not object to the state's deleting proposed Route 17, an east-west connector from Highway 101 to Nicasio or Point Reyes, because it is a paper route on whose alignment local agencies cannot agree.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell presented the position of Marin's City-County Planning Council, opposing the deletion of any route until comprehensive studies had been made on various modes of transportation, including rapid transit, that could be provided for recreation areas of Marin.

Robert Tartaul of Stinson Beach and Robert F. Raab of Fairfax, both representing conservation organizations, expressed concern that Shoreline Highway might be expanded into a speedway.

Under quizzing by Raab, Dentino said environment and esthetics are uppermost in the minds of the state, and the state will cooperate with local plans. "Before a freeway is built, the alignment has to be decided and an agreement reached with the local government," said Dentino. "The cities and the county would in effect have a veto power."

After the 90-minute hearing, Dentino said the message from Marin is clear. He said Public Works Director Moe will not recommend the deletion of Shoreline and Tiburon Boulevard to the Legislature in 1972 but will probably recommend the deletion of the paper Route 17.

Judge Dismisses All But 1 Charge Against Medina

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) —A military judge today reduced or dismissed all but one of the 102 murders charges against Capt. Ernest L. Medina, charged with overall responsibility for the massacre at My Lai.

The 34-year-old professional soldier originally had three specifications of murder lodged against him. He was accused of personally shooting a woman, of ordering the slaying of a little boy, and of permitting his troops to slaughter 100 others.

After the defense rested the military judge in the case, Col. Kenneth A. Howard, announced he was reducing the charge that Medina permitted his troops to kill 100 persons to one of involuntary manslaughter. The charge carries a 8-year maximum sentence upon conviction.

The charge that Medina ordered the shooting of the boy was thrown out entirely, leaving only one murder charge — that of shooting a woman during the March 16, 1968, infantry sweep through the My Lai area.

Medina has admitted shooting the woman, but said he did it in self defense —believing she was about to hurl a hand grenade at him.

After a morning long argument over the reduction of charges, the court was recessed until Tuesday because of a death in the family of the chief prosecutor, Maj. William D. Eckhardt.

The first of the charges reduced or dismissed involved the shooting of the little boy.

A former GI, Gene Oliver of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., came forth during the trial and testified that he had shot the boy by mistake, without ever having received an order from Medina to do so.

The prosecution made a surprise move just before the defense rested at 9:45 a.m. It recalled Oliver to the stand and asked Oliver whether he had ever threatened the life of the chief prosecutor, Maj. William D. Eckhardt, or Eckhardt's assistant, Capt. Frank Wurtzel.

Oliver said he had not, and Medina's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, immediately and viggrously objected. The jury was temporarily dismissed and Bailey protested the question should never have been put to Oliver with the jury present since, he said, this was grounds for mistrial.

The military judge refused to throw out the case, but said: "I'm going to direct a finding of not guilty as to this part of the charge (that Medina ordered the killing of a little boy), so it is not relevant anyway."

Howard then recalled the jury, and the defense announced it was resting, clearing the way for the prosecution to begin presentation of its rebuttal witnesses.

Medina took the stand Thursday and portrayed himself as a commander beset by a bumbling lieutenant — William L. Calley—inexperienced troops and lack of information.

Otis Interior Job Seems On Again

The off-again-on-again Department of the Interior job for Ross resident Webster Otis seemed to be on again today as Otis and his family quietly left for Washington, D.C.

Otis, 36-year-old executive of a land speculating firm, had earlier this summer been appointed to an Interior post by a fellow Ross resident, John W. Larson, new assistant secretary of the interior.

After newspaper reports of Otis's interest in a ranch sought for the Point Reyes National Seashore, Larson rescinded his earlier announcement of Otis's appointment as a special assistant.

He claimed that Otis had merely gone to Washington to be interviewed about job possibilities.

About a month ago, Larson said that the matter was being hashed over by Interior officials, and if Otis was appointed, the press would be notified.

Yesterday the Independent-Journal learned that Otis has leased his Ross home and taken his family to Washington, where he expects to take a job as a "consultant" to the Interior Department beginning Monday.

Friends of Otis said that he expects to go through Civil Service proceedings and then be appointed to a permanent position.

This announcement is expected to come along with a list of other Bay area appointments to the Republican administration.

Through a spokesman, Larson today confirmed that Otis "has been offered permanent employemnt with the Department of the Interior as one of a number of staff assistants in the (newly created) office of program and coordination."

The spokesman also said Otis would work on a temporary assignment until cleared through Civil Service. His salary will be somewhere between $24,000 and $31,500, the spokesman said.

Dirty Air May Choke Bay Growth

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Dirty air and noise already are so severe in the Bay Area that planning must switch from how to accept more growth to how to stop more growth.

This was the warning yesterday in an Association of Bay Area Governments report of the effect of aviation on the environment. The report was done for ABAG's regional airport study committee by its environmental design consultants, Wilsey and Ham of South Pasadena.

They concluded that "it is ecologically vital to realize that no population can continue to increase indefinitely in a given area. Therefore, it may well be time to plan to stop growth, not plan to accept more, or worse yet to encourage it."

People with respiratory problems are being advised by doctors to leave the area, and lung diseases are "on a dramatic increase, probably due to air pollution," the report said. "Many hundreds" have taken their doctors' advice and moved away from the area, it noted.

Plants and animals also are being affected by poor air quality in portions of the nine-county area.

"Thus, any increase in air

Senate Defeats Try To Table Draft Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted down today, 47 to 36, a strong move to block revival of the military draft. But citorious Senate forces supporting President Nixon still faced hard fighting to enact the legislation.

Rejected was a motion to table the bill to extend the draft until June 30, 1973. The aim was to attack a "rider" amendment to set an April 1 deadline for U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

The tabling motion went down to defeat in the face of strenuous efforts by President Nixon and administration forces.

The action was a victory for Nixon and another in a long series of reversals for senators who have sought to legislate a specific timetable for U.S. withdrawal.

The measure still must clear at least one more major obstacle, however—a filibuster by those who want no draft at all.

The next showdown probably will be a move next week to shut off further debate—an action that requires a two-thirds majority for success— always difficult to obtain.

Nobody has been inducted into the Army since that basic authority expired June 30 as Congress wrangled over renewal.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, an outspoken draft opponent, said in today's closed debate that rather than being irresponsible in delaying extension of the draft, the Senate was irresponsible in not denying Nixon the power to continue the Vietnam War.

In a closing argument before the vote on tabling the bill, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chair-

Warning On TV Rays Is Lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Two years ago the U.S. surgeon general warned television viewers they faced a potential radiation hazard if they sat closer than 6 to 10 feet in front of their sets.

Thursday the government lifted the warning. The Health, Education and Welfare Department said in a pamphlet that in the intervening period "steps have been taken by both government and industry" to reduce the potential hazard.

HEW said there was no evidence X-rays from television sets had resulted in human injury. It said the radiation potential had been reduced by development of a standard establishing a recommended emission rate, new procedures for government tests of TV sets before they are sold, redesigned components and new training for TV servicemen.

$75,000 County Subsidy For Seashore Shuttle Bus Proposed

A $75,000 county subsidy to Marin Transit Systems Inc. for shuttle bus service within Point Reyes National Seashore was proposed today by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste.

With possible federal matching funds, the total subsidy for the demonstration project could reach $225,000, Baptiste said.

The supervisor made his proposal before the transportation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge District. The committee endorsed his proposal and recommended to the full bridge board that the district's staff help the Marin City-based company get the federal money.

Baptiste said he has not yet taken his proposal before the Marin County Transit District but will do so at the next meeting of that board. That meeting had been set for next Tuesday but has been postponed to Oct. 5.

There was no discussion of how many buses would be involved in the demonstration project or how long the project would be conducted.

The project was endorsed by spokesmen for Marin Transit Systems, the League of Women Voters of Central Marin and the Sierra Club.

Firemen Battle Sequoia Blaze

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Helicopters shuttled men and supplies into a rugged area of Sequoia National Forest today to battle a forest fire which broke out Thursday afternoon.

Striking Teachers Fired

DALY CITY (UPI) —The Jefferson Elementary School District Board has begun dismissal procedures for 227 striking teachers.

The action came Thursday night during a brief meeting by the board. Afterwards, the board went into executive session while 700 parents remained to vote that the matter be turned over to State Superintendent Wilson C. Riles, who has offered to mediate the dispute.

The teachers went on strike Monday to force the board to negotiate their demands for working guarantees and for binding arbitration of grievances.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood answered that teachers had to return to work immediately or face dismissal. Substitute teachers at premium pay of $40 a day meanwhile were hired to handle classes.

Riles tried to head off trouble when he offered Thursday to mediate the dispute.

He said he was certain both sides were "committed to the welfare of the children ... but that because of honest differences the welfare of the children is suffering."

After the meeting, teacher spokesmen said they would be glad to have Riles settle the matter.

Greenwood previously announced that the board was willing to abide by a court decision over the legality of "collective bargaining resulting in a binding, bilateral contract for a fixed term" if the teachers would return to class before negotiations and also agree to the court decision.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Folsom Employee Killed

FOLSOM (UPI) — Authorities conducted a cell-by-cell search at Folsom State Prison today for weapons following the stabbing death of a civilian laundry supervisor.

Turner

Ronald L. Turner, 30, a civil service employee and father of four young children, was found dead Thursday of multiple stab wounds in the chest. It was the first killing of a Folsom Prison employee in more than 20 years.

Warden Walter Craven said the lockup of the prison's 1,800 inmates would remain in effect until the search for weapons has been completed and the attitude of inmates assessed.

He said the convicts were being let out of their cells only for meals and this was being handled on a tier-by-tier basis. He said no murder weapon had been found.

A suspect was being held in the prison's adjustment center and has been interrogated by prison authorities, the Sheriff's Department and the district attorney's office, a prison spokesman said.

Simple Auto Tire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Transportation Department today proposed a simplified automobile tire grading system designed to end consumer confusion over terms like "premium," "first line," and "second line" tires.

Under the system, tires would be graded for high speed performance, endurances and road hazard resistance using a simplified one-through-three numbering system.

"Each tire would have affixed to its tread surface a label containing the grades awarded, and an explanation of what each grade represents," said Douglas Toms, national highway traffic safety administrator.

The proposed rule would be effective Sept. 1, 1972. Citing "consumer confusion" over buying tires, Toms said the numbering system would give the buyer the guidance he needed to make "an intelligent, informed choice."

Neutral Bus Stand

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Members of the Pontiac Police Department, both black and white, have pledged to remain neutral in the city's volatile school busing controversy and enforce the law impartially.

At a news conference yesterday, Police Chief William Hanger and the leaders of the department's three officers' associations, also said they would remain neutral on all other public issues that could jeopardize police-community relations and the department's effectiveness.

The unusual action followed demands made at a public meeting Wednesday night that police refrain from endorsing one side or another in the busing dispute.

U.S. Favors Fin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Now that U Thant has declared that he will not serve another term as United Nations secretary general, the United States favors Ambassador Max Jakobson of Finland for the top leadership post of the world body.

Diplomatic sources said today they expected the search for a new secretary general would occupy part of the many conversations which Secretary of State William P. Rogers will have with visiting foreign ministers at the U.N. beginning next week.

Jakobson is known as an able ambassador who is particularly cool under pressure. His statements as Finland's permanent representative at the United Nations have been neutral enough to win the support of the Soviet Union.

Edith Weakening

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Hurricane Edith, whose destructive winds blew through Louisiana and into Mississippi Thursday, was mild compared with the mighty death-dealing hurricanes of recent years. Forecasters said today they hope Edith won't spoil evacuation efforts for future storms.

"They shouldn't be lulled into a false sense of security in the future because their experiences may not have been severe in Edith," said meteorologist Dale Goudeau.

Edith, spinning ever weaker in Mississippi early today but creating storms that have sparked tornadoes in Florida and prompted flood warnings to Pennsylvania, caused the heaviest damage Thursday in Baton Rouge.

Bomb Gunsite

SAIGON (UPI) — Three American F4 Phantom jets today bombed a Communist anti-aircraft gunsite in the northern half of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) after the jets were fired on while on a mission over the Ho Chi Minh trail in neighboring Laos.

It was the 59th in a series of what the U.S. command calls protective reaction strikes over North Vietnamese territory this year.

The command said the F4s struck 40 miles south of the coastal city of Dong Hoi. The northern half of the six mile wide DMZ is technically a part of North Vietnam.

Soldier Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A sniper shot and killed a British soldier in Belfast today in an exchange of fire with soldiers guarding explosives experts who were called in to investigate a planted bomb, an army spokesman said.

Gunfire wounded two other soldiers, one of them seriously, in the clash, the spokesman said.

Prouty's Senate Seat Is Filled

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Hastily appointed so he could support President Nixon's drive to revive the military draft, Robert T. Stafford was sworn in as a U.S. senator today, succeeding the late Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt.

Vermont Gov. Deane C. Davis elevated the Republican congressman to the Senate Thursday night just one day after Prouty's burial so that Stafford could be on hand for a key vote today on the draft bill.

Stafford, who has served as Vermont's sole congressman since 1961, was accompanied down the aisle by Vermont's other senator, George D. Aiken, the dean of Senate Republicans.

Only a handful of senators were present when the oath of office was administered to Stafford at 9:05 a.m. EDT as the first order of business.

In the first welcoming speech after Stafford took office, Aiken was brief:

"Sometimes he agrees with me and sometimes he doesn't. That's why I like him."

Davis announced Stafford's appointment at 9 p.m. Thursday and the White House sent an Air Force jet to Montpelier to pick him up.

Rockefeller Says Hostage Deaths Morally Justified

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller believes the nine hostages who died Monday in the storming of Attica state prison were caught in a gas-obscured crossfire of shotgun, rifle and pistol bullets.

He told a news conference in Albany Thursday the deaths were morally justified.

"I don't think there was indiscriminate shooting by state police," Rockefeller said. "I think the hostages were caught in a crossfire."

Rockefeller said police converged from "four different directions" under cover of tear gas after they had been ordered to take the prison back from the estimated 1,200 inmates who rioted and held two cellblocks of the prison for five days, holding 38 men hostage.

He was asked if the shootings of the hostages were justifiable homicide.

"When you use that term," the governor answered, "you're going beyond my legal expertise."

How about legally justified?

"Certainly," he said. "When you talk about morally, I certainly think so." He later said, "I thought there might have been more. We approached this from the philosophy of 'could any of these 38 hostages be saved?'"

The five-day riot and seige and the later takeover, in which 40 men died —10 prison employes and 30 inmates —has sparked a series of investigations. Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., was expected to arrive today with other members of the House Select Committee on Crime. A five-member panel of high-ranking judges picked by Rockefeller will meet Saturday to select a panel of citizens to make another study.

The state correctional department said the 30 inmate deaths was a revised figure. They said an earlier figure of 32 deaths was not correct and might have been the result of double counting.

HISTORY FALLS TO GROUND

The demolition of the old Courthouse in San Rafael is continuing with about half of the old building torn down by Ghilotti Brothers Inc. During the razing of the building, heavily damaged by fire in May, passersby have been able to see where the oldest section of the 99-year-old Courthouse was added to many years ago, with windows bricked up and another layer of rooms added. An old elevator shaft which once housed a gallows also became visible. County supervisors have put off to mid-October trying again to sell the property.

Ship Spills Oil At Richmond Wharf

I-J Special Report

RICHMOND — An oil line extending from the Swedish tanker Jacob Malmros broke early today, spilling more than 1,000 gallons of crude oil into the water at Richmond Long Wharf, according to the Coast Guard.

The vessel was unloading cargo at Pier 4 when the accident occurred at 1:55 a.m.

Booms to contain the oil were brought in by Standard Oil Co. and most of the spill was contained in the area, Coast Guard officers said.

Traces of oil, however, spread as far north as the Richmond side of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and to Ferry Point to the south.

Standard Oil in cooperation with Clean Days Inc., an oil cleanup contractor, was in charge of cleanup operations, a spokesman said.

Sadat Rattles Sabers; Golda Says Truce Shaky

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Middle East situation tightened up again today.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said in a radio and television address to the nat Thursday night: "I am ready to sacrifice a million people for the independence of our country and its liberation."

And in Tel Aviv Premier Golda Meir said in an interview with Israeli television that her nation is prepared for a possible breakdown of the 13-month-old cease-fire along the Suez Canal.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Sadat faced a crisis at home and Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said Sadat was once again turning to the Soviet Union for help.

Sadat in recent months has stated repeatedly the Middle East situation must be settled one way or another this year and in his television speech he said:

"Israel should be ready to sacrifice a million people, too. Israel will have to pay an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, napalm for napalm and deep penetration raids for deep penetration raids."

Eban, in an interview with the Tel Aviv newspaper Yedioth Ahronoth, attributed the war-like statements to Sadat's domestic crises —the treason trials now under way in Cairo, the Soviet involvement in Egypt and an army leadership pressing for war.

"If he emerges from this conflict, if he avoids former President Nasser's fatal mistake and will not be tempted to go to war without any logic but only through some self-delusion, he could be a very interesting personality," Eban said.

"Sadat is a great enigma, but like Nasser, he is capable of making peace."

Mrs. Meir, taking note of the worsening situation, said, "we are prepared for any eventuality."

Park Is No Longer Quentin Spokesman

James W. L. Park, outspoken associate warden at San Quentin, will no longer be the prison's spokesman to the press, the Independent-Journal learned today.

As a result of a job split because "the load was too heavy for one man," Park will devote all his time to running Death Row and to "inmate activities," according to the man who has replaced him.

Joseph R. O'Brien, who had been acting as public information officer at San Quentin while Park was on a vacation, has been named permanently to the assignment, he said today.

O'Brien said that he and Park were told of the new arrangement at a staff meeting Wednesday.

In the past, Park not only was in charge of Death Row but also spent a great deal of time answering news media questions.

His outspoken comments such as blaming the Aug. 21 bloody escape attempt at San Quentin on "bullxxxx talk by dilettante revolutionaries" had been defended by Ray K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections.

Park had also told newsmen that Soledad Brother George Jackson "would be alive today if it were not for his white advisers . . . They had nothing to lose by setting him up to be knocked down. If he had escaped, they would have had a hero to work with . . . Dead, he became a martyr."

The 49-year-old Park has been an associate warden at San Quentin since 1949.

Warden Louis S. Nelson said today that the new assignment for Park and O'Brien had been decided upon in July but that announcement was held up first because of the warden's vacation and later because of the Aug. 21 violence.

Mrs. Diane Feinstein Enters Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dianne Feinstein, president of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, entered the San Francisco mayor's race today on the last day for filing.

Mrs. Feinstein, 38, a slim matron with flashing blue eyes who was the biggest vote-getter in the Board of Supervisors race two years ago, announced her candidacy with a warning that "San Francisco is at a crossroads" between old-style and new-style politics.

The attractive wife of a San Francisco neurosurgeon, Mrs. Feinstein had been generally expected to stay out of the race in which Mayor Joseph Alioto, was considered by virtually all observers to be a shoo-in favorite despite a series of monumental legal difficulties over the next six months.

But in recent days she had been hinting that she might change her mind.

Mrs. Feinstein is the daughter of a world-famous surgeon, Dr. Leon Goldman of the University of California Medical Center. Her husband is Dr. Bertram Feinstein, who is associate chief of neurosurgery at Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center in San Francisco.

pollution from direct or indirect causes will probably increase the adverse effects on the lives of people and other living thing in the Bay Area, to say nothing of the detrimental effects on physical things such as paint, metals and clothing and their subsequent costs of repair or replacement," it said.

Noixe levels, especially from aircraft, "already disrupt the well being of many individuals in the Bay Area," according to the report. "Some evidence suggests that such noise increases stress," it added, "thus any increased noise levels will no doubt have detrimental inroads on the quality of life in the Bay Area."

The consultants suggested mapping "environmental sensitivity levels" throughout the region to describe the environmental impact of new and expanded aviation development. Such a measurement "is obviously very crude," it conceded, but it still would off a useful "early warning system" of sensitivity to environmental disruption. It would consider noise, air and water quality and wildlife habitat standards.

Another Pot Charge Added

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A new charge of cultivation of marijuana has been lodged against James Kimmel, former Novato teacher and Universal Life Church minister.

Sonoma County sheriff's deputies said they confiscated several hundred marijuana plants growing in the form of a peace symbol at Kimmel's home in Sonoma on Sept. 3.

Kimmel, 36, is currently on trial in Sonoma County Superior court on a prior cultivation of marijuana charge. He has challenged the arrest on constitutional grounds, claiming that marijuana is used during his worship services.

Blocking Truck Deal Is Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An administration spokesman has denied the government blocked a plan by Mack Truck Inc. to build a plant in the Soviet Union.

The company announced this week it had canceled the project and cited as the reason a failure to receive government approval.

An administration official said Thursday, however, "the government did not stand in the way of the deal." He said the Commerce Department had "asked for some more information and Mack didn't provide it."

DRAFT

man of the Senate Armed Services committee declared that further delay in passing new draft legislation could worsen existing military problems to the point of national tragedy.

In his appeal for action, Stennis declared: "The problems of crime and morale in our military services are extremely serious and I charge the Senate that further delay on this draft bill will serve to make the problems approach dimensions of tragedy."

President Nixon personally warned that failure to approve a two-year extension of the draft would be one of "the most irresponsible acts on the part of the United States Senate that I could possibly think of."

Nixon said at a Thursday news conference a vote against the draft would "seriously jeopardize peace initiatives of the United States around the world" and "make the United States the second strongest nation in the world."

But Nixon's vocal support for the draft law was not what inspired a new controversy that threatened the bill. Instead it was a rumor reportedly circulated by a key White House aide about Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

William Safire, President Nixon's chief speechwriter, reportedly called several newsmen to report on a "background" basis that Mansfield was threatening to cut off campaign funds for Democrats who did not support him on the draft. United Press International learned about the calls Thursday night and a reliable White House source confirmed that Safire had been spreading the story.

Mansfield denied that he had told Democrats anything of the sort. "That isn't my style," he said. "I didn't do it and I would not do it. I have never told anyone to vote for anything on the basis of party —not on that or anything else."

Nixon persuaded Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., Thursday to quit blocking the draft bill. The price for Allott's acquiescence was Nixon's support for a $2.7 billion military pay increase designed to create an all-volunteer army.

McCloskey Charges Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who will challenge President Nixon for the GOP nomination next year, believes the administration's use of "petty deceit for political gains" has become commonplace.

Because of this, McCloskey said Thursday, he intends to cite each week an instance in which he believes the administration has refused to give the full truth to Congress and the public.

As a starter, McCloskey pointed to comments former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel made in a new book. He said Hickel's book showed Nixon withheld adverse information on the supersonic transport for two years while Congress voted funds for the project.

No Fee For Outsiders At Library

Mill Valley Library Board last night decided to drop the library fee for nonresidents in exchange for the county's promise of certain goods and services.

The board's unanimous decision must be ratified by the city council before it can become effective, according to Librarian Alberta L. Hankenson.

The county will provide $11,200 in services and goods annually in exchange for the elimination of the nonresident fee which provides the library with $9,240 a year.

In services, the county will purchase $2,500 in books for Mill Valley; pay the library board's membership fee of $4,000 to the North Bay Cooperative Library System and send out overdue notices, an annual savings in staff time and postage of $4,700, according to Miss Hankenson.

The nonresident fee, $14 a year for a family and $5 a year for students, provides the library board with $770 a month or $9,240 a year.

Although threatened this summer by a city council budget cut, the library continues to operate regular hours.

The council chopped $5,000 from the board's $148,000 budget which, according to Miss Hankenson, would have resulted in a cut in operating hours.

The council, however, later restored $2,000 to the budget and a saving resulted from the 33-day closure during the strike by city employees this summer.

In other business, the board reelected Waldi Hecht, chairman and Robert Urban secretary for the next year.

OTIS

A business associate of Otis said today that Otis is in the process of divesting himself of his interest in the 2,500-acre Pierce Ranch, now under condemnation proceedings for the Point Reyes park.

He has also resigned as general manager for a company which owned a part interest in the ranch, according to friends. (Otis reportedly had owned about a 2 per cent interest in the property on which the owners had set a price of $7 million. The matter went to condemnation after the Department of the Interior offered a price near $1,700,000.)

Prison Rights Panel Formed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A new unit created within the Justice Department will deal with civil rights violations in prisons and other institutions.

Department officials said Thursday the forming of the new Office of Institutions and Facilities was not connected with the Attica, N.Y., prison riot.

The office will handle noncriminal violations such as segregated facilities, discriminatory hiring practices and complaints by prison inmates, Attorney General John N. Mitchell said in a statement.

No investigation of Attica is planned because of a departmental policy giving state officials jurisdiction in investigating alleged violations, a department spokesman said.

Creek Plea Is Rejected By Ross

The Ross Town Council last night rejected a citizens' petition demanding that the council either rescind its approval of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project or put it to a referendum.

Acting on the written advice ot Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott, the council voted not to hold such a referendum on Phase Four of the project which will run through the town.

Seventeen residents of Ross had gathered 224 signatures objecting to the flood control project, primarily because of what they called "outmoded" concrete walls planned along the creek through Ross.

Elliott told the council, however, that first of all, since the council had only given administrative approval to the project and not taken legislative action, the matter was not subject to a referendum.

He also added that the flood control project has been preempted by the state which is paying for the project.

Any referendum should be directed to the state, not to the town of Ross, Elliott wrote to the council.

The Ross Town Council also:

WAGES — Heard an opinion from Mayor Frederick S. Allen that salary increases granted to town employees should be given retroactively since they were granted before President Nixon's wage-price freeze.

CROWDED — Learned that a house at 57 Ivy Drive, which neighbors had complained had been rented to more than five unrelated tenants, has been sold and that the new owner intends to evict the tenants and renovate the property.

VARIANCE — Granted permission to Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hanger of 34 Woodside Way to enlarge a back room of their house and add additional decking around a swimming pool.

SOCCER — Heard that 75 youngsters are involved in the town's soccer program, the first such project in the county.

Novato Trustees In Goals Discussion

Should the Novato Unified School District give priority to training for teachers or to its program for less able learners? Or should the emphasis be on more volunteer aides or on standardization and continuity in learning?

These are on the list of educational objectives trustees are studying, determining which should be emphasized.

Several months ago the citizens' educational goals committee recommended 50 objectives, and the board is scheduled to pick "two or three" for "special emphasis" at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Novato High School lecture hall.

Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley said each trustee will select five to be considered for priority by the full board.

A committee recommendation which would have far-reaching effect is that the district adopt a continuous learning year, a year round operation.

Among the objectives which each trustee will nominate five for adoption are an enrichment program for more able learners, improved communication between teachers and parents and use of teaching methods that will emphasize creative thinking, methods of research and study skills.

There also are recommendations for a pilot program for nongraded schools, individualized instruction, expansion of vocational training, diagnostic testing of students within the first three weeks of school to aid a teacher in evaluating a student's learning and a change in the grading system, such as a combination of parent conference and report cards.

District administrators have given priority to a teacher training program, with expanded use of aides as their second choice, and standardization of learning as third choice.

Thirteen of the objectives presented by the committee "are being reasonably met" and won't be considered for emphasis, Mobley reported.

Among those being "reasonably met" are providing curriculum that prepares students for college and occupations, opportunity for student government, incorporating physical fitness performance into the physical education program, enlarging the summer school program, and an adult education program that offers vocational and avocational courses.

First Glasphalt Paving Project In Washington

VANCOUVER, WASH. (BW) — The West's oldest brewery has paved its parking lot with an experimental material containing 350,000 waste bottles and jars.

Peter N.T. Widdrington, president of Lucky Breweries, said 80 tons of crushed, multicolored glass containers went into the first "Glasphalt" paving project in this region.

"That's 80 tons of bottles and jars that might otherwise have added to our mounting solid-waste problems," Widdrington said.

Lucky laid a 10,000-square-foot, 1-½-inch-thick glasphalt surface over a 2-inch base, said Walter Syata, resident manager of the 114-year-old brewery. An adjacent 10,000-square-foot section was paved with standard asphalt at the same time.

In the years ahead, said syata, the two surfaces will be observed for endurance under identical conditions of weather and use.

Syata said the glass used in the project included 35 tons of recycled beer bottles that had been rejected at the plant here, as well as 45 tons of flint and green glass.

Stolen Gator Back At Zoo

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A three-foot alligator spent 30 hours uncaged near the San Diego Zoo before being spotted by a Hawaiian couple.

The visitors saw the reptile Wednesday as it poked its head from some bushes. They asked a zoo official if it was customary for large animals to run free.

The query led to the recovery of the gator stolen Tuesday morning from its pen.

A security officer captured one youth but said another burglar dropped a bag containing the alligator and when he tried to grab the reptile it snapped at him and slithered away.

VICTIM OF ITS OWN TRAILER

An unidentified tow truck operator appears to march triumphantly across an overturned automobile, but in reality is rescuing it from a ditch along northbound Highway 101, three miles north of Novato. The car was whipped into the ditch yesterday morning by its swerving trailer, which overturned on the highway, and three persons in the car were injured. Mildred Rainbolt, 59, of Orange, Orange County, who suffered fractured ribs and a collapsed lung, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital. Marj Grattidge, 69, who suffered multiple scrapes, and John Grattidge, 70, who suffered a cut right arm, both of San Carlos, were treated at the hospital.

Cutback In Welfare Predicted In Marin

Welfare aid to Marin residents will be cut back substantially both in the number of cases and in the amount of aid when the state's welfare reform program of 1971 goes into effect on Oct. 1.

That is the prediction of Donald M. Sanford, assistant director of public social services, who is in the process of recomputing eligibility and amount of aid on the basis of new directives from Sacramento.

In Marin County, almost 8,500 persons, one out of 25, are on welfare and they are scheduled to receive almost $11 million in direct aid during this fiscal year.

Sanford said he cannot say just how much that reduction will be. "We should have a clearer picture in about a week," he said.

The biggest impact of the welfare reform will be on Aid to Families With Dependent Children, said Sanford. "Every household without outside income will get a slight increase, and every household with outside income will get a slight decrease in aid. There will be a number of discontinuances."

Sanford said the overall effect would be a drop in the number of recipients and in the total payments. Significant changes caused by the welfare reform include greater financial responsibility put on stepfathers and reduced deductibility for working mothers.

In the past, a stepfather was not responsible for supporting his stepchildren. Under the new law, a part of the stepfather's earnings are considered outside income for his wife if she applies for welfare aid for her children from a previous marriage. Therefore, less aid will be given to her children than in the past.

The incentive program for working mothers has been modified so that she can deduct a maximum of $50 in work-related expenses, in addition to the cost of child care. In the past, there was no ceiling on the amount she could deduct for work-related expenses. This led to instances where a mother could be earning $10,000 per year or more and still qualify for welfare aid because of deductions allowed.

Another change is that Medi-Cal patients must pay a nominal fee of $1 per visit and 50 cents for each prescription. Also, doctor visits will be limited to 24 per year and prescriptions to two per month, unless the state authorizes more.

Middle and high income Californians will be required to contribute more for the support of aging parents on welfare.

Sanford said the welfare reform law will have little or no effect on the adult categories such as aid to the aged, blind and disabled.

Figures for last month show this breakdown of the number of persons on aid in Marin County:

Aid to the Aged — 1,260 persons; Aid to Blind — 42; Aid to the Disabled — 856; Aid to Families With Dependent Children — 6,211 (including 4,037 children and 2,174 adults); General Relief — 122; Total — 8,491.

Marin's total welfare budget for this year is $14,460,000, of which $11,000,000 is direct aid to recipients, and $3,460,000 is the cost of salaries, services, supplies and overhead. Marin pays about one-fourth of the total welfare cost, and the federal and state governments pick up three-fourths of the cost.

Five Plane Deaths

BELGRADE (UPI) — Five crewmen were killed when a Yemen Airlines DC3 crashed in southern Yugoslavia Thursday, the news agency Tanjug said. There were no passengers aboard.

Police Arrest Heroin Suspect

Otis Dell Robinson, 38, of no known address, was arrested last night by San Rafael police on a warrant charging him with selling narcotics.

Robinson was charged with selling three balloons containing 3.3 grams of heroin to an undercover agent in front of Gerstle Park on Aug. 5, sheriff's deputies reported.

San Rafael police sighted Robinson driving east on Third Street at Union Street at 11:30 p.m., halted him at Third and Embarcadero Way and arrested him.

He was booked at Marin County jail where bail was set at $18,750 and he was to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Courses To Explore History Of Blacks

The University of California's Education Extension Division will sponsor two three-credit courses in Afro-American history for teachers. One of the 10-week classes will begin at 4 p.m. Monday at Red Hill School in San Anselmo and the other will start at 7 p.m. Tuesday at San Rafael High School.

According to Dee Schilling, instructor for the courses, the classes will "explore the experience of being black in the U.S." Class topics will include Egypt and the early African states, European exploration and the slave trade, the psychology of the master-slave relationship, slave revolts and the status of free blacks before 1850.

Films will be shown each week and will include: "Negro Kingdom of Africa's Golden Age," "Slavery" and "Heritage of Slavery." The work of black leaders such as Benjamin Banneker, Frederick Douglass, Harriet Tubman, Nat Turner and Gabriel Prosser will be discussed.

Materials for use in elementary and high schools will be presented in the teachers' classes, according to Mrs. Schilling, who said the teachers will be encouraged to form a black, as well as a white perspective on U.S. history.

Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Schilling, 54 Bucklew Avenue, Marin City.

Flood Panel Backs Law On Debris

The directors of the Ross Valley Flood Control District subzone 9A have endorsed pending legislation in Sacramento to give the district authority to enforce the county's creek debris ordinance.

According to Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, the bill as proposed by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, would also permit the district to sponsor recreational activities along its creeks.

The bill, now in the Senate, would designate the district as a maintenance district empowering it to force property owners adjacent to streams to keep them debris-free.

Without such legislation, Murphy said, the flood control district would be forced to start a massive capital improvement project to clean up several troublesome creeks.

As for the recreational aspects of the bill, the district has no immediate plans of starting recreation activities, he said.

About 1.7 million automobile drivers were involved in accidents in April, 1970, says the Insurance Information Institute.

Marin Housing Vacancies A Mite More Plentiful

House-hunters may find rentals a tiny bit more plentiful in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties than they were last year, the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. reported yesterday.

After canvassing the number of its utility meters idle — indicating vacant houses or apartments — the utility firm found there were fewer empty homes in Southern Marin in June, but slightly more than a year ago in Central and Northern Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The Southern Marin area had 128 empty units, compared with 179 for a year ago, or a vacancy rate of 0.7 per cent compared to 1.1 per cent a year ago. The average throughout the PG&E service area was 1.8 per cent in June.

Central Marin had 363 open units in June, or 0.9 per cent vacancies, compared with 331 a year earlier. Northern Marin vacancies were 120 compared to 79 a year earlier. The Southern Sonoma County area had 144 vacancies, compared to 133 a year earlier.

PG&E statisticians said almost all of the increase in vacancies were due to new construction.

Robbery Count Is Dismissed

A felony charge of robbery against Jerry Ray Wade, 21, of San Rafael, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

The dismissal Tuesday was at the request of the district attorney's office which reported the alleged victim of the robbery, as well as a major witness, could not be located.

Wade was arrested Aug. 28 after Charles V. Dunn, 22, of San Anselmo, told police that Wade and another man forced their way into his home and took a $40 stereo.

The other man was never caught.

Innocent Plea To Molesting

Ernest Paul Carry, 47, of no known address, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of child molesting.

Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 28.

Petaluma Faces A Student Influx

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, heard last night that schools are already operating at full capacity and that an additional 200 students can be expected by Dec. 1.

Norman Ross, principal of La Tercera School, filled in for ailing schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan and told the board that a housing survey showed the 376 new homes will be ready for occupancy by Dec. 1.

He said the figure would probably run higher since Boise Cascade did not provide the district with an estimate on the number of houses it will complete in the Rancho Verde subdivision. Ross said the district must find room for at least 200 more children.

He recommended the district purchase three additional portable classrooms to accommodate the extra students, but advised the board to wait until Magowan returns and can give it more information.

Ross said a total of 1,841 students are currently enrolled in the district with the fifth grades at La Tercera especially crowded. The board approved the employment of Donald Clauder at a salary of $9,273 so that another fifth grade class can be formed.

He said the class would begin Monday and be held in the school library. Ross said library books would be distributed to various classes and the library closed.

He said teachers who used the area as a work room would now be required to use a storage room. Board meetings normally held in the library will be shifted to a classroom in the future, he said.

The district board also:

Heard that teachers' salaries must revert back to the 1970-71 school year scale until the national freeze on wage increases is lifted; approved the hiring of Marylou Brooks as a teacher at a salary of $9,206, and directed staff members to update the district civil defense and disaster preparedness plan.

House Moving Bid Accepted

The General Services Administration announced yesterday that it has accepted the one and only bid of $51.03 for four houses to be removed from Point Reyes National Seashore.

While the bid by B. Sellick of San Francisco seems low for the four houses, ranging in size from 825 square feet to 1,812 square feet, Edward Saylor, chief of the real property division, said "We are fortunate to have a positive bid."

Saylor explained that Sellick will have to pay to have the houses removed and if there were no bids, the cost of removal might have been as high as $5,000 to the government.

To Probe Crash

BUDAPEST (UPI) — An investigation team headed by the director of the Hungarian state airline traveled to the Soviet Union today to investigate the line's second crash in three weeks.

A Soviet-built TU134 jetliner with 49 persons aboard went down Thursday near Kiev, some 450 miles southwest of Moscow.

Return Of Firm's Bond Is Denied

The Cotati City Council last night denied the return of a performance bond to Storer Cable TV Inc., saying service has not been completely satisfactory.

District Mgr. Jack Harper had requested the cancellation of the $25,000 performance bond submitted in July 1968 when the firm became the franchise agent for the city.

City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen said his office has received complaints from residents about service and said the company has been slow to provide service to new customers until prodded by his office.

The Citati City Council also:

PLANNING — Delayed appointing a replacement for Patrick Geis on the planning commission until the commission can make a recommendation to the council.

POLICY — Asked that the city attorney's office prepare a formal policy making it clear to developers that they are responsible for engineering work on public improvements required of them.

MEETING— Adjourned to Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. to hear a report on water needs and to hold a closed session on personnel requested by councilman Lester Petersen.

Youth Injured As Cycle Flips

A 17-year-old San Rafael youth received cuts and bruises Wednesday when he was thrown from his motorcycle as it hit a speed bump on High Street, police reported yesterday.

Robert Joseph Helstrom of 14 Watt Ave. told police he was accelerating his cycle as he traveled north on High when he hit the bump and lost control of the vehicle.

Volunteer Park For Sausalito Is Backed

A plan by a Sausalito citizens' group to develop a community park on city-owned waterfront property between Napa and Litho streets won unanimous endorsement last night from the Sausalito Recreation Commission.

The proposal, submitted by Barry C. Hibben of Sausalito, representing Community Park Volunteers, would develop the park at no cost to the city through volunteer labor and donated materials, city engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger reported.

The 12-acres of waterfront land, including four acres of dry land and eight acres of water, was purchased by the city through a $560,000 bond issue approved by voters last November. Because the city has no money to develop the land at this time, Wohschlaeger said the volunteer group formed to prevent the property from sitting idle for months.

He said the park would be a "simple but pleasant" facility with open lawn, landscaping and a children's play area. No structure would be built and there would be no paving, the city engineer said.

The development plan submitted to the commission by Hibben was prepared by seven Sausalito architects and planners: Donald K. Olsen, Roland Mays, John O'Brien, Wayne Wedell, Ray Belknap, Eric Borgwardt and Wohschlaeger.

It proposes that overall supervision of the park construction and future maintenance be handled by the city park and recreation department and the city engineer.

The plan, along with the Recreation Commission's approval, will be presented to the Sausalito City Council Tuesday, the city engineer said.

Woman Fined For Having Pot

Western Marin Judicial Court Justice David R. Baty, sitting in Municipal Court Tuesday, also placed her on probation for one year.

She was arrested Aug. 15 when a prison guard found two marijuana cigarettes in her purse when she arrived at the prison to visit her brother, an inmate.

Man Arraigned In Car Theft

A Novato man was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of car theft after being arrested earlier in the day in Larkspur.

Frederick Neville Henderson, 39, of 2075 Hatch Road, Novato, was to appear in court today to enter a plea. He was held in jail in lieu of $1,250 bail.

Larkspur police said that they were called by employees of a business at 2060 Redwood Highway after Henderson left a 1971 Plymouth in front of the business. Police found Henderson walking north on Highway 101.

The car had been reported stolen several days ago by Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Thousands Join In Mexican Festivities

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Some 50,000 persons turned out at East Los Angeles Thursday to celebrate the 161st anniversary of the uprising by Father Miguel Hidalgo y Costillo which ultimately led to the Independence of Mexico.

Although full independence was not achieved until 1821, Father Hidalgo's 1810 revolution is considered the beginning of Mexican independence from Spain and the date of that uprising is celebrated as Mexican Independence Day.

Chromosome Breakthrough

HOUSTON (UPI)—Doctors at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute report they have perfected techniques for recognition of all 46 of the human chromosomes.

The chromosomes, submicroscopic rods within the nucleus of reproductive cells that carry the code of hereditary traits from parents to their offspring, first were counted in 1956. But doctors could not identify the individual rods.

The breakthrough by the M. D. Anderson research team, described in an article published by Washington's National Academy of Sciences, could smooth efforts to determine why birth defects occur. It could also provide early detection of hereditary problems, the article siad.

Judge Won't Prevent Indictments

By C. P. McCARTHY

Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson yesterday refused to prohibit Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales from seeking grand jury indictments in connection with the violent escape attempt at San Quentin Prison Aug. 21.

The prohibition had been sought in behalf of two San Quentin inmates and East Bay attorney Stephen M. Bingham. Bingham is already charged by Bales in Municipal Court with five counts of murder in connection with the prison violence.

Bales indicated previously he will seek indictments in connection with the case but has not indicated how soon he will act.

Attorneys for Bingham and the two inmates — Hugo A. Pinnel and John Larry Spain — argued that publicity stemming from the bloody escape attempt, in which six persons died, had prejudiced the grand jury against their clients.

Spain fled the adjustment center with Jackson, but dove into bushes when guards opened fire and was uninjured. A guard whose throat was slashed reportedly gasped, "Yogi did it," as he stumbled out of the adjustment center. Sources at the prison said "Yogi" was a nickname for Pinnel.

The action in behalf of Bingham had been sought by his father, Alfred M. Bingham, a Connecticut lawyer and former state senator. Bingham has been sought by authorities since the day of the escape attempt.

He is accused of smuggling in a gun to inmate George Jackson, touching off the escape attempt from the prison's adjustment center. Jackson, two other inmates and three prison guards were killed.

In a three-hour hearing yesterday, attorneys Carl Shapiro of San Anselmo, representing Pinnel and Spain, and David Nawi of Oakland, for Bingham, presented newspaper clippings and testimony by Bay Area radio and television personnel to indicate heavy coverage of the escape attempt and subsequent events — in particular statements by Bales at a press conference he held the day he filed the complaint against Bingham.

Bales said then that "There was no other way George Jackson could have obtained the death gun except through his visit with Attorney Stephen Bingham."

Wilson said there was no evidence to justify his interfering in the case.

He said he assumed the grand jury would act in a fair and impartial manner and that the district attorney would present it with legally sufficient evidence if indictments are to be returned.

If prosecution of the case — including any grand jury proceedings — are not carried out properly, Wilson said, the matter could then be called to the attention of the court and the court would still be free to act.

The judge also denied the attorney's request for a stay, pending their appeal of his decision.

Shapiro and Nawi said they would take their case to the state District Court of Appeal in San Francisco today.

Replica Of Famous Ship To Be Built

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — English shipwrights will lay the keel Sept. 30 for an exact replica of Sir Francis Drake's famous ship, Golden Hinde, a group of San Francisco and Marin businessmen announced yesterday.

After a three-year construction period and a maiden voyage to London, the Golden Hinde II will be sailed to a permanent berth in San Francisco Bay, which explorer Drake visited nearly four centuries ago.

The keel-laying will include appropriate ceremonies with British and United States officials, according to Albert D. Elledge, president of Golden Hinde Ltd., future owners of the new vessel. Elledge is also president of Harbor Carriers, Bay tourist vessel fleet.

Vice president of the new firm is Art Blum of Kentfield. San Rafael marine architect L. Christian Norgaard drew the plans for the three-masted, 102-foot-long sailing ship from old records, paintings and other historic data.

The J. Hinks and Sons shipyard of Devonshire, which built a replica of the historic Nonsuch for the Hudson's Bay Co., will build the Golden Hinde, principally of British oak and other woods.

Thermal Pollution Plan Is Branded 'Ineffective'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A geologist for the Southern California Edison Co. said Thursday that proposed revisions in thermal standards for coastal waters are arbitrary and ineffective.

J. L. McNey told the state Water Resources Control Board that the costs involved in complying with the proposed standards would outweigh the potential benefits.

The proposal before the board would limit temperature increases in coastal waters due to industrial water discharge to not more than four degrees within 1,000 feet of shore for more than 50 per cent of the time.

"The requirement will be difficult to monitor and to demonstrate compliance," McNey said.

Edison plants to build two new nuclear power plants near the existing facility at San Onofre and they would be affected by the proposed new rules.

McNey said the new requirement would add $20 million to the $25 million cost of a cooling tower planned for one of the sites. He said the increased cost eventually would be reflected in rates.

Finance Meet

The Marin Community College District board will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the board room of the administration complex to discuss capital improvements and financing of the north campus in Novato.

Harriman, 79, Will Wed Englishwoman

WASHINGTON (UPI) —AN acquaintanceship originating in London during part of Britain's blackest wartime days will culminate in the marriage, probably next month, of former diplomat and presidential aspirant W. Averell Harriman and Pamela Digby Churchill Hayward.

Harriman, who will be 80 on Nov. 15, and Mrs. Hayward, 51, first met when Harriman was sent to London in 1941 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to help expedite American aid to help Winston Churchill's beleaguered forces fend off the Nazis. Mrs. Hayward was then married to Churchill's son, Randolph.

Harriman's wife died a year ago. They had been married 40 years.

Mrs. Hayward, daughter of Sir Edward Digby, divorced Churchill in 1946. In 1960, she married Leland Hayward, a New York theatrical producer. Hayward died last spring. Mrs. Hayward continued to live in Westchester County, near New York.

The Washington Post said Harriman and Mrs. Hayward met for the first time in many years last spring at a Washington dinner party.

Harriman said the wedding would take place "before the end of the year—probably next month." He did not say where it would be held.

Kennedy's Son's Probation Ends

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (UPI) —Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and his cousin, R. Sargent Shriver III, have been released from 13 months probation.

Judge Michael J. Donahue in Juvenile Court accepted the report of a court officer Thursday that probation for the pair and several others be terminated. The judge made no findings as to guilt or innocence in dismissing the cases.

Kennedy and Shriver, both 17, were arrested a year ago last month in Hyannis when they were 16. They were charged with being delinquents by reason of possessing marijuana and pleaded "not true."

EARLY WINTER IN WYOMING

The first snowstorm of the fall hit Wyoming yesterday and dropped a blanket on much of the state. A statue in front of the state capitol in Cheyenne reflects the pattern of the snowfall, which was driven into drifts by moderate winds. The snow came on the heels of a hot spell which had driven temperatures in the mountain states into the 90s.

Panel Backs Integration Guidelines

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee today approved legislation establishing guidelines for schools to follow in writing racial integration plans.

The measure, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was sent to the full Senate without opposition witnesses. Sen. John Holmdahl, D-Oakland, cast the sole audible dissenting vote.

"Without these guidelines, school districts are completely devoid of direction," Bagley told the committee.

The guidelines are similar to regulations adopted by the state Board of Education about two years ago. The regulations were later repealed after a Los Angeles judge used them as the basis for a decision which required busing to integrate schools.

The board's repealer was later reversed by a court and the guidelines put back into effect. Bagley's bill puts the guidelines into law.

One major difference between the lawmaker's proposal and the board's regulations is in the amount of deviation recommended for racial composition.

The board allowed only 15 per cent racial or ethnic deviation, while Bagley's bill says schools must not have "substantial" differences.

Materials Stolen

Building materials valued at $6,248 were stolen yesterday from the construction site of Casa Grande Manor subdivision, Petaluma, police reported. Material included lumber, metal gutters and exterior siding.

Petaluma Studying Year-Round Schools

Year-round schooling may be the answer to slowing spiraling school costs and crowding problems, the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association has heard.

Dean D. Magowan, superintendent of the Old Adobe School District in East Petaluma, told the group Wednesday night that he and administrators from both the Petaluma and Cotati school districts are working on a plan to place all Southern Sonoma schools on a 12-month basis.

Magowan said all three districts must cooperate on the study since parents may have students in two different school districts and would be inconvenienced if they were on different schedules.

He said the program would move slowly with one of the four district schools converted to the year-round plan that would stagger vacation schedules and could put students in class for 45 days followed by 15 days of vacation.

Magowan said many problems must be considered before the plan could be put into operation. He said the effect on the team teaching approach must be weighed as well as how the schedule would affect the learning process for children.

He said the plan would permit the district to stagger the flow of students and get better use of schools, perhaps delaying the need for more buildings.

The Petaluma Board of Education has scheduled a program on year-round schooling for its Sept. 28 meeting.

Man To Answer Pot Charges

Paul Edward LeClair, 20, of San Anselmo, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of selling marijuana and hashish.

He is to plead to the charges Monday.

LeClair was arrested Sept. 8 after he allegedly sold the drugs to an undercover narcotics agent.

Two other San Anselmo residents, arrested after agents followed LeClair to their house following the alleged drug sale, are charged with possessing marijuana and hashish and possessing marijuana for sale.

James Franklin Reel, 22, and Martha Ann Martini, 28, are to plead to those charges tomorrow.

Fund Report Slipup By Clausen, Brown

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Both Congressman Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and California Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. apparently slipped up in following the rules that require candidates to report their election expenses.

Tom Quinn, spokesman for Brown, said yesterday that his office never received the personal campaign expenses statement that Clausen was to have filed after the April 1970 primary elections. Brown's office did receive a primary expense statement from Clausen's campaign committee, and both committee and personal statements for the November general election, Quinn reported.

However, Quinn admitted, Clausen improperly was issued a certificate of nomination to put his name on the general ballot as Republican nominee. "It was erroneously done by this office," Quinn said.

Clausen's field representative, Gordon Tippet, said in Santa Rosa yesterday that Brown's move to force a total of 134 candidates to file campaign expenses or face prosecution by district attorneys, had caught his office by surprise.

"I just talked with the Congressman's office in Washington," Tippet related. "They had no idea Brown's office never received the statement. And none of us, either here or in Washington, ever heard from Brown's office that anything was missing."

Quinn said that despite the error by Brown's staff, Clausen still must go through the formalities of obtaining a court order permitting him to file the report late — and do it before Oct. 15. The technicality cannot knock Clausen out of office, Quinn said.

Brown, the son of former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, told the press yesterday he would not only seek prosecution of candidates who don't comply, but would bar them from ever running for office in California.

Clausen was the only elected candidate on the list.

The 133 losers ranged from former Sen. George Murphy through Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, state senate hopeful, and Raymond E. Paschke of Santa Rosa, who sought Republican nomination for a state Board of Equalization seat.

Shone could not be reached for comment on Brown's order.

Avoid traffic. Swim to Dominic's.
If we're to keep up with the competition in the restaurant business these days, we have to offer an advantage of some kind besides just truly superior food and drink. One day someone noticed that our location on the San Rafael Yacht Harbor meant customers could swim directly to our private docks from almost any point in the Bay Area. We checked to see if any of our competitors were stressing this, and none were. So if you don't want to fight traffic getting to a fine restaurant, now you know what to do.

Nixon Rules Out Viet Vote Entry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said Thursday it may take several generations before South Vietnam becomes a genuine Democracy, but he ruled out U.S. pressure to force a contested presidential election there.

Nixon told an impromptu news conference in his oval office he rejects suggestions that the United States should cut off military and economic aid to South Vietnam if President Nguyen Van Thieu goes ahead with plans to run unopposed for reelection Oct. 3.

Nixon said if Thieu is overthrown, it would be followed by "coup after coup on the dreary road to a Communist takeover." He said the United States became bogged down in Southeast Asia because Americans were involved in the overthrow of assassinated President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963.

"The way we got into Vietnam was through overthrowing Diem and the complicity in the murder of Diem and the way to get out of Vietnam in my opinion is not to overthrow Thieu," Nixon said.

He was asked if Thieu's one-man election meets U.S. hopes for a democratic South Vietnam.

"No," he replied. "As a matter of fact, that objective will not be met for perhaps several generations."

On other subjects in his wide-ranging 35-minute session with newsmen, Nixon:

—Said the economic stabilization measures to follow the current wage-price freeze will concentrate on "major" industries and will be backed up by enforcement programs with teeth in them.

—Chided Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination, for saying a black person could not be elected vice president next year.

—Said no date has been set for his trip to Peking but that negotiations with the Chinese on arrangements for the visit are "on schedule."

—Reiterated his support for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's handling of the Attica prison riot.

—Indicated he was willing to compromise with Congress on the details of his new economic package but vowed to fight hard to win passage of the basic measures.

—Hinted the United States may retain its 100 per cent extra tax on imports for some time and pressure other nations to accept a realignment of currency valuations.

Concerning his own visit to China, Nixon said he expected to engage in some frank talk with Chinese leaders about the many differences between the two nations.

"I think one of the reasons that these talks may be productive is that Premier Chou En-lai, both publicly and privately, doesn't take the usual naive sentimental idea, and neither do I, of, 'well, if we just get to know each other all of our differences are going to evaporate,'" Nixon said.

The President promised a strong and effective policy to deal with the economy after the wage-price-rent freeze expires Nov. 13.

"It will have teeth in it," he added. "You cannot have jawboning that is effective without teeth."

The President has said previously he would announce post freeze policy about mid-October.

In the most plainly political question of the news conference, Nixon was asked to assess Muskie's remark to a group of Negro politicians in Los Angeles that he would not want a black running mate because under present conditions such a ticket could not win.

Without using Muskie's name or implying he would welcome a black on his own ticket next year, Nixon said it was a "libel on the American people" to say they would vote against a candidate solely on the basis of race.

"I think it is very important for those of us in position of leadership not to tell a large number of people in America, whoever they are, that because of the accident of their birth they don't have a chance to go to the top," he said.

Pair Caught By Larkspur Police Chief

Two San Francisco men were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of burglary after their escape from sheriff's deputies was interrupted by the Larkspur Chief of Police.

Roy Chester Johnson, 27, and Anthony Paul Bell, 18, were held in lieu of $3,125 each to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Deputies said they were arrested on Doherty Drive in Larkspur by Police Chief Howard Clark after a bulletin was issued for them when they were seen driving out of Kent Woodlands with a television in the front seat of their car.

The television, as well as other property found in their car, had been stolen in a burglary of the residence of Herman A. Vanderkamp of 72 Ridgecrest Road.

Daley's Wife Dislikes A Book, So It's Taken Off The Shelves

CHICAGO (UPI) — Author Mike Royko said today paperback versions of his book about Mayor Richard J. Daley were banned from National Tea Co. shelves at the request of the mayor's wife.

Royko's story of the banning of "Boss" was told in his Chicago Daily News column, and it was confirmed by the manager of the South Side National Tea supermart where Mrs. Daley often shops.

"Holy smokes," said store manager Thomas Tamburo. "I told the story to somebody over the phone yesterday who said he was from the mayor's office. He didn't say anything about being on a newspaper."

Tamburo said he told the caller that Mrs. Daley, shopping in his store for the first time in two or three weeks, saw a prominent display of "Boss — Richard J. Daley of Chicago" on the magazine and book rack.

He said Mrs. Daley marched up to the rack and turned the cardboard sign face down, and then turned each paperback around to hide the title.

"She was pretty mad," Tamburo was quoted as saying. "She said she wanted the books taken out of the store and that she wasn't going to shop in the store anymore if they weren't removed."

Tamburo said he called National Tea Co. headquarters downtown and "told them what happened and how Mrs. Daley felt about the books."

Tamburo said he had the books off the racks within 10 minutes. He said that was on Monday. On Tuesday a directive from National's executive offices was sent to the more than 200 outlets in the Chicago area to remove the books and return them to the distributor.

The account of the banning of "Boss" differed from versions by the National executives, who said "no pressure of any kind" was brought for removal of the books.

Not a single copy of the book by Mike Royko was reported available at any of the nation's second largest city's three airports.

A spokesman for National Tea said Thursday many customers had complained that "Boss" was not a good book for Chicago's image. The spokesman did not say how many complaints were received.

No officials were available to comment on why visitors to Chicago's O'Hare International, Midway and Meigs airports aren't able to buy the book on concession stands.

Herb Fried, president of the Levy Company, said the book is selling "briskly" in the Chicago area.

Enrollment In Shoreline District Up

Opening-day enrollment at Shoreline Unified School District was 936, up 34 from opening day last year, Supt. Charles E. McCully reported last night to the district board.

McCully said the enrollment at Tomales High School was 270, up 15, and at West Marin School it was 354, up 21.

At Bodega Bay School and Tomales Elementary School enrollment was virtually the same as last year, he said.

Trustees approved an agreement to obtain a small strip of land needed for improvements to the road to Tomales High School, McCully reported.

The land, 295 square feet, owned by Kirkland, Martinelli and Greppi, will become district property on the condition that the district construct a fence and gate along the entrance to the private lands and give the owners an easement.

Autopsy Performed On Poison Victim

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — A preliminary autopsy report on an 18-year-old botulism victim showed that Juan Vega died of cerebral edema, or too much fluid on the brain, and showed "a touch of pneumonia," a complication that often results from the food poisoning disease.

Vega was one of six persons stricken by the disease after they ate tainted home canned chili peppers.

Hot, Smoggy Spell May Prove Blessing

The last few days have given California residents considerably greater awareness of how much pollution is in the air.

The first "smog alert" ever proclaimed by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District served to emphasize what just about everyone knew by then: that the hot air we had been breathing was not good air.

Plane travelers reported that all the way from San Diego and Los Angeles, the atmosphere below their high-flying craft looked like a sort of sickly green soup, with occasional clouds floating on it like dumplings.

FOR SUCH A VISIBLE smog layer to extend over hundreds of miles of the coast is very unusual. But it is not unusual to see just such a layer over some localities — Los Angeles, for instance, and increasingly in recent years, the S[illegible]ta Clara Valley.

Actually, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau, heavy air pollution is frequent at many California points for the simple reason that an atmospheric inversion — meaning the temperature is higher and the air stiller some distance above the ground than at the valley bottoms — is a frequent occurrence.

What brought on the first Bay Area "smog alert" was a situation in which lack of the usual west winds left the lower air undisturbed until the layer of hot air created by the inversion extended clear down to sea level — and kept getting hotter and hotter.

And with no breeze to blow them away near ground level, or drive them upward, the trapped pollutants soon reached a concentration that was all too apparent.

IF THE BAY AREA Air Pollution Control District took its smog readings at 3,000 feet elevation, instead of near ground level in the valleys, readings as high as those of this week might not be unusual.

Put simply: The pollution is there much of the time, but far enough above our heads so we don't notice it.

This experience should be enough to make all of us realize the seriousness of air pollution, especially in an area such as ours where atmospheric inversion is common.

It should be enough to make us start refiguring a lot of things, such as the value of pollution-creating industries vs. healthy atmosphere, of pollution-causing automobiles vs. other means of transportation, of basing our measures of smog on the usually breeze-blown lower layer of air instead of on that which sits above it.

If they start us thinking and acting with new awareness of the relative importance of clean air, the heat and suffering of the past few days may prove a blessing in disguise.

AFFARIS OF STATE

Do Freeways Inhibit Proper Mass Transit Planning?

By FRED W. KLINE

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In one way or another, California's freeways have always been controversial.

And while we might have a great deal more trouble getting from Point A to Point B by surface transportation, particularly during rush hours, without the growing freeway network, they still haven't solved our ever-increasing transportation problem.

Perhaps with good reason, many citizens are suspicious of state officials who, their critics say, seem intent on paving over the entire state. Some country freeways seem particularly useless, at least until they end.

It is, certainly, difficult to condone a proposed freeway which will inconvenience great numbers of people — even if it will also save even greater numbers of other people from other inconvenience.

THE PROPOSED Beverly Hills Freeway, or Route 2, may very well serve as an example.

"We are in a very difficult situation," he states. "Currently, more than 300,000 cars a day travel through Beverly Hills and the other communities along the proposed freeway route. . . and this will double to 700,000 within 10 years. . . The freeway is the only way to break up the congestion."

General Manager Gardiner Blackman of the Wilshire Center Chamber agrees with Friel. "The center of our city will decay," he believes, "if we cannot move traffic in and out."

IT SEEMS INEVITABLE, therefore, that these chambers would come into conflict with State Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, who introduced SB 844. This measure would in effect cancel the Beverly Hills Freeway.

The senator makes a good case in defense of his anti-freeway stance. The proposed Beverly Hills route, he says, will not be operational for at least another decade, will fill to capacity within five years of its completion, and will create more congestion at its junctions with the already full San Diego and Holywood freeways.

But the main thrust of the Beverly Hills resident senator's argument is not against the proposed Beverly Hills Freeway alone.

He is convinced, he says, that this freeway "cannot possibly contribute to the solution of the area's transportation problems.

"What is needed instead," he asserts, "is a fresh look at balanced multi-model urban transportation. I have concluded that we are not going to persuade anyone — be he public official, traffic engineer or voter — of the necessity for taking that fresh look until the plans. . . have been scrapped."

CALIFORNIA, SAYS Beilenson, has learned a lot about mass transit in the past three decades, not to mention what has been learned about air pollution produced by internal combustion engines, so that "there can be no excuse for failing to rethink urban transportation priorities."

The trouble is, he continues, that all the many civic and governmental groups now studying the subject are taking the state's freeway program for granted, resulting in "not comprehensive planning but patchwork.

"A clean slate is needed for fresh planning. . . urban freeways must be stopped or nothing else is going to start."

The Beverly Hills Freeway would cost taxpayers $300 million, and for that money, Senator Beilenson believes, "we could start a great deal" in planning new approaches to the state's transportation problems.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

True education makes for inequality: the inequality of individuality, the inequality of success; the glorious inequality of talent, of genius; for inequality, not mediocrity, individual superiority, not standardization, is the measure of the progress of the world. — Felix E. Schelling.

If freedom had been the happy, simple, relaxed state of ordinary humanity, man would have everywhere been free — whereas most of time and space he has been in chains. Do not let us make any mistake about this. The natural government of man is servitude. Tyranny is the normal pattern of government. — Adlai E. Stevenson.

Enforce Road Signs Or Remove Them

This is an open letter to the California Highway Patrol. I have always been under the impression that road signs should be obeyed by all motorists — and such signs be enforced by the relevant authority, in this case the C.H.P.

I am referring to the section of the Blackpoint cutoff, where headlights are required for a 9-mile section. I have no quarrel with the signs —the headlamps make it much easier to spot oncoming traffic — my quarrel is with 15 to 20 per cent of motorists who do not switch on their lights as instructed.

Let's face it, either the CHP enforce this regulation for all motorists, or let them take down the signs — after all, what good is it for a sizable majority to ignore them and pose a hazard to the remainder.

Chemical Compounds Vs. Organic Gardening

In reply to that "somewhat ancient square" Seth O. Benson ("How Escape Science in School System?" Sept. 9), I would rather resort to the organic gardener's way of life rather than his so I wouldn't end up 10 million years from now a perfectly preserved "dummy." If his "reality," "established knowledge," "Scientific method" and "truth" in food is, to say the least, BHA, BHT, sodium sulfite, sodium caseinate, sodium acid pyrophosphate, monosodium glutamate, gumaric acid, lecithin, pyridoxine hydrochloride, caffeine, phosphoric acid, folic acid, syanocobalamine, potassium sorbate, calcium disodium EDTA, etc., etc,. DDT and endless number of insecticides and chemical fertilizers, etc., etc., I guess I'll be a "common, rigidly styled, non-imaginative, and "ignorant," "bad," "knot-head" type and continue on my "impractical" search for organic foods.

Motorcycle Roundup Distresses Viewer

On the morning of Sunday, Sept. 5, I was out for an early ride with my family. I was passing through the town of Stinson Beach when a large group of 60 or 70 motorcycles passed me. Continuing up the road a few miles I found the entire group had been stoped in a highway patrol trap which I was waved past by a patrolman. When I asked what was going on (and observed for myself), I discovered all the cyclists were indiscriminately being charged with racing.

Now I realize the highway patrol has a job to do, and they do an excellent job. But to charge an entire group of 60 or 70 motorcyclists that are spread out over about two miles of highway with racing, seems to me to be a gross misinterpetation of one's duties, and totally unjust to the majority of the group who were obeying the law.

I discovered later it was an article in the San Francisco Examiner, Sunday edition, about a Sunday morning ride, that brought all these riders out. Why must a few ruin it for all?

Scene Was Gloucester Instead Of Tiburon

The write-up mentions that the painting is one of the scenes done in Tiburon.

I bought this painting in St. Helena (Napa Valley) from Mr. William Couper, and he told me that the scene was done in Gloucester, Mass. He has never done any painting in Tiburon.

Parking Fee Means Of Discouraging Cars

In your Sept. 13 I-J column, "What Our Readers Say," one Jean S. Barnard asks is there support among Mill Valley residents and homeowners for charging a small monthly fee for use of city streets in residential areas for permanent parking.

In answer, there is no support from this resident and homeowner. Such a fee in no foreseeable amount will pay for widening the streets to correct the parking problem; but such a fee will further antagonize already over-taxed car and property owners, also raise doubt as to the wisdom of local city representation.

If Jean S. Barnard (and I believe she is a city councilwoman although her job title is not shown in her letter) wants to go on record and establish a city policy discouraging the existence of cars in Mill Valley let that be so stated rather than conceal the same intent behind a "small monthly fee" aimed to accomplish the same thing.

Any elimination of cars should be voted on as such, according to inherent merits or demerits undisguised.

Grand Jury Called For Prison Removal

Today's (Sept. 13) editorial in suggesting that San Quentin be abolished has brought back memories and a feeling of vindication. While I was chairman of the law enforcement committee of the 1964 grand jury we recommended that San Quentin be removed and the site be used for choice residential living. One of our arguments was that any prison of that size and that age is quite impractical.

We held the hearing in the first wing of the Civic Center. While we did not have the public or any solid group behind us for the removal of the "Bastille by the Bay" we did create quite a stir because the Independent-Journal and the San Francisco papers carried the stories on page one. And the head of the Department of Corrections arrived from Sacramento with four or five assistants and "volumes of evidence."

You are correct, what the state needs are more maximum security prisons with inmate population of not more than 500 and at locations not too easily accessible to demonstrators. The physical plant at San Quentin is not conducive to minimum security population.

I have often thought if we had been backed up in 1964 and a "ground swell" by subsequent grand juries to remove San Quentin, the tragedy at the Civic Center could not have happened.

Democratic Governors Find Their Ticket: Muskie-Jackson

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — The majority of the Democratic governors are convinced that the best way to defeat President Nixon is to nominate:

For President — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

For Vice President — Sen. Henry M. Jackson.

This is the ticket most of them want.

It is evident from my conversations that before 1972 is very far advanced, they will be working openly to bring it about.

They believe they will be in a position to exert substantial, perhaps decisive, influence at the '72 Miami convention.

GOV. WARREN E. HEARNES of Missouri, who was the most visible pro-Muskie advocate here at the governors' conference, is urging his Democratic colleagues to begin soon to mobilize their delegate strength in their own states. Purpose — to bring the consensus view of the governors to bear on the nomination.

That consensus began to take shape here at San Juan. It was clear before the conference ended at midweek that there was dominant support among the Democratic governors for a Muskie-Jackson ticket.

Some who said they would welcome a Muskie-Jackson ticket said they would personally prefer Jackson on top, but there was no doubt that a Muskie-Jackson ticket was preferred by most.

THERE IS FURTHER evidence which supports this finding.

Governor Hearnes said that only one out of the 46 governors attending objected to his initiative as conference chairman in inviting only Muskie among the numerous Democratic presidential hopefuls to address the governors.

The only other presidential prospects to get even incidental support among the Democratic governors were Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas.

Sen. Edward Kennedy was not even mentioned as a preferred candidate by any of the Democratic governors. All of this put Muskie-Jackson well in the lead.

AND WHY ARE the Democratic governors so strong for a Muskie-Jackson ticket — or, as an alternative, a Jackson-Muskie? The main reasons are these:

They feel that such a ticket comes nearer to reflecting what they think Democratic Party policy ought to be than any other combination.

They feel that a Muskie-Jackson ticket stands nearly at the political center of the party and that only a ticket which occupies this position has any good chance of winning.

The Democratic governors are themselves mostly middle-roaders and they shun extremists on the national ticket. As to the wisdom of doing this, some of them pointed to a Gallup Poll which found that only one Democrat in 14 classifies himself as "very liberal" and only one Republican in nine classifies himself as "very conservative."

This is why the Democratic governors turn away from such candidates as Senators George McGovern, Edward Kennedy, Fred Harris, Birch Bayh and Mayor John Lindsay.

WILL THE DEMOCRATIC governors prevail at the '72 convention? They're not the political power they used to be and there is not one of them politically strong enough to be a national candidate in his own right.

But the Democratic governors are numerically strong. They took a net of 10 governorships from the Republicans last year, including such key presidential states as Ohio, Pennsylvania, Florida, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The balance — 29 to 21 — now leans heavily to the Democratic side.

Collectively the Democratic governors can be politically powerful at the Miami convention and the evidence here is that Muskie and Jackson will be the beneficiaries.

Memories Of Khrushchev, The Great Unpredictable

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Khrushchev's passing snatches away one of the last of those memorable international characters who are gradually being replaced by computers. The wartime giants, Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin, Gandhi, are long gone. Chiang and Mao, although they apparently will live forever, are no longer functioning publicly. And while Khrushchev was a mere political general during their conflict and never approached the world stage until the cold war was near its peak, he ranks in stature with those towering figures, rather than beside the lesser leaders who were his post-World War II contemporaries in power. On the modern scale of political greatness, he was a great man.

Despite the fact that he was a clown, a bully, a boor, a collaborator in murder many times over and a gambler with the lives of millions, he was an inspirational leader of his people, and even a world statesman.

A DECADE AGO, covering the Soviet Union for a foreign newspaper became as much a fixation on one man as the much narrower assignment of covering the White House does in Washington. Never did "the cult of one man's personality," which Khrushchev decried when he did his verbal post-mortem on Stalin, so dominate the thinking of any group of newspapermen.

We were watching Khrushchev riding high, and he personified both party and government. He made and announced decisions off the top of his white-fringed head.

Sometimes vital foreign policy judgments were rendered ad lib to a passel of peasants in a Bulgarian pasture, who could only wonder what the man was talking about. Other times they came before heads of party and state, diplomats and cameras summoned to hear him speak beneath Lenin's profile in the great Kremlin Palace of Congresses.

AGAIN THE WORLD would be shaken by our reporting an angry line he dropped into a speech on soybean culture before some remote collective in Kazakhstan, which only became news when the Tass ticker passed it along at 4 a.m. Moscow time. He might slosh a headline over a glass of Tsinandali wine at an embassy reception where he had shown up by surprise. You could never take your eyes off him.

Not even when he was bouncing across the Bulgarian countryside in a sea-green Cadillac convertible, lecturing the natives on fertilizer and allied affairs;

Nor the day he exhorted the miners who sat in rows all the way up a steep hillside at Lupenyi, Romania, to take his word that better living conditions could only follow higher productivity;

Nor when he lifted a toast toward Walter Ulbricht at the fawning German's 70th birthday party in East Berlin;

Nor when he jabbed a pencil at Averell Harriman before they were seated in the Kremlin for preliminary talks on the nuclear test ban treaty, saying, "Let's go ahead and sign and get it over with";

Nor the afternoon he wore a silly miner's hat and swung a pick, clowning for workers in Slovenia while Tito stood by smirking behind his sunglasses, knowing who held the political aces at that moment;

Nor when sand splashed skyward with a boom and he embraced Nasser as they watched the diversion of the Nile from its historic course at Aswan.

YOU COULD NEVER leave him unattended because, if you omit bush leaguers like Castro and Lumumba, he was the most volatile wielder of political and military power in the world, and the power he presided over was immense and increasing.

Eventually, of course, it was that volatility that brought him down. All the time he was first secretary of the party and chairman of the council of ministers of the government, he nevertheless was theoretically accountable to his comrades. It just took a long time for that accountability to catch up with him.

The massively expensive attempt to cultivate the "virgin lands," the on-and-off relaxation of controls on artists and intellectuals, the false threats against West Berlin, the crackup with China were bad enough for the inflexible men around him. Then came the Cuban missile crisis, and his backdown before Kennedy's stubbornness. It was the beginning of the end for him.

There were no outward signs, just rumors. The Russian press played up the Cuban showdown as a victory for socialism. Only weeks later did Khrushchev slip into a routine Kremlin speech one reference to how very, very close to war we had come. It seems now that there was a subdued undertone to his public ebullience in those months — that he sensed what was coming, although we watching him could not yet believe it.

So Cuba was the miscalculation that finally sent him into ignominy. Yet it is well to remember that if he had not eventually conceded to end it just as he did, we might all be dead now.

Election Fever In Sausalito Appears Well Ahead Of Time

Three Sausalito City Council seats will be up for grabs next April and the election bandwagon is already rolling, despite the fact the balloting is still seven months away. Sausalito residents do take their local politics rather seriously and always have.

The other day I asked one man which candidate he was going to back in next year's election and expected an answer like Muskie or Lindsay. "Oh, I've already decided I'll support Wyman Hicks," he said cheerfully.

Robert D. Bauerle, president of the Sausalito Businessmen's Association and a downtown businessman, is the first person to announce he will run. Bauerle, who narrowly missed being elected to the council last year, has been a vocal foe of many recent city council policy decisions, particularly the park plaza plan. Another pretty certain candidate is Sally Stanford, who for the first time will run under that well known name which she legally adopted recently. Miss Stanford, whose former legal name was Marsha Owen, thinks she will pick up 30 or 40 votes with the Stanford name. "Who the hell knows who Marsha Owen is, anyway?" She asked after her last narrow defeat. Artist Serge Trubach, another perennial candiate, has shown no sign he plans to give up the fight for a council seat.

THE SEATS NOW held by Hicks, Mayor Alexander R. Imlay and Councilman Robin Sweeny will be up for election. At this point Sausalito oracles are predicting that Mrs. Sweeny and Hicks will run and that the mayor will not.

If Mrs. Sweeny runs and wins, she will be a likely candidate for mayor since she will be the councilman with the longest tenure who has not held the post. She now holds the job of vice mayor. In fact, if she doesn't become Sausalito's first lady mayor, the local women's liberation forces should launch a full-scale investigation. On the few occasions when she has taken over the gavel, she has done a very efficient job and zipped through the agenda in a rapid but complete fashion.

NEIL DAVIS, Sausalito's favorite publican, went off to Europe for an extended vacation last week. Just before leaving, the No Name Bar owner cancelled his return trip ticket, which could be an ominous sign.

There have been indications Davis may be fed up with life in the city by the bay. In a bitter letter to the city council last month, he deplored the condition of Sausalito's downtown and had especially harsh words for the takeout food businesses that operate along Bridgeway.

Saying that takeout food is "destroying an already tarnished and troubled" city by creating filthy conditions, litter and even bringing in rats, Davis appealed to the council to "do something" about the problem. "If you can't clean up this town, I will get out," he wrote.

PERHAPS BY the time this appears, the heat which has scorched Marin and the Bay Area will be a thing of the past. But if the heat continues or returns, Flo Glessner of Tamalpais Valley has a good suggestion on how to keep cool around the house. She says that tinfoil taped over windows (shiny side out) will reflect the sun's rays and turn back the heat. Masking tape is best for attaching the foil, she says, because it doesn't remove the paint on sills as does other sticky tape. The foil can be rerolled and used again and again, Mrs. Glessner said.

Mars Probe Expected To Yield 'Scientific Bonanza'

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — When the Mariner 9 explorer satellite reaches Mars in two months, it will set off "an information explosion" about the earth's nearest neighbor planet, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said yesterday.

Scientists may even be able to work up Martian weather forecasts.

The Mariner, racing a similiar Soviet satellite, "will produce a scientific bonanza without parallel in planetary exploration," the JPL said in a statement.

"If all goes well, we anticipate a veritable information explosion about the Mars terrain, climate and atmosphere, even its two tiny moons," said project scientist Robert H. Steinbacher.

"We even hope to establish daily and seasonal weather patterns," he said.

The spacecraft's cameras and instruments won't be able to detect life on Mars — but they will be able to tell if the environment would support life on the planet.

"The chances for some primitive form of life were enhanced this year by the laboratory findings of a team of JPL researchers," the laboratory said.

Previous Mariner Mars probes sailed past the planet at distances from 2,000 to 6,500 miles and in three missions radioed back a total of 2.2 billion computer "bits" of information.

Mariner 9 will swoop to within 750 miles of the Martian surface and send back 25 to 30 billion bits, JPL said.

The satellite should map more than 70 per cent of the planet, using detailed photos sometimes covering only 100 yards of surface at a time.

"The instrument complex will study certain phenomena which have aroused curiosity ... clouds, hazes, bright spots and dust storms.

"A specific objective is the study of the apparent 'wave of darkening' which seasonally sweeps across Mars. The spacecraft will arrive at the peak of this seasonal darkening period in the southern hemisphere," the laboratory said.

Tuesday night, the Mariner was 31.6 million miles from earth, travelling 58,214 miles per hour, after 108 days in space on the voyage to Mars that began May 30. It will drop into orbit around the red planet Nov. 13.

Performance Slated At Marin Memorial

The Novato County Players will produce the "Fantastics" in the new Marin Memorial auditorium at 8 p.m. Oct. 27 as a benefit performance for the Marin County Diabetes Association.

Tickets may be reserved by calling Sandra Glazunov, of 108 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Roles Of Department Heads Impaired By Brasilia Regime

Who's the fellow who started the phrase, "The Sunny Side of the Bridge"? Avast with him! If the air conditioning in your home breaks down, there is one thing you can do; just think how nice and cool it is in the throne room out at Brasilia. "It's wunnerful!"

By the way, don't be misled by the new administrator's offer to operate with one less assistant. There was a forced demonstration during July and August that this could be done. There is no way to alibi.

If justice to the taxpayer should somehow prevail this is just the beginning of the journey. It's up to you. What follows is what I have been trying for months to start discussing.

CONSIDER THESE things: We have a whole complement of constitutionally elected department heads. People that we have had faith in — individuals that do not have to have a brother (neither big nor little) breathing down their necks. They have proven integrity, otherwise they wouldn't be there. The same is true of those departments whose heads are required by law to be appointed.

There has been much fanfare during the past 10 years about the administrator preparing the annual budget. Now, the code provides that the auditor-controller shall present the board of supervisors with a budget each year.

Mike Mitchell, the auditor-controller, each year has sat in day after day with the administrator and the department heads on each of the budgets. Prior to the advent of administrator, we operated with committees of the board of supervisors (composed of two members each) or some years the board as a committee of the whole.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN Q. Taxpayer, I might add, during the years I knew about, got a much better deal than they do now. The auditor-department heads and board members worked the budgets out as we went along. Our salaries were less than one-half of what the gents of the throne room drag down now as salary. Then they are cashing in on all the several other committees and bodies, up to total of $16,200 a year for one of the members.

In one of the columns last year I related that people who were very aware of things out at Brasilia were saying that they (the board members) just didn't know where it was at. That's the penalty of abdication. The penalty is levied on you, not them. I hope to continue this next week.

Innocent Plea To Arson Count

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Price, who told police he had been "hearing voices" for four years, surrendered himself at the San Rafael Police Station Friday and described setting fire to a garage at 157 Woodland Avenue Thursday night.

The fire caused $1,500 damage, police said.

Little Use Of Consumer Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Low income families failed to make use of the Bay Area Consumer Protection Coordinating Committee in its first year of operation, it was reported Wednesday.

Committee Chairman L. Neil Gendel said nearly 3,000 complaints from consumers who felt they had been bilked were received in the nine Bay Area counties.

The committee made up of representatives from federal, state and local law enforcement groups was set up to receive complaints and channel them to the appropriate agencies for action.

Gendel said the committee would attempt to alert persons in low income areas that there is an organization interested in their complaints.

The 'Crafts' Becoming Big Once Again

In keeping with fall fashion's nostalgic look at the past, many people are getting back in to the "crafts" thing this season.

Home sewing kits have easy-to-follow instructions as do leathercraft and mitten kits, but a bevy of creative ideas are needed.

Pre-cut fashions enable both novice and professional homesewers to put together many fashions in a jiffy. Skirts, pants and dress kits have been packaged to include fabric, notions and step-by-step instructions. And fabrics are more interesting than ever.

It's possible to crochet or sew together as many pairs of knit and buckskin mittens as desired — for personal use or as gifts.

Leathers weather the "do-it-yourself" tide with sets that convert hides into bags, lace-tie vests, wide buckled belts — even mocassins.

Butterflies, flowers, peasanty designs can be embroidered onto a wardrobe of fashions ranging from the most elegant gowns to knock-about jeans. The effect can be an interesting collage of bright patterns.

Hearts, animals, earth and sky motifs take a bigger perspective and therefore can be appliqued -- with an iron — on outerwear and sportswear for a fun fashion tale.

The Shaped Dress

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Symphony Opener Party List Grows

By MOLLY MARIN

The party list is growing for those who are hosting parties prior to the gala opening night program at the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building at Civic Center Sept. 25.

Many of the Marin Symphony supporters are planning to entertain at home and bring their guests on to the opening concert by the Marin Symphony with guest artist Dorothy Kirsten and the buffet dinner to follow.

Maestro Sandor Salgo, Marin Symphony conductor, and Mrs. Salgo will be among the guests at a pre-opening party given by Mr. and Mrs. Boris Lakusta in their San Rafael home. Other party hosts will be the Victor Carters, the Leonard Asianos, the Lester H. Clarks, Dr. and Mrs. Gerson Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Baptiste and J. Kevin Donovan.

After the opening performance an elaborate champagne buffet will be served from two buffet tables, one on stage, decorated with ice sculptures. The movable wall will be moved forward to accommodate the buffet tables at the back of the building, where the "black tie optional" party will continue for up to 2,000 guests munching on miniature shashlik, crenshaw melon with Italian ham, poulette en alligator pear, petit fours and other delectables.

Especially created for the pre-party guests, the Marin Symphony Association has printed commemorative invitations available from Mrs. Robert Schultz.

"SUN, SURF and sand weren't the only elements of our summer in Hawaii," Mrs. George Lester of San Rafael says. "We were kept in the mainland eddy as a constant trickle of Bay Area visitors freshened the stream."

Among the Marinites that George and Mary Ellen Lester hosted at their Diamond Head apartment are the John Burkes, Frank Scotts, Ralph Phelps and Paul Woelz, all of San Rafael, and the W. J. J. Smiths of Novato. Former Marinites, Suzi Colombo, a nurse at Queens Hospital in Honolulu, and J. M. Gragg, who taught at Novato High School and is now in business on Oahu, also visited the Lesters.

The Lesters' daughter, Pam, her husband, Max Handley of Novato, and his mother, Mrs. M. G. Handley of Larkspur, spent the month of August with the Lesters.

On Maui the Lesters visited former Ross residents, Art and Lee Gustafson, who are remodeling an old home on that island.

Next door neighbors of the Lesters in Hawaii were the Bob Trumbulls, also former Marinites. Marjorie Trumbull is researching material for an educational television series on Hawaiiana.

FROM FABULOUS FORTIES

Fashion design award winner Betsey Johnson of Dallas came up with these 1971 versions of the 1940 inspired dance pants (left) and dance dress. Designed for Alley Cat, they are of floral pinwale corduroy. The pants are topped by a bare midriff top with padded shoulders and the dance dress is circular cut with small buttons to the hem. New fabrics and treatment give the '71 look to 1940s nostalgic styles of the jitterbug era.

MONICA BARISKI

Engagement Of Couple Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Bariski of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter, Monica Lynn, to Henry Dennis Reis of Novato.

The bride-elect is the sister of David N. Bariski. She was graduated from San Rafael High School and is attending Marinello School of Beauty in San Rafael.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Reis of Novato and the brother of Richard and Joellen Reis. He also is a Novato High School graduate and attends the College of Marin.

Open Fire Breakfast Should Be Simple

A hearty breakfast, cooked over an open fire should be filling and simple.

Gourmet scrambled eggs can be pre-mixed in the kitchen and carried in a vacuum bottle to the campsite. At home thoroughly mix six eggs, one-third cup milk, salt, papper, a pinch of paprika and bits of cubed, cooked ham. Pour uncooked into a quart-size vacuum bottle, where it will stay fresh for hours before cooking.

EVERYONE'S SURPRISED

Woman Invades TV Repair Field

By KATHLEEN NEUMEYER

SIMI, Calif. (UPI)—They didn't laugh when Sandy Schaffner walked into an all-male television repair class.

They thought Mrs. Schaffner was the coffee wagon hostess.

But when graduation time came, Sandy was among the top students in the course, and she has been making home repair calls for her husband's electronics repair service ever since.

"My husband used to repair television sets in our garage," she said," and I used to watch.

"Then when he opened his own business, I started going down to help with the clerical work. I got interested in the lab work, and I enjoyed it more, the more he taught me.

"People brought in broken transistor radios, and Len wouldn't have time to fix them. So I decided to go to school so I would be able to fix the little things."

"I'm very good at cleaning tuners and changing high voltage transformers," she said.

About three times a week, wearing a white smock over her pantsuit, Mrs. Schaffner makes calls throughout the Los Angeles area.

"AT FIRST, they thought I was the Avon lady," she recalled. "But now they say, 'Oh, you're the woman TV repairman we've been hearing about'."

"One man came into the shop with a black and white portable television and asked where Len was," she said.

"I told him Len was out, but maybe I could help. He said he ought to wait for Len, but I looked at the set and took care of it.

"The man said, 'You really fixed it.' Then he added that if it didn't work, he'd come back."

"He hasn't been back, so either his set is working or he went somewhere else."

Mrs. Schaffner was the first female student at the Magnavox Service Training School in Torrance, and is one of the very few television repairwomen in the United States.

She has founded an organization called LITES—Ladies in Technical Electronic Servicing —to encourage more women to go into the field.

"WOMEN SHOULD be in this work because it's really not difficult at all. It's easy," she said.

"I want to go back now and learn how to repair phonographs and tape recorders," she said.

"And I'm learning to play the guitar. My son says, 'Mom, you'd try anything.' "

With Hot Soup

Try packing a school lunch with a hot soup entree. For a soup children will enjoy combine a can of condensed tomato soup with an equal amount of milk, 8 ounces of grated cheese and a dash of salt and pepper. Heat and pour into a vacuum bottle piping hot.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Just Remind This Queen Bee That A Ruler Can Be Deposed

DEAR HELEN:

What happens when the male ego is thwarted, crushed and destroyed? For nearly 25 years, this has happened to me. This is what my wife has done:

1. She knows more than anybody else; never concedes that she is wrong.

2. She eats secretly until she weighs over 225 pounds, then says fatness runs in her family.

3. She doesn't bathe regularly, and is unkempt in her dress; the type people don't stand close to.

4. She is a poor housekeeper, using the excuse that she works part time. The children and I do most of the housework.

5. She always wants to know the subject of conversation when the children and I are talking.

6. She resents the money I spend on our yard. (I don't drink, run around, play golf, or buy expensive personal items).

7. She nags constantly, and reverses what I tell the children, who incidentally, are all teenagers.

8. She's the queen bee and won't let anyone forget it. Always bossing, she never considers the wishes of others in the family.

I'm not interested in anyone else. I don't want a broken home. But what's a man to do? — DEGRADED AND DOWNTRODDEN

DEAR D AND D:

You've described a woman so sure of her queenship that she forgets rulers can be deposed. Let her know you can and will walk out, if she doesn't shape up — and not just figure-wise! — H.

P.S. Which means you'd better shape up, courage-wise.

DEAR HELEN:

Is it permissible for a divorced man to call himself a bachelor? The word "divorce" is an unpleasant reminder of a broken contract. I'm unhappy enough without rubbing my nose in it. — DISPLACED

DEAR DIS:

You may call yourself "single," "free," "unattached" but, technically speaking, a once-married man can never be a bachelor again.

(Try getting used to the word. It hurts worse when you won't face facts.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not generally a writer-to-columns, but I must respond to those anti-bikini-underpants mothers. What's with people who see something licentious in every new style?

I'm a married woman and I love bikini panties. Like hip huggers, they're more comfortable, and I've never gotten my skin caught in a zipper yet.

Something no one has mentioned yet is that bikini underwear is great for pregnant women. Remember the bad old days when your panties' elastic crept up and up, and finally nestled just under your arm pits? (If the nylon stretched that far.) — FOR THEM

DEAR READERS:

Who would think that bikini panties would bring more reader-response than such noble subjects as women's lib, ecology, and "the Jesus people"? "To wear or not to wear" outdistanced almost every question on my "interest-meter" last month — except one: "Are girls unphotogenic nowadays because they wear less lipstick and more hangdown hair?"

Must be the summer bla-a-as. — H.

MRS. DONALD FRATUS
Arts festival president

Mrs. Fratus Will Direct Arts Festival

President of the 15th annual Mill Valley Arts Festival is Mrs. Donald Norman Fratus of Larkspur. She has been affiliated with the festival for four years and previously served as vice president and treasurer.

In addition to the festival, which will be held on Oct. 2 and 3 in Old Mill Park, the organization operates an art gallery, the Genesis Gallery, in Mill Valley with the Mill Valley Arts Guild, where it sponsors an art show in January. Also planned is an amateur art show in the spring.

"Our purpose is to provide facilities for the exhibition of art, to increase public awareness and participation in art and to provide an educational program in the arts," says Dee Fratus, who is also a member of the Genesis Gallery board of directors.

A native of Greensburg, Pa., she attended high school in western Pennsylvania and El Camino College in Southern California. Mrs. Fratus was an accountant for 12 years. She has lived in Marin for five years. Her husband is an area agent with the California Department of Mental Hygiene and also a law student.

Reading, writing and collecting Roseville pottery are her hobbies.

ON BEING BLACK

Many Prominent Omissions In Multi-Ethnic Calendar

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

By referring regularly to the Office of Human Relations multi-ethnic calendar I've discovered a number of September events I would never have known. For example:

The late Rocky Marciano, an Italian-American boxer, was born on Sept. 1.

Sept. 2 is the birthday of Dai-Keong Lee, a Chinese-American composer.

Charles Follen, noted German-American educator and abolitionist, was born on Sept. 4, 1796.

GERMAN DAY is celebrated the second week of September. This day honors the first German immigrants to America.

Frank Yerby, an Afro-American novelist, was born on Sept. 5.

Sept. 6 is the birthdate of Jane Addams (1860-1935), an English-American civil rights worker and Nobel peace prize winner.

Brazil's Independence Day is celebrated on Sept. 7, and it is also the birthdate of John O. Crow, a native American Indian (Cherokee) and Bureau of Indian Affairs official.

Sept. 12 is the birthdate of Prince Hall, Afro-American founder of the Negro Free Masonry; and Jesse Owens, Afro-American winner of three gold medals in track and field events at Olympic games.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT, French-American actress, was born on Sept. 13.

Sept. 15-26 (date variable) is set aside for the celebration of the Chinese-American Moon Festival. This is a woman's festival and is celebrated at night. It is the most romantic of Chinese festivals and the celebration is of a private nature. Bakeries in Chinatown prepare moon cakes for the occasion.

Sept. 16 is El Dia de Independencia — Independence Day for Mexicans and Mexican-Americans. It commemorates Mexico's fight for independence from Spain in 1810.

Sept. 17 is Citizenship Day. It was established by Congress in 1952 to give recognition to all who became American citizens in the preceding year. Orlando Cepeda, Puerto Rican baseball player, was also born on this day.

SEPT. 19 is the birthdate of Ben Reifel, a native American (Rosebud Sioux), congressman and recipient of Outstanding American Indian Award in 1956.

The Jewish New Year and Italian Garibaldi/Day are both celebrated on Sept. 20.

Sept. 22 is Emancipation Day — the anniversary of the day Lincoln read the Emancipation Proclamation in 1862. For obvious reasons, many contemporary blacks consider this a meaningless event.

Sept. 24 is the birthdate of Joseph M. Montoya, a Mexican-American lawyer and senator from New Mexico. It is also Schwenkenfelder, the Dutch and German-American Thanksgiving.

Sept. 24 is American Indian Day.

SEPT 29 is Yom Kippur and also the birthdate of Marie E. Zakrszewska, who fought for acceptance of women in medicine many years ago.

Sept. 30 is the birthdate of Johnny Mathis, Afro-American singer of such favorites as "Chances Are" and "Twelfth of Never."

Obviously there are many notable omissions. "Why isn't G-i-l-l-i-a-n under Sept. 3?" asks my 5-year-old daughter, Gillian. "Does multi-ethnic just mean people?"

Deer Park Villa Rites Unite Couple

The garden of Deer Park Villa restaurant in Fairfax was the setting for the marriage of Diane Barbara Levy and John Stewart Akers and for the reception that followed on Sept. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Levy of Fairfax are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Akers of San Jose.

Matron of honor was the bridegroom's sister Mrs. Ernest LaScola of San Jose, and the bride's sister, Linda Levy, was the bridesmaid.

Jim Aven of San Jose was best man, and Dan Declercq of Alameda and Dan McGuire of San Jose ushered.

Diane is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and San Jose State College. Michael Levy is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Harry Zimet and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levy, all of San Francisco.

A graduate of Lincoln High School in San Jose, John also attended San Jose State College. He is employed by the Eastside Center in San Jose. Bonnie and April Akers are also his sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe the couple will live in San Jose.

Charles Hewson Weds Mary Kathleen Riley

Maid of honor was Susan Wildblood of Sacramento, and bridesmaids were Sandy Esudillo of Tiburon, Mrs. Steve Patten of San Rafael and Mrs. Randy Huntoon of Petaluma.

Dick Pierce of Natick, Mass., was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brothers, Terence Riley of Palo Alto and Michael Riley of Boulder, Colo.; Steve Patten and Martin Lowe, both of San Rafael; and Al North of Boston.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Fleet Admiral Nimitz Officers Club on Treasure Island. The couple will live in Greenbrae following a wedding trip to Victoria, British Columbia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orin J. Riley of Corte Madera. She was graduated from Mother Butler Memorial High School in San Jose and Bay City College of Dental-Medical Assistants in San Francisco. She also attended College of Marin and West Valley College in San Jose. Mary is employed by the Ross Valley Medical Clinic in Greenbrae.

Charles is the son of Mrs. Charles J. Hewson of Middleboro, Mass., and the late Mr. Hewson. He is the brother of Denise Hewson, Mrs. James Welvaret and Mrs. Maureen Smith, all of Massachusetts. The bridegroom was graduated from Boston English High School and Western State College in Colorado and is employed by Van Waters and Rogers in Brisbane.

"No, Ma'am. I'm not working my way through college, I completed my doctorate in physics last June."

Patent Unit Has Woman For Member

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in the history of the U.S. Patent Office, the 15-member Board of Examiners-in-Chief includes a woman, Brerton Sturtevant.

A special Presidential document of her nomination had to be printed to denote the new member's sex, replacing "he" and "him" with "she" and "her."

Miss Sturtevant says she intends to prove that male and female patent attorneys approach legal problems in the same way.

A 1942 graduate of Wellesley College, she received a law degree in 1949 from Temple University and worked as a research chemist and in private legal practice before she became a partner in a Wilmington, Del., law firm which specialized in patent and trademark law.

Miss Sturtevant had not planned to work for the government until a friend asked permission to submit her name to President Nixon. Like other women who have left private employment to accept federal positions, Miss Sturtevant said she took a salary cut. Her government pay is about $34,000 a year. She says she believes that inventions are important to the national economy because the country was built on ideas that were put into action.

About 1.5 per cent of all patents are issued to women, according to a patent office spokesman, and they are usually for products involved in their professions.

SAN RAFAEL

Hub Artist Is First In Marin Fair Show

A large plastic-on-metal entry submitted by artist Gary Allen of San Anselmo has been rated best-in-show in the art competition of the Marin County Fair and will receive the $150 top prize, Marcelle McCoy, fair manager, announced yesterday.

Judges considered some 300 entries before selecting five top winners, seven honorable mention entries and a total of 61 paintings and 10 sculptures which will compose the art display at the fair, Mrs. McCoy said.

The Marin County Fair is scheduled Oct. 8-11 at the Civic Center in San Rafael.

Allen's top award was for a four-foot-by-five-foot plastic on metal circle, titled "Oval-6." Second prize of $100 was awarded to Wesley Chamberlin of Mill Valley for a work titled, "Ward and Barthalomew Basin, C1805."

Irene Sullivan, San Rafael artist, earned the $85 third palce award for her traditional oil painting called "Silver City, Idaho," and fourth prize of $70 was given to Alton Raible of San Anselmo, for an oil painting titled "Enigma."

Another oil, by El Cerrito artist Philip Hocking called "Untitled #2," was rated No. 5 and received a $50 prize.

Honorable Mention awards were given to Blanche Ayers, Terra Linda, for a monoprint called "The Supplicants;" Girldine Merrill, Novato, for an acrylic titled "The First Snow;" Eric Rogers, San Rafael, an oil called "Seascape Mendocino;" Albert Garvey, Fairfax, a serigraph titled "Russian Easter;" Sydney Herschleb, Kentfield, an oil called "Corner of the Nursery;" Ralph O'Neill, Novato, a marble sculpture titled "Pentagon," and Bettyjo Norton, Larkspur, a collage called "Too Early Autumn."

San Marin Group Backs Moratorium Extension

The San Marin Improvement Association has recommended that single family dwellings be included in the proposed moratorium on housing construction in Novato.

The recommendation was made Wednesday night after members discussed a proposql by the North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations for a moratorium on townhouses and apartments until the city's general plan is revised.

The San Marin association approved the federation's proposal but wanted single family housing included so all aspects of housing are covered, according to Nancy Kuhn, a member.

The Novato Planning Commission has scheduled two meetings a month starting Oct. 4 to consider revisions to the general plan.

Girl, 7, Gets Medal For Saving Her Sisters

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Marilyn Sanut, 7, is wearing a medal for saving her three younger sisters, Margaret, 5, Marissa, 3, and Marina, 9 months, from a fire that swept through their Stockton, Calif., home.

Gov. Ronald Reagan pinned a silver medal on Marilyn, who sought help from neighbors before dashing through a blazing living room to rescue Margaret from another room Nov. 5.

"You were pretty brave. Now you're going to have to be brave again in case I stick you," joked Reagan at the ceremony.

Marilyn, daughter of Army S. Sgt. and Mrs. John C. Sanut, received the award from the Stockton Fire Department and the Hartford Insurance Co.

Audience Likes Naked Actress

Miss Stephenson stepped into the play for Thursday's opening night at the last minute after former lead Kay Barlow refused to appear naked.

She said after the show, "I am not shy and my husband doesn't mind."

The Mermaid's artistic director, Sir Bernard Miles, said last week he decided to portray Desdemona nude in the last scene because he had come to the conclusion it was what the author intended. He said no one had been "bright enough" before to figure it out.

Angel Island Crew To Clean Hospital

The Army Community Action Program in conjunction with the state Department of Parks and Recreation will start Saturday cleaning out the old East Garrison Hospital on Angel Island to make it safe for visitors, the department has announced.

The 75-man Army crew under the direction of Capt. Joseph Howard Jr. will remove all hazards, broken glass, old wood and other debris.

Children's Chorus Auditions Tomorrow

Informal auditions for the Winifred Baker Children's Chorus will be held tomorrow at 10:45 a.m. in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

The chorus, which is in its 14th year, is open to boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 13. Rehearsals are held Saturdays at 11 a.m. in Angelico Hall. Several concerts are performed during the year.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. FAMILY

"Blue Water, White Death" — An outstanding documentary that records a 12,000-mile trek of white killer sharks.

"Red Tent" — Told by flashback is the fascinating true story of the 1928 ill-fated dirigible Arctic expedition. Awesome photography, very well acted but may be too long and confusing for young children.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Brother John" — Sidney Poitier is a mysterious heroic character who helps those in need and then disappears. A drama with elements of a high-minded message. Well acted, some rough language.

"Fools Parade" — A prisoner, played by James Stewart, is released from prison and gets a check for $25,000, his pay for 40 yards at hard labor. The town bank president does not want the check cashed, ever.

"Rio Lobo" — John Wayne is a Yankee colonel who after the war seeks an informer in a gold shipment robbery. Usual action-packed western.

"Ryan's Daughter" — A romantic epic, set in World War I. Photographed against an Irish landscape metaphoric for loneliness. Well acted.

"Support Your Local Sheriff" — Humorous western spins a tale about a temporary sheriff's attempt to clean up a gold-struck town in a few days. Rough language and inuendos.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Cool Hand Luke" — Brutal, downbeat story of a non-conformist prisoner in a southern prison camp and his attempted escapes. Well acted but depressing, tough drama.

"Doc" — Doc Holiday, Wyatt Earp, Kate Elder stripped of their usual glamour work together to gain control of a town using ruthless methods. Low-key character study that is explicit in sex and violence.

"Harper" — Highly skilled cast sparkle in a variety of offbeat roles in this deglamorized tense private eye adventure. Much violence and brutality.

"Summer of '42" — Three adolescent boys at a summer resort during World War II read a medical book to learn all about sex. Then they pick up girls and follow the instructions. Beautifully filmed, very low-key drama.

"Two Lane Black Top" — A depressing existential story about a stock car racing freak. His only real relationship is his car. A difficult film to watch.

ADULTS ONLY

"The Devils" — Story of a 17th-century priest whose ethics brought him in conflict with the Roman Catholic Church. It is a grizly, grotesque film using erotic fantasies and foul language for shock effect.

"Doctors Wives" — Marital and extramarital sex in medical circles, with operating room gore as added attraction.

"Love Machine" — Adaptation of Susann's bestseller leaves much to be desired. An oversexed TV newscaster becomes president of the network by bedding down with everyone. Some of the serious dramatic moments are quite funny.

"McCabe and Mrs. Miller" — A rugged zinc mining town at the turn of the century is victimized by a petty crook who sets up a brothel. Story is tasteless in the name of realism. Much brutality, vulgarity and nudity.

Innocent Plea To Auto Theft

William Frank Howard, 27, of San Francisco, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of car theft.

Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 28.

Howard was arrested Saturday after the California Highway Patrol attempted to stop him for a traffic violation on Highway 101 near Sausalito. Howard sped off, the highway patrol said, but his car spun out of control and went over an embankment. He was not injured, but a check revealed the car he was driving was stolen, the highway patrol said.

10 Residents Naturalized

Ten Marin and Southern Sonoma residents were naturalized last month in San Francisco, U.S. District Court has announced.

The new citizens are Peter Harold and Ann Hunter of 639 Cascade Drive, Fairfax; Mary Elizabeth O'Sullivan of 405 E. Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley; Mehmet Alp Demil (name changed to Alp Michael Demil) of 427 Via Herbosa, Ignacio.

Others include Toy Mae Dep (name changed to Joy Dep Chan) of 418 School Road, and Jaromir and Marie Antoinie Kostka, 434 Via Del Plano, all of Novato; Maribel Martinez of 708 Bassett Street, Petaluma; and Anne Keija and Samuel Wonyong Kim of 101 El Capitan Drive, San Rafael.

Peppard's Wife Asks Dissolution

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor George Peppard was sued for dissolution Wednesday by his wife of five years, actress Elizabeth Ashley.

She sought custody of their son, Christian, 3, child support and division of community property.

Peppard, 42, and Miss Ashley, 32, were married April 17, 1966. They separated May 29.

New $40 Smog Device Is Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An Orange County firm today had conditional approval of the state Air Resources Board for a smog-control device for use with 1955-1965 vintage automobiles.

The device may become required by law early next year.

The firm, Emission Control Technology, Inc., said it hoped to fulfill further requirements during the next few months. These include training installers and demonstrating that the device is available and does not hamper car performance.

The device, essentially an electronic engine regulator, will cost $40, the producer said.

A spokesman for General Motors Company said after the meeting that his company had a similar device now available for $9.95 and it would apply for approval from the Air Resources Board.

GM had not submitted its device earlier, the spokesman said, because it would not meet earlier standards, which have been eased.

There are an estimated 5 million cars in California older than 1965 which may have to have a smog-control device to be re-sold if presently planned regulations are imposed.

IDLE AT $100,000 A YEAR

Gleason Waiting For New Show

By ROBERT MUSEL

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — The world could use a few laughs these days and Jackie Gleason, who once provided lots of them, broods here in luxury and boredom about his chances of breaking the contract he believes stands between him and a return to television.

There is a hint of desperation in this belief, the knowledge that the memory of the public is short and even a contract that pays a man $100,000 a year for doing nothing can be a golden noose strangling a great show business career.

Gleason taped his last program for CBS-TV in February, 1969. The network dropped his show for the 1970 season for a number of reasons ranging from "demographics" — he wasn't pulling the age group that advertisers wanted at that moment — to the fact the program cost had escalated to where it was running at a loss.

And, suddenly, it was all over — the long years of learning his craft in cheap night clubs in dusty tank towns on the climb to the top that in his case was too hard won to let go by default. Recently he sat in a borrowed town house on the vast Inverrary estate which he helped plan and design, watching his own $500,000 five-level mansion take shape nearby.

"It looks like we might have to go to court," Jackie said. "It might come to that. I can't sit around here boozing and eating — I'm already 20 pounds overweight. Business is all right in its place — I've done my part here including setting up the $260,000 Gleason-Inverrary golf tournament for next February, top purse of the year.

"But I'm a performer and if CBS doesn't come up with something soon we'll have to consider legal measures. They keep saying they're working on a show but so far I haven't seen anything, just an idea for something with Lucy (Lucille Ball). I've no idea what they've really got in mind (it would be a special, not a series).

"NBC and ABC have both been down with offers that I can't take because of the CBS contract. And Alex Cohen (the Broadway producer) has something I'd really like to do. He wants me to play P.T. Barnum in a six-part television series, like the British just did with the six wives of Henry VIII."

Beverly, his wife of a year, a tall, quiet girl, slipped into the room just as someone reminded Jackie of the fate of Milton Berle who was the first great TV comedian of the postwar era and whose TV career never was able to surface after he spent years off the air on a network payroll. Jackie shuddered.

"Yes," he said gloomily. "They can keep you around till you lose your value. They can keep the competition from getting you."

"It's not good to be on that way," he said. "The old ones have been around about 20 times. The public can get sick of them."

Gleason said he had turned down offers of Broadway musicals because "doing the same thing every night would drive me nuts."

Is there anything he would like to do particularly on TV?

"I once did a show 'You're in the Picture,'" he said, "and it was so bad I don't know how CBS let me do it. I asked them if I could apologize. The next week I went out and sat in a chair and talked to the audience. It went over fine. That's what I'd like to do. And I'd like to do it alone though. If there was some spectacular guy who hand't been kicked around on the talk shows I might get him on with me."

He showed brief interest when he heard Merv Griffin might be giving up his CBS-TV talk show. But this, too, is the sort of five-night a week grind he would rather avoid and he thinks all talk shows are now on dangerous ground because the same guests work all of them all the time.

A week or so earlier Jackie had entertained Vice President Spiro Agnew at Inverrary and had partnered him in a golf match which they won, one up. "The same score we won by when I played a foursome with President Nixon," he said.

"When you played with the President," Beverly said, "a Secret Service man rode around the course in a cart filled with tommy guns."

"I don't know that," Jackie said. "But when Agnew was here the Secret Service took away all the unopened bottles. You have to open a fresh bottle for the V-P."

"They looked all over the place and even climbed into the rafters," Beverly said.

"And they brought a communications setup with them so Agnew could be in touch if needed," Jackie went on. "I liked Agnew, he's a very articulate man. He makes a few mistakes when he's playing golf but when he hits the ball he really creams it."

Beverly denited a published report that the new mansion would have a bar in every room.

"We have only three or four," Jackie said, "One in the bedroom."

The bedroom?

"Well", said Jackie "if you wake up in the middle of the night and you want a drink you don't want to have to trundle half a mile downstairs to get one, do you?"

Alternative To National Tragedy

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A halt to economic growth and population someday will be the only alternative to national tragedy, the Redwood Empire Association was warned yesterday.

Dr. Bradford W. Lundborg of Santa Rosa, a panelist at the association's 51st annual convention, issued his warning after delegates viewed a film justifying widespread construction of nuclear power plants.

Spokesmen for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. said use of electricity will double in the next eight or nine years, and that only nuclear plants could supply the demand.

Lundborg, however, challenged the company's claim that the public's demand for electricity was growing far faster than the population. Much of this rising demand, he said, "is the result of skillful market manipulation" by the utility.

Lundborg, 44, whose father, Louis, retired last spring as chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of America, said the nation's environmental problems resulted from its "desperate need for continued economic growth."

Other members of the panel objected that this growth was essential to the nation's economic health. Gil Medeiros, San Rafael attorney primarily representing land developers, said "stagnancy is a very despicable thing."

Lundborg, also a member of the North Coast Regional Water Quality Control Board, persisted that "at some point in the future you have to reach an end point in economic growth. Population growth is going to stop, as we finally begin to run out of resources.

"Finally, the alternative is tragedy. There has to be a better alternative," Lundborg declared.

He said the halt to economic growth would not come in this generation, but added that "we've got to start thinking about it and start talking about it."

Another contrary view was offered by another panelist, Humboldt County Supervisor Leland Rice. He argued that "resources were put on the earth to be used for the benefit of man." Rice, a rancher, in a reference to conservationists, declared that he resented "people coming into our county and telling us what we have to do."

J. Dwight O'Dell, publisher of the Humboldt Beacon in Fortuna, complained that conservationists too often depend on arguments loaded with more fancy than fact. He also objected to television talk show hosts who "jump on the bandwagon" to defend the environment.

Medeiros, asserting that increasingly restrictive government regulations on land had "eroded the concept of property rights," said the only right still left to the property owner was to pay his property tax.

Decrying interference by governmental planning agencies in plans by developers, Medeiros said, "Planners don't know any damn better than the developer what's best for his land."

His arguments, however, were rebutted from the floor by Del Norte County Supervisor Harold Del Ponte, who said Medeiros was "putting blame on planners instead of his clients."

The supervisor, citing frequent misuse of land by developers, said that developers had it coming to them whenever tougher new land controls resulted.

The film on nuclear power plants was presented by J. Galen Foster, Northbay Division Manager for PG&E in San Rafael. He said such plants did not pollute, and helped conserve limited sources of coal, gas and oil.

He said that a three-year fuel load, 95 pounds of uranium, was equal to 7,150,000 tons of coal, 160 billion cubic feet of gas, 28.6 million barrels of oil, or the wood from 96,000 acres of virgin redwood forest.

The film, entitled "My Nuclear Neighbor," said that the nuclear power plants also "create new tax revenues for the public good," that "every precaution is taken," that half of all power plants will be nuclear in 30 years, and that they are needed "to continue the pattern of American prosperity."

Owen Davis, the utility's supervisor of environmental quality, discounted fears of thermal pollution by hot water dumped in the ocean after cooling nuclear plants. He predicted only "small incremental effects" that at most would see "a possible population shift" in the kinds of fish in the heated area.

In other business, delegates reelected their 1970-71 slate of officers for a second one-year term. They are: James A. Nealis of Eureka, president; Foster, Andrew Flynn of Crescent City and Donald J. McFarland of Lake Berryessa, vice presidents; Reed Hardester of Middletown, treasurer, and Carney J. Campion of San Rafael, secretary.

Park Is Shut For The Year

McNear Beach in East San Rafael will be closed for the rest of the year to permit contractors to install parking lot improvements and landscaping.

County park coordinator James Vande Weg said the beach park will be reopened after the improvements are completed, about the first of next year.

Bresnan-Dalecio Inc. of San Rafael will pave and improve the 200-stall parking area, and Cagwin and Dorward of San Rafael will landscape the area between the parking lot and the bay.

Vande Weg said McNear Beach, particularly its swimming pool, had heavy use this summer. From July 1 until last Sunday, when the park closed, gross receipts from parking and the swimming pool fees totalled $10,000. Between 3,000 and 5,000 persons used the park each week.

Another contract will be awarded next spring to add picnic facilities, improve sewer connections, and add more grass areas and trees.

"Next summer, after these improvements, we should be able to handle bigger crowds than this year," said Vande Weg.

Marin Land For English Village

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Officers of the Renaissance Center today announced purchase of 1,000 acres in Upper Lucas Valley where they intend to build a recreation of an Elizabethan era English village as a cultural study center in Renaissance and Medieval arts, crafts, humanities and performing arts.

The purchase of the old Grady Ranch five miles west of Highway 101, on Lucas Valley Road, was announced in a San Francisco press conference today by Phyllis and Ronald Patterson, president and secretary of the nonprofit education foundation.

The Pattersons also operate the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, currently open on weekends near Black Point on the old Sartori Ranch.

Mrs. Patterson said the Lucas Valley site near Big Rock will be an educational and cultural center rather than an entertainment site such as the fair or Disneyland. The buyers have no plans to conduct future Marin versions of the annual Renaissance Faire on the Grady ranch, Mrs. Patterson said.

Land purchase and development of the cultural center will cost an estimated $3 million within the next five years, the Pattersons said. They predicted construction will begin within two years, and the center will be open in five.

Selection of the site capped a three-year search for land in the San Francisco Bay Area, the Pattersons said. They said they chose the Marin location because it physically resembled unspoiled English hill country, and because the cultural atmosphere of Marin encouraged such activities as the future study center.

At least 90 per cent of the 1,000 acres will be left in its natural state, the Pattersons said, for use by nature lovers and horseback riders. The village itself will be developed in stages over a period of years.

It will house master craftsmen and artists in residence, provide facilities for Medieval and Renaissance performing arts, and offer apprenticeship and instructional programs and facilities for studies of the life of Elizabethan England and earlier days.

While hunting for a site for its permanent home, the Renaissance Center has in the last three years given $100,000 in grants and honoraria to groups such as the Marin Shakespeare Festival Theater and schools involved in Renaissance cultural studies, Mrs. Patterson said.

Patient At Mental Unit Is Captured

A San Francisco man, charged with burglary and grand theft, who walked away from Marin Community Mental Health Center early yesterday, was found by sheriff's deputies a few hours later.

Robert John Westermeyer, 30, was found walking along railroad tracks near Highway 101 in Greenbrae about two hours after his 7 a.m. disappearance from the mental health center.

Westermeyer is charged with burglarizing the residence of Richard D. Hardin of Santa Venetia and stealing a boat belonging to a neighbor of Hardin in an attempt to evade arrest Aug. 27.

He was at the mental health center for an examination in connection with a motion by his attorney that he is not legally sane to stand trial.

ABAG Angry Over Delay Of Federal Plan Grant

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments last night complained bitterly to the federal government that "we cannot function" without the full planning grant being held up by the government. (Another ABAG story, page 1)

The association's executive committee sent the sharp statement to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which has disagreed with details of the annual planning program.

Marin Supervisor John F. McInnis said ABAG was "frustrated and furious" at the failure to get the full planning grant. The federal department has given ABAG a three-month grant for $89,000, way below the $360,000 ABAG wants for the year-long planning program.

The department's dissatisfaction has centered on the housing element in ABAG's planning program. The association also has been under fire by minority groups on the ground that it has failed to give them an adequate voice in such planning.

On-Job Injuries

HONG KONG (UPI) —More than 24,500 persons were injured, 259 fatally, at work in Hong Kong in 1970. Workmen's compensation paid during the year as a result of industrial accidents was more than 10 million Hong Kong dollars ($1.67 million US).

FESTIVAL REMINDER OF YESTERYEAR

The first oldtown festival and art show in Novato, a reminder of the community's past, will open at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow on East Grant Avenue, east of Highway 101.

The event, sponsored by the North Bay Artists and the Oldtown Merchants, will continue until 5 p. m. and will resume Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Grant Avenue will be blocked to traffic for two blocks from Machin Avenue to Reichert Avenue and tables will be set in the street.

There will be pony rides and clowns to entertain children. The generation gap, a singing group, will perform at 2 p.m. tomorrow and the Novato Rural Band will play at 2:30 p.m.

Planning Panel Rejects Units

The Novato Plan Review Committee has rejected plans for 189 apartment units southwest of Ignacio Boulevard and Alameda Del Prado.

The committee's major objections Wednesday were to the architectural details in the plan submitted by McSweeney and Schuppel, according to senior planner Mark Westfall.

The committee approved plans by Frank Fonseca for an 18-unit apartment building at Vallejo Avenue and Seventh Street and plans by Fred Mauroni for a four-unit apartment building at 1035 Fourth Street.

Bookmobile Is To Be Moved

The Petaluma Library board has agreed to move the bookmobile van to the Petaluma Plaza parking lot beginning next Wednesday.

Board chairman Kenneth M. Wightman said members on Tuesday felt the increased parking spaces made the plaza a better location than the Washington Square Shopping Center on South McDowell Boulevard.

Wightman said the board also began studies on installing a book drop at Fire Station No. 3 at 833 South McDowell Boulevard.

Secretary Arrested In Marijuana Probe

A Tamalpais High School District secretary was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana after she was stopped in a school car because a teen-age passenger was hanging out a window.

Booked into Marin County Jail, where she was still held today in lieu of $1,250 bail was Martha Dixon Skinner, 26, of 310 Poplar Street, Mill Valley.

Capt. Charles Mattos of the Larkspur police reported that he saw a car on Doherty Drive near the Tamalpais District office and that a passenger was sitting on the window sill of the car with his backside hanging out the window.

He stopped the car, which he said was driven by Mrs. Skinner and asked her for her driver's license. The officer said that when she pulled a license out of her wallet, he saw a plastic bag containing green vegetable matter in the wallet.

The youth who was sitting in the window, Robert C. Foster, 18, of San Anselmo, and another teen-age boy, who was also a passenger, were not arrested.

School officials said today that Mrs. Skinner has been a secretary at San Andreas High School, an "opportunity" school for potential drop-outs, since it opened two years ago.

They also said she had taken the car to run errands for the school. The two teen-agers are not students at San Andreas and school officials did not know why they were with Mrs. Skinner.

Court clerks said Mrs. Skinner has been charged with a misdemeanor count of possessing pot.

Senate Panel Approves Study Of San Quentin

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee today endorsed a study to decide whether San Quentin Prison should be renovated or abandoned.

The resolution by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was approved and sent to the Rules Committee for another hearing along with a related measure.

The rules panel Wednesday had tentatively set for hearing Sen. John A. Nejedly's resolution for a 10-member legislative committee to examine state corrections procedures. Bagley's measure will be heard along with it.

Bagley said his measure is to determine whether San Quentin should be renovated for an estimated $20 million or a new prison built elsewhere for that amount.

Yacht Harbor Plan Approved

The Sausalito Planning Commission has approved, "in principal," a conditional use permit application to permit extensive development of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, Chairman Robert L. Nissen reported.

Although the commission gave general approval to the master plan presented by architect Roland Mays, the proposal will be subject to a number of conditions which the planners will formulate at an adjourned meeting Sept. 29, he said.

Nissen said the revised plan, which had been changed to incorporate some of the planners, earlier suggested alterations, including more open water area in the harbor, was approved by a 3-1 vote, with Commissioner Violeta Autumn dissenting and Commissioner Evert Heynneman absent.

Gas Main Break Closes Hamilton

A base spokesman said there was no fire or explosion when the line ruptured along Main Entrance Road near a gate.

Crews sealed off the line and the residents and office personnel were allowed to return to their buildings after about three hours.

Bridge Writers All Alike, But They Just Can't Count Trumps

"Bridge writers are all alike," an opponent sneered as we finished the last hand of a club duplicate game recently. "You preach like world beaters, but you can't even count trumps." Long experience has taught me to make no reply to such pleasantries, but my partner was indignant. "Change seats," she challenged, "and I'll bet you the card fees that you can't make the contract."

Opening lead — ♠ Q

FIRST TIME

When I played the hand to begin with, I took the second spade, drew two rounds of trumps and then led clubs. East took the second club and led a third club. I could gain nothing by ruffing, so discarded a diamond, allowing West to ruff with his "forgotten" trump.

I took the diamond return, ruffed a spade in dummy and discarded my last diamond on dummy's good club. Four hearts bid and made.

After our little argument, we turned the duplicate board and let my tormentor be declarer. He won the second spade, drew three rounds of trumps and then led clubs. I took the second club, killing the dummy. Down two.

SECOND TRY

"I want to try it once more," the opponent insisted. "Double or nothing?" challenged my partner, not usually such a tigress but still annoyed. He nodded.

My opponent took the second spade, drew only two trumps this time and then led clubs. I took the second club and led the king of spades.

RUFFS IN DUMMY

If declarer ruffed in dummy, he could lead a club but my partner would ruff. Then South would eventually give up a diamond for down one. When South actually refused to ruff in dummy, I led a club. South ruffed high to shut my partner out, but then he could get only one discard on dummy's last club. Down one.

"Bridge writers are all alike," my opponent insisted as he paid his debt to my partner. "You look as though you're not smart enough to count trumps."

He had me there.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- K 9 8 2
♥- 8 6
♦- Q 10
♣- A 6 5 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, planning to show the spade support at your next turn.

This sequence of bids shows a hand that is too good for a raise to two spades but not good enough for a jump to three spades.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Sept. 17, the 260th day of 1971.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

Baron Von Steuben, a Prussian officer who served with the American Revolutionary Army in 1777 was born Sept. 17, 1720.

On this day in history:

In 1939 Russia invaded Poland in World War II, 16 days after Nazi Germany moved into the same country.

In 1968 George Wallace, former and now again governor of Alabama, was nominated for president by the American Independent Party.

A thought for today: A motto on the seal of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, said, "Rebellion to tryants is obedience to God."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Meat Proteins Valuable But Not Absolutely Essential

Meat proteins are essential elements but it makes little difference whether they come from beef, pork, sheep, horse, fish, birds, polar bears, dogs, rats, snails, locusts, snakes or venison. The type consumed depends upon availability and cultural patterns. Some day we may be forced to change our preferences because of necessity or to help feed the world.

GOOD PROTEINS also are found in wheat, rye, corn, legumes, nuts, soya and other beans. In this regard, a person on a vegetarian diet can be healthy. Meat, eggs and dairy products contain higher quality proteins than those from grains but they are not absolutely essential. A strict vegetarian diet excludes all products of animal origin.

It is a difficult regimen to balance, and as a result, milk (but not eggs) may be added. Vegetable products similar to meats in appearance and taste are available, as well as oils, spreads and synthetic cream made from corn, safflower, soybean, cotton, peanut and sunflower.

FOR MANY PEOPLE the staff of life has always been and remains a cereal, such as wheat, rice, maize, millet, barley, oats or rye. But this does not mean that man was never meant to be a meat eater.

MEAT PROTEINS, however, are a luxury. Nutritionally, a steer's value is based on what he eats. Putting him out to pasture or feeding him expensive grain until slaughter time is costly. Many authorities wonder why all feeds must first pass through the steer before they are processed for humans. Why not grow crops that are processed initially into food for human consumption? If this theory was also applied to lamb and pork, we could become bird and fish eaters, supplementing our diet with cereals, vegetables, fruits and eggs.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-adressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SUSPICIOUS OLDSTER

H. P. writes: Is it common for an old person who is retired to accuse his family of stealing his tools? This is happening with us and we don't know what to do.

REPLY

Yes, provided the man is senile. There is nothing to do except keep him in good health, protect him from injury and grin and bear the accusations. Be thankful he limits the accusations to tools.

INFORMATION ON SMOKING

REPLY

Write to the American Cancer Society, 219 E. 42nd St., New York, 10017; the American Heart Association, 44 East 23rd St., New York, 10010; and the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

DETERIORATED LUNG

E.B. writes: Will you please explain what might cause a lung to deteriorate, if cancer has been ruled out?

REPLY

Scar tissue from repeated or chronic respiratory infections. Circulatory changes, fungal diseases, and inhaling certain dusts may do the same.

INFECTION IN NEWBORNS

T. P. writes: Can a baby be born with an infection?

REPLY

Yes. Syphilis, pneumonia, malaria, chicken pox, measles, German measles, tuberculosis and other diseases have been noted in newborns.

Cancer Bill Is Criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A house subcommittee considering legislation to make conquest of cancer a prime national goal was told by the American Medical Association Thursday that a Senate-passed bill might hinder the effort.

Dr. Franz J. Ingelfinger, representing the AMA, testified that the measure to create a Conquest of Cancer agency independent of the National Institutes of Health would "threaten the structure of NIH and impair research efforts in all fields."

Ingelfinger, editor of the New England Journal of Medicine, said the AMA endorses greatly increased funding of the cancer program but under the National Cancer Institute which is now part of the NIH.

Can 49ers Beat That S.I. Jinx?

The San Francisco 49ers in general and quarterback John Riley Brodie in particular have just received the infamous kiss of death. And it's really a smooch.

Everyone familiar with S.I. will understand the San Francisco team has been jinxed. The national slick is notorious for its hex on stars and teams. As soon as any one subject has appeared on the S.I. cover, it usually immediately falls flat on its kisser.

With the Niners favored over Atlanta in Sunday's National Football League opener, you can fear for the worst. Unless Coach Dick Nolan manages to buy up every copy of S.I. and burn them.

To compound the hex, the advertising department of S.I. also got into the act with a full-page splash for Pedwin, "NFL Boot of the year," with a picture of the natty Brodie, the NFL player of the Year, smiling, "I couldn't have said it better myself."

ANOTHER INTERESTING item in the current issue of S.I. mentions none other than big Larry Brink, the Mill Valley auto dealer and former All-Pro defensive end for the Los Angeles Rams.

In a mythical game between the 1951 Rams and 1971 Dallas Cowboys, author Tex Maule sets out to disprove some criticism that the game has deteriorated, flatly stating: "If the two teams were to play tomorrow the Cowboys would win by at least four touchdowns."

Anyway, Maule mentions Larry Brink thusly: "Blocking on Brink, who was exceptionally big (6-5, 240) for his day and who overpowered most tackles facing him, would be Rayfield Wright, who is bigger (6-6, 255) and more experienced. Brink would not have overpowered Wright and did not have the maneuverability to go around him."

I dunno about that. Last time I saw Larry he looked pretty maneuverable and overpowering. Sells more cars that way.

GETTING BACK to those 49ers, the Marin Chapter of their Goal Rushers Club will hold its first meeting of the year next Monday at San Rafael's Holiday Inn, noonish. President Ray Bennigson, former UCLA gridder, reports that 49er center Forrest Blue will be the guest player to answer questions about Sunday's victory (ahem) over Atlanta. Forrest Murrell Blue stands 6-5 and tips the Toledos at 260, so don't ask any intimidating questions, you guys.

FEW MISSES FOR THE MRS.

MARIN HIGH SCHOOL SLATE

A Big Football Weekend

All Marin County Athletic League football teams will be in action this weekend.

At 8 o'clock tonight Novato High School visits Riordan of San Francisco, Drake travels to Petaluma, while Terra Linda hosts Santa Rosa at San Rafael High School's stadium.

Tomorrow, San Rafael ventures to Lincoln High in San Francisco for an 11 a.m. tilt, while Tamalpais and San Marin high schools entertain Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland an Encinal of Alameda, respectively. Both afternoon games begin at 1 o'clock. Redwood opened its season this afternoon.

Of the three contests tonight, only defending champion Terra Linda is expected to come through without trouble as coach Don Lucas unveils heralded Napa transfer Kevin Donohoe at quarterback.

With him, Lucas admitted, "We're pretty good on offense, but we'll probably be inconsistent. But we whould still win. They're young, like us, yet they probably don't have as good a quarterback as we do."

The multi-talented Donohoe, bad back and all, will be in the lineup but starting monsterback Paul Berry is out with a dislocated finger. Converted quarterback John Buckley will attempt to fill the void. Despite the loss, Lucas considers his defense the team's strong suit. "We may make errors on offense, but we should be pretty solid defensively," he believes.

Lucas also pointed out that fullback Doug Long is doubtful, pending doctor's clearance on a troubled shoulder. Backup tackle Mike Costa is already scratched for the year with a similar injury. Otherwise, the Trojans enter the inaugural in "reasonably good shape," according to Lucas.

While Lucas and company are entertaining Santa Rosa, Drake tackles another Sonoma County Club, Petaluma High. The host Trojans will most likely show "three yards and a cloud of dust," Drake coach Bob Franceschini quipped.

With a relatively inexperienced quarterback at the helm in Ken Griffith, it is not surprising that Petaluma coach Howard Cadenhead leans heavily on the rushing abilities of halfbacks Bob Tiner and Al Harris. They are nursing ailing knees but should be ready to see action against the Franceschini footballers. Though noted in the past for a vaunted running game, Petaluma is working earnestly in developing the latent passing talents of Griffith. In pre-season escapades, Griffith has displayed improved aerial skills and a penchant for leadership. If he exhibits both attributes tonight, Cadenhead is confident victory can be achieved.

Novato High mentor Al Scott rests easily in the quarterbacking department with returning All-MCAL choice Marty Moroski leading the Club. His passing

Vida Blue To Pitch In TV Game Tonight

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Now that the Oakland A's have settled the issue of who will win the American League West Division perhaps Vida Blue can relax and get his 24th season victory.

Blue, who has had trouble getting over the 23 mark in his last three outings and says he's tired from so much pressure pitching this season, faces the Milwaukee Brewers tonight in a game that means very little to Oakland. But it will be televised back to the Bay Area by Channel 44.

The A's have already clinched their division. Yesterday they were guests of owner Charles O. Finley on his ranch in Laporte, Ind. for a party but the contest may mean something to the Brewers, who are 6½ games behind Minnesota and trying to get out of the A.L. west cellar.

The Brewers will pitch Marty Pattin, who has a 13-14 record this season. Blue, who started the year at a blistering pace, has now lost eight games.

The three-game series with Brewers will wind up the A's season on the road. Oakland opens its final home stand Tuesday with a doubleheader against Chicago.

Powerless Giants Vie With Padres

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If anyone has any ideas about how the San Francisco Giants can snap their hitting slump please relay them to manager Charlie Fox in care of Candlestick Park.

"I've tried everything I know to snap them out of it," Fox said Thursday after Ross Grimsley, a rookie lefthander, held the Giants to three hits in an 8-1 Cincinnati victory over San Francisco.

"I don't know what else I can do to help," Fox added glumly. "If anyone has any ideas or theories I'll gladly listen."

The latest defeat was the Giants' fourth in a row and 11th in their last 12 games. In four losses to the Dodgers and Reds this week the Giants managed a total of 23 hits, which averages out to less than six a game, and since Sept. 5 have batted only .165 as a team.

"You'd have to have the best pitching in the world to win with our hitting," said Fox, "and our pitching hasn't been all that good. I'll just have to go along with what we have and hope for something good to happen."

The Giants start their final home series of the season tonight against the San Diego Padres with Juan Marichal who hasn't won a game since Aug. 29, pitching against Steve Arlin.

Fox said he will shake up the batting order again with Willie Mays, who sat out the last two games, back in centerfield.

"If Mays plays then maybe I'll bench Ken Henderson," Fox said. "I'm really not sure what I'll do, but I'll do something."

Coach John McNamara, who as manager of the Oakland A's last year saw his team go through three different prolonged batting slumps, said there is little a manager can do to help.

"All you can do is send them out there and hope they'll come out of it," said McNamara. "They just have to keep swinging and come out of it themselves. I'll say this, if anyone knows how to snap a team out of a hitting slump he can make a lot of money."

John Cumberland was the hard-luck loser of Thursday's game. The Reds put three hits together at the start of the game for a 2-0 lead and it stayed that way until the fifth when Dick Dietz hit his 17th homer. Grimsley, who struck out four and walked one in gaining his 10th victory, had retired 13 batters in order until Dietz found the range.

Rookie shortstop Chris Speier missed a home run by a couple of inches leading off the sixth when his drive to left hit the top of the fence and bounced back for a double.

Cumberland, next up, squared around to bunt and when he missed the ball, catcher Johnny Bench caught Speier off second and Chris was nailed in a rundown.

At that moment Fox almost fainted.

"I couldn't believe it," said the Giants manager. "We can't even do the simplest things anymore without it costing us. There was no reason in the world for Speier to get caught off base."

That was the Giants' last gasp against Grimsley.

In the eighth the Reds batted around against Cumberland and Don McMahon for five runs with former Giant George Foster getting the big blow — his first big league grandslam.

Counting tonight's game with the Padres the Giants have only a dozen contests remaining. The same number the Dodgers have to go.

Laver To Open Tennis Tourney

By RON LENT

Top ranked pro Rod Laver of Australia will face an opponent "yet to be determined" Sept. 25 at noon in the opening match of the $50,000 Redwood Bank International Tennis Tournament at San Francisco's Golden Gateway club, tourney director Barry MacKay of Ross said yesterday.

The event, a 64-man competition featuring all 32 contract World Championship Tennis and assorted independent pros, plus America's leading amateurs, vie in San Francisco and at the Berkeley Tennis Club. East Bay play runs from Saturday through Oct. 3, while Golden Gateway matches are set for noon and 5:30 p.m. weekdays from Sept. 27-Oct. 1.

Those competing include the "best four pros in the world," explained MacKay, regarding the quartet of Laver, Ken Rosewall, Arthur Ashe and John Newcombe.

The stylish, 6-foot-4 former Davis Cupper pointed out "that most everyone ranks Laver number one, and Rosewall was the 1970 U.S. Open Champion." Ashe, the 1968 Open Winner, and Englishman Newcombe, 1971 Wimbledon champ, round out the group.

"This in itself, makes this the best field anywhere," said MacKay. "This one is better than the U.S. Open, which didn't have Laver or Rosewall."

After lauding the "big four," the dapper netter added that the depth quality involved is "truly impressive." In this category, MacKay listed Bob Lutz of Tiburon, Tom Okker of Holland, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, Chicago's Marty Riessen along with independent pros like Jeff Borowiak of Lafayette. NCAA champion Jim Connors of UCLA is also included in this grouping.

"Because we have this type of wide field, we can honestly call this an 'open.' "

Redwood Bank president Byron Leydecker concurred, commenting "we at the bank believe any activity that is good for the Bay Area is good for the bank. That is why we're sponsoring this."

Leydecker, though saddled with a health problem which prevents his playing, is still an avid tennis buff. "Tennis allows people to express themselves in a constructive way. You can play or watch, whether you are nine or 90.

"And, besides that, tennis is a growing sport; we're just trying to help it along," he said to a Golden Gateway luncheon gathering yesterday.

The congenial bank leader then praised his two-time tournament director MacKay and Ashe for their work with the underprivileged, particularly in Harlem four years ago.

Referring to MacKay's benevolent endeavors, Leydecker noted "he has devoted a good portion of his life working with these people."

prowess is unquestioned in Marin circles, however, Riordan High has always been a doubting Thomas. With their stingy defense, the Crusaders of Coach Bob Toledo have every right to be.

The purple clad San Franciscans worked intently throughout the week to contain Moroski and his catch-crazed ends, Charley Chung and Greg Straw, plus halfbacks Leo Magers and Stan Conti. The home "11" will also have to stop Novato lineman Pat Parinen and Ross Weklych, two outstanding Hornet defenders well known for destroying offenses. The pair plus the Rennier brothers, Mike and John, key a defensive unit which will be sorely tested by a usually productive Riordan attack.

In San Francisco tomorrow morning, Bob Muster's beefy San Rafael Bulldogs will take on a massive Mustang aggregate, but bulk never posed a problem to the shifty San Rafael backs Scott Duncan, Dirk Gansloser and Mark Ferrar. The three, particularly returning All-Leaguer Duncan, have excelled previously against large-sized opponents. Lincoln, a perennial pigskin power, has aspirations of an unbeaten season. Lincoln followers claim the Mustangs have all the horses for a title gallop.

But first, the hosts must try to escape the clutches of a front six San Rafael defensive line featuring the Lechner brothers, Bill and John. Duncan is the steller secondary performer.

Later that afternoon, Tamalpais and San Marin high schools will seek their first wins in home fights with Bishop O'Dowd and Encinal, respectively.

Marin In Home Opener

By JIM SMITH

Marin, whose starting lineup has been a game of musical chairs since last week's offensively encouraging but defensively depressing scrimmages against Diablo Valley College of Concord, will be one afternoon hope to equal last year's record of one victory. Anything beyond that would be frosting on the cake as Marin lost all eight of its other games last season.

Marin coach Dick Read today announced Kevin Peak, former Drake High School star, would start at quarterback on the strength of his better passing ability than alternate quarterback Bob Daniele.

"Kevin has to come through for us," said Read about his starting signal caller. The better passer of the two quarterbacks, Peak has excellent receivers in ends Tom McGrath and Mike Corder and wingback Dave Perron, all two-way performers on both offense and defense.

"Bob Sutherland is three times the runner he was last year," Read said, as Sutherland and teammate Gary Agee will lead the running attack.

The offensive line is a strange brew of defensive ends, and reserves, strung together by injury and expediency. At center is Dennis Miller, who replaces Blair Bavuso because of a leg injury. Guard Rick Gifford has been moved to left tackle, while Tim Thompson is at right. The guards are Craig Cunningham and Art Herrnberger.

"We're going to be better against the run, but the pass defense needs adjustment," said Read, as safeties Corder and McGrath, and cornerbacks Neal Given, and Perron are inexperienced. "He's a good hitter" said Read about Given. "We expect him to play a lot of offense and defense for us."

SINGING THE BLUES

Alston Learning Fox' Old Tune

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Walter Alston may be the senior manager in the major leagues but he's learning one thing fast from Charlie Fox—it's called singing the blues.

The National League's Western Division race remained a stalemate Thursday as the Cincinnati Reds upended the first-place San Francisco Giants 8-1 and the San Diego Padres stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1. The Giants hold a one-game lead with each team having 12 games left.

Fox, who watched his Giants fall to their fourth straight loss and 11th in the last 12 games, has been singing songs of woe late, a far cry from early this season when the Giants threatened to make a mockery of the Western race. And now Alston seems to have learned the song,

"I've tried everything I know to snap them out of it," said Fox, referring to the Giants' hitting slump. "I don't know what else I can do to help. If anyone has any ideas or theories, I'll gladly listen. You have to have the best pitching in the world to win with our hitting and our pitching hasn't been all that good."

The words were different but Alston's tune was the same. "anytime you lose you look sluggish," he said as the last-place Padres bumped his Dodgers for the second straight night. "There's not much you can do if you can't get guys on base and then if you get guys on base, they can't slide into home unless somebody hits them in. I think we've had some of this coming. We didn't do a lot to help ourselves the last two nights."

Dodger hitters left nine men on base in each loss and produced only one run in each game.

Rookie Ross Grismley stopped San Francisco on three hits and former Giant George Foster smashed a grand slam homer in the five-run eight to break the game open. Lee May had four hits and Pete Rose added three for the Reds.

Nate Colbert, Larry Stahl and John Jeter hit home runs to back Fred Norman's seven-hitter in the Padres' victory. It was only the third victory in 15 decisions for Norman, a former Dodger.

The Padres, who seem determined to be the deciding factor in the race, try to work their magic spell against the Giants tonight. Steve Arlin will pitch for San Diego against Juan Marichal, who hasn't won since Aug. 29.

The Dodgers are scheduled to face Atlanta with Claude Osteen, idled all week with the flu, set to face the Braves' George Stone.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis 6-1, Chicago edged New York 1-0, Montreal beat Philadelphia 6-2 and Atlanta nipped Houston 4-3.

In American League action, Detroit topped Washington 3-1, Baltimore defeated New York 6-2, California edged Kansas City 2-1, Boston outlasted Cleveland 10-7 and Minnesota downed Milwaukee 7-3.

Ramon Hernandez, a St. Louis castoff, stopped the Cardinals in relief for the second straight night to give Pittsburgh the victory and help the Pirates reduce their magic number for clinching the Eastern title to three.

FISH AND GAME

Warden Misses Culprit But Arrests A Salmon

By AL GIDDINGS

Last Tuesday I wrote a column on the salmon run of big fish off California City and I've had a few complaints of illegal fishing in that location since then.

One serious complaint was that a commercial boat had fished the area over the weekend, taking 18 salmon. This is strictly illegal as this area (District 12) is never open to commercial salmon fishing. Investigation for this boat is continuing. There were also some complaints of people using two rods. Inside the Golden Gate Bridge, the number of rods legal per fisherman is one!

One day this week I patrolled the area by boat. It was a beastly hot day! I thought it might be cooler out there, more so than along the shoreline. I left Loch Lomond Harbor in San Rafael about 1:15 p.m., taking an ice box along with six sodas and a frozen two and one-half gallon jug of ice water.

There were about 40 boats working the area off the old net depot at California City. The best way for me as a fish and game warden to work this type of setup with all the boats moving and having lines out is to forget a license check and just observe the entire fishing operation that is going on. This way, the litterers, the two rodders, the undersized fish catchers and a possible commercial boat or overlimits can generally be noted.

Now, to make this a more reasonable operation, I usually put a trolling rod out! This day, I had a friend along who really enjoys fishing! He came along just for the ride! There's an extra old beat up rod in the boat, so I told him to hook it up, along with my rod; that we might as well troll while we were there.

I guess we trolled around about a half hour, when we noted a single person in a boat using two rods. He was perhaps two blocks away. We began to work our way slowly up to his boat, when about that time another boat went whipping by. As this boat passed ours the fellow using the two rods yelled and whistled to him. I guess he wanted to show him a fish. I thought "We'll this guy," so I speeded up the motor! What do you think happened? A huge fish hit my friend's line. I had to slow the motor and our "two-rodding" friend must have noticed the F&G insignia on my boat. He was gone right now.

We finally landed the fish — a 31 pounder! Well, we gave it another half hour or so, checking with some of the boats as to their catches. The party boat "Ed: Bob" had four. Quite a few boats had one or two. All the fish were top quality. Things looked pretty legal, except for the one boat that left the area and it was so torrid out there that we decided to go in.

Wouldn't you know it, a second fish hit that beat up old rod. My friend suggested that I take the rod this time which I happily did. The fish turned out to be almost identical to the first fish. One was a male, the other a female. Our total time in the area was two hours: 1:30 to 3:30, fishing the last of the outgoing tide using two pounds of weight and forty pullouts. We used herring for bait. It's a great and safe fishing area.

THE DEPT. of Fish and Game checked 2,781 sage grouse hunters at 10 check station this past three day season (Sept. 4-5-6). The hunter success was .68 birds per hunter.

Lassen County had 1,004 hunters checked with 568 birds, Modoc had 226 hunters with 123 birds and Mono-Inyo had 1551 hunters checked with 1,187 birds. The overall picture showed that the number of hunters this year was up 25 per cent over last year. The bird hunting success was almost identical.

San Jose State Opens Season Against Fresno

Pacific-8 Attempts Comeback

By RON SUPINSKI
United Press International

This is shaping up as redemption week for UCLA, USC, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington State and California football teams of the Pacific-8 Conference.

All of them were beaten in season openers against intersectional foes last week and are deadly desirous of breaking into the win column. But UCLA and California might find the going a bit rough.

The Bruins are 12 1-2-point underdogs to the Texas Longhorns and their bruising ground game out of the wishbone-T. Quarterback Eddie Phillips will guide Texas against the Bruins in a nationally televised contest.

At Berkeley, the Cal Bears throw a whole new backfield at tough West Virginia in hopes of removing some of the sting of last week's 51-20 pasting at the hands of Arkansas.

Junior college transfer Jay Cruze will be starting his first varsity game at quarterback for the Bears in place of Reed Chastang who was injured against the Razorbacks and will miss more than half the season. Running backs Isaac Curtis and Tim Todd have shaken off injuries which allowed them only limited service last week and they will go full blast against the Mountaineers.

But West Virginia has strong credentials. They handled Boston College 45-14 last week and boast a powerful inside running game featuring fullback Pete Wood and quarterback Bernie Galiffa.

In other games involving Pacific-8 teams, Washington and Sonny Sixkiller are at home to entertain Purdue, Arizona of the Western Athletic conference opens its season at Washington State, Iowa visits Oregon State and Stanford is at Army. Oregon hosts Utah and USC is at Rice in night contests.

The Trojans, beaten by Alabama last week, are 10-point favorites over Rice. In Lou Harris and Sam Cunningham, the Trojans have another pair of devastating runners which the Owls might have difficulty in stopping.

Stanford is favored to whip Army by at least 16 points but Indians coach John Ralston notes the Cadets have lost only five of their 81 home openers at West Point. The Cadets are considerably improved over their 1-9-1 record of last season and are led by Dick Atha, a lefthanded quarterback who may pose some problems for Stanford defenders.

In the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, UC Santa Barbara jumps from the frying pan into the fire. After being shellacked 65-7 by Washington last week, the Gauchos find themselves going against the Tennessee Vols who are rated better than Washington.

THIS DAY IN SPORTS

A Surprise For U.S. Golf Team

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Nonplaying captain Jay Hebert tried to pair "two guys who can put the ball on the green" for today's competition against Great Britain's charging Ryder Cup team, holding a 4 1-2 to 3 1-2 edge over the Americans after the first day of play.

Except for Arnold Palmer and Gardner Dickinson, who won two matches, the U.S. golf stars might have been farther behind, and Britain's captain Eric Brown said he was "overjoyed" anyhow because "this is the first time we've been in the lead after the first day on American soil."

Hebert, whose players lost three of four matches in the morning and then rallied to win two and halve another of four in the afternoon, declared the weather favored the British. There was overnight rain and low temperatures, in the 60's, throughout the day.

"It was difficult for my boys to play under those conditions," Hebert said. "If I'd known it was going to be wet, I'd have paired my long hitters together. Foursomes require more playing together. Four ball needs two guys who can put the ball on the green, and then you've got two putts at the hole."

The British lead was exactly the same as they held in 1969 after the first round at Royal Berkdale in England, when the Americans managed to tie after two days of play before Great Britain came from behind in the final-day singles matches for the only deadlock in the series, 16-16. The U.S. team has won 14 matches, Great Britain 3.

1976 OLYMPIC GAMES HOPEFUL

Lad's Motto: Walk, Do Not Run

By RON LENT

San Rafael High School has a 1976 Olympic Games hopeful in senior Jerry Lansing.

The 17-year-old athlete is earnestly training today to compete in the walking events a half-decade hence, he is receiving help and encouragement enroute from fellow walkers, veterans Tom Dooley, Bill Ranney and Goetz Klopfer, all teachers at SRHS.

However, Lansing takes all their kind words in stride, for he is enveloped in a rigorous conditioning program which includes: Tuesday, series of 880 runs; Wednesdays, 10 miles covered in a walk race pace; Thursday, more track for speed development; Friday, walk an "easy" eight to 10 miles; Sunday, a 30 mile walk.

Lansing jumped into walking after running distance races three years ago. "When coach (Bill) Ranney (the American 15 mile and 25 kilometer American record holder in this event) would walk while we jogged, Idecided to try it.

"You might say I was a natural at it. I caught on right away, so I was able to concentrate on other things like endurance and strength."

Lansing's innate walking talents enable him to refine his skills by taking on an ambitious distance schedule he walks through, no mean feet.

Though such undertakings can be painfully boring and trying on his soles, Lansing keeps in step by gallavanting with Ranney, Klopfer and Dooley. "Or I sometimes go with other walkers from school," he explained.

The 6-foot-1, 150-pounder was admittedly" small and squat" in his junior high school days. "But," he stated, "I gradually thinned out and got into condition. So when my brother (Joe) went out for cross country in high school, I did too."

Yet, Jerry discovered that, by his own admission, "I'm a better walker than runner."

However, his running has conditioned him for walking. For example, the speed garnered from running sets of half-miles is a boon in any stretch drive during a race. But Lansing is the first to admit that different muscles are used in his specialty.

"We use a lot of knee and hip action," he pointed out. "It may look funny to see the tail flying," Lansing agreed, "but without the exagerated movement, you could not move. And it also helps increase the stride."

The elbows flail in a motion similar to that of a washing machine, while the competitor carefully touches both the heel and toe to the ground.

Although mastering these intricacies are difficult, Lansing has found that, because of them, he may walk right into college with a full scholarship. "They just started putting walking races into small college events, which will mean scholarships. I hope to get one."

This, coupled with making the 1976 Olympic Games in Germany, are his immediate aspirations. He has not determined a career goal, so he may go for a walk to think of a way to find one — if only to keep in step with college requirements.

Coody, Miller In Kaiser Fold

NAPA, Calif. (UPI) — Charles Coody and John Miller, recent winners of two major golf tournaments will play in the fifth edition of the Kaiser International Open here, Oct. 18-24.

Coody, 1971 master champion, announced he would take up the challenge of the Silverado courses for the fifth consecutive time at a news conference immediately following his one-shot victory in the world series of golf at Akron, Ohio.

Miller, who won the Southern open in Columbus, Ga., by five shots on the same day as Coody's victory, also has said he will play in the $150,000 tournament on his home courses.

American prisons are very much in the news these days with their seething unrest and too frequent explosions. Much less is being heard, however, of institutions and agencies striving to reduce our prison populations by turning troubled youths into new, more constructive directions. One such is Sunny Hills at San Anselmo. And Marin Magazine editor Don Keown writes about this treatment center for emotionally disturbed adolescents as a special and important feature for tomorrow's I-J supplement.

Each week the Marin Magazine's "Profile of a Marinite" series introduces its readers to another prominent and interesting resident of their county. Few, however, have been more interesting than tomorrow's subject. He is Benjamin P. Draper of Mill Valley. He is a man of many talents and of multiple interests, although best known as the producer of the long-running "Science in Action" TV series. Dorothy Gardiner writes about Draper's television background and his many other activities for the magazine.

U.S. Studies Cheap Energy Source

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor.

NEW YORK (UPI)—A nation needs energy to survive and prosper in today's world. Even then it may not survive unless world pollution is brought under control.

Why, then, ask many scientists and energy experts, is the United States allowing Russia to get such a big lead in an energy producing technique that gives "more bang for the buck" and is pollution free?

They refer to magnetohydrodynamics (MHD), the art of generating electricity by direct heat conversion. Russia, which doesn't toss money around lightly, already has three such plants in commercial operation, and another $300 million, 1,500-megawatt MHD complex is on the drawing board.

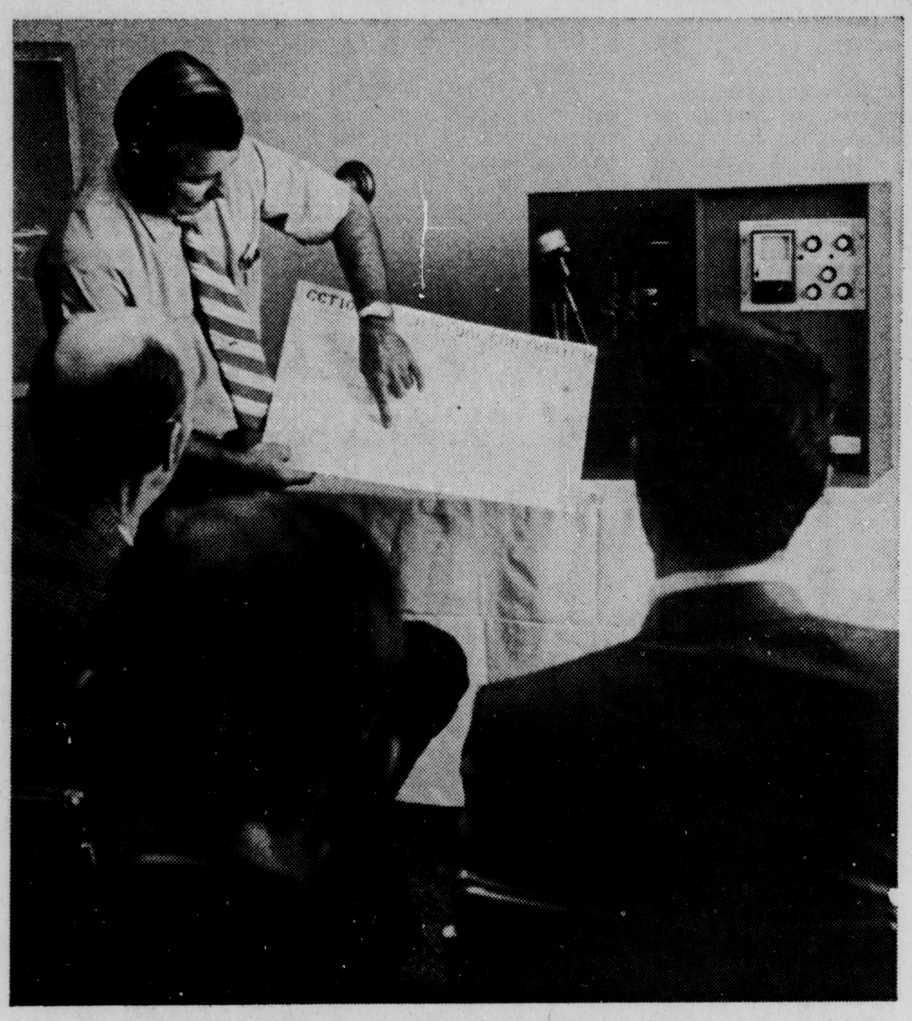
The Soviets are said to be from three to 10 years ahead of the United States even though the United States and West Germany agreed recently to cooperate on MHD plants. Their feasibility has been studied for years by General Electric, Avco, Westinghouse, General Dynamics, Martin and the American Electric Power Service Corp. Cutbacks in governmental and industrial research and development projects have hurt the MHD program here.

On March 25, 1971, the Russian government announced through Tass, its news agency, that it had achieved a "breakthrough" with a thermionic converter system. Like MHD, it is capable of converting nuclear energy directly into electricity rather than through the heating of steam to drive a turbine generator. And like MHD, it depends largely on cesium, the most easily ionized of all metals and one that burns instantly and explosively on contact with oxygen.

Direct heat conversion in the MHD process involves seeding a helium plasma with cesium. The ionized gas then circulates under great heat between electromagnets. As the ionized atoms pass between the magnets, the electrons circulate in one direction and the nuclei in the other. Such separation of negative and positive electric charges produces voltage.

Chemalloy Minerals Ltd. of Toronto, Canada, is the company most likely to profit by any MHD boom. Its mine at Bernic Lake, Manitoba, has the largest cesium deposits in the world and the only substantive one in the Western Hemisphere. Two smaller deposits, totalling about half the Bernic field, are being worked in Africa.

"Bernic contains approximately 120 million pounds of cesium oxide," said David T. Winchell, president of Chemalloy during a recent New York interview. "We already have sold the Russians 250,000 pounds and are negotiating for larger quantities."



COMPUTER AGAINST POLLUTION

George Condrashoff of Chem Corp Engineering, Sausalito, demonstrates that company's latest pollution control device, the CCT-100, Ph (Orp) Controller, to representatives of Signetics, Hills Brothers, and Fairchild Semiconductor. The unimpressive-looking device applies computerized logic to the measurement and control of phosphate emissions. It was given its preview showing recently at Chem Corp's headquarters at 2660-A Bridgeway.

Bank Will Offer New Issue Of Bonds

WASHINGTON, D.C. (BW) — The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development has announced that the bank proposes to offer in the United States on Aug. 11, a new issue of $175 million, principal amount of 25-year bonds.

The bonds will be non-redeemable for a period of 12½ years and will be offered through a nationwide group of underwriters headed by the First Boston Corp. and Morgan Stanley & Co. Inc.

Market Is Up Slightly; No Surprise

Some analysts said the firmness was to be expected in view of the softness of the list this week.

Shortly before the noon hour advances topped declines, 605 to 423, with 1,419 issues traded.

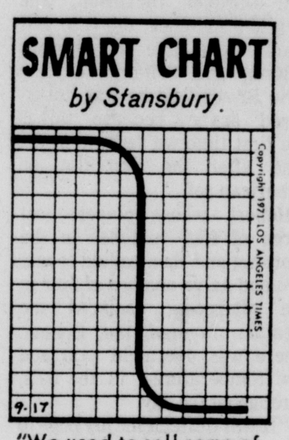
Prices on the American Stock Exchange also were higher, with 360 advances and 218 declines among 841 issues traded. Braniff A was the most active issue —74,300 shares, up 3-8 to 13. Crystal Oil gained 1-8 to 8 1-8 on 16,200 shares and Presley Development added 1 3-8 to 54 1-8 on 13,000 shares.

Most active issues on the Big Board included Amerada Hess, up 2 1-8 to 58 1-8, and Boise Cascade Corp., up 1-8 to 26 1-2.

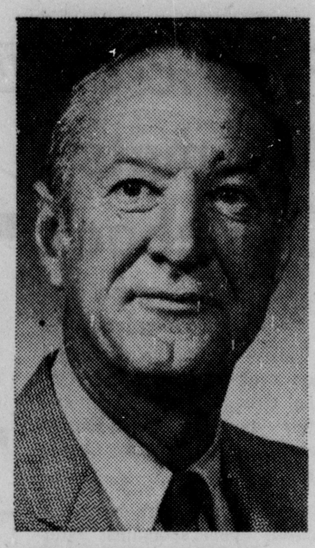
Motors gained fractionally. Chemicals, steels, oils and rails were mixed. Airlines moved up.

Film Firm's Profit

NEW YORK (BW) — Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. has reported a profit before taxes and extraordinary items for the second quarter of 1971 of $2,658,000 compared with a loss before taxes of $23,289,000 for the second quarter of 1970.



"We used to sell some of the people all of the time. Now we sell all of the people none of the time."



HEADS TITLE OFFICE — Burton J. Stutz of San Anselmo has been appointed vice president and manager of the San Rafael office of Pacific Coast Title Co. Stutz started in the land title business in Marin in 1946, and for the past seven years has been manager of the Napa branch of Security Title Insurance Co.

Gas Firm Joins A Study Group

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Pacific Lighting Gas Development Co., Los Angeles, and the Alberta Gas Trunk Line Co. Ltd., Calgary, have signed an agreement whereby Pacific Lighting Gas Development Co. becomes a full member of the Gas Arctic Systems study group.

Pacific Lighting Gas Development Co. is a subsidiary of Pacific Lighting Corp., and was formed last year to develop new supplies of natural gas for Southern California.

Participation in Gas Arctic Systems study group now provides Pacific Lighting an avenue to bring its new potential gas interests from the Arctic to market.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Hold American For Potential Rebound

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What are the future prospects for American Motors (NYSE) stock? I hold 50 shares which I purchased in 1966 at around $16. — G.S.

A. As I am sure you have noted, the entire auto sector has become the target of renewed investor enthusiasm. Following President Nixon's dramatic Aug. 15 announcement, investors seemed to single out U.S. automakers as the chief beneficiaries of the new "game plan" which is designed to stimulate consumer spending, curb foreign imports and let the dollar float.

The proposed repeal of the 7 per cent excise tax, if enacted, will render American-made cars less expensive (in many cases by about $200), while the imposition of the 10 per cent surcharge on imports is expected to strengthen U.S. automakers' competive position. Imports have been cornering a larger and larger share of the domestic auto market. In fact, foreign car sales rose a sharp 31 per cent in the first half of 1971 alone.

While this new economic program may be constructed as bullish for the auto makers, they still have some longer-range problems to face, notably higher costs from pollution control and safety equipment requirements.

American Motors, the smallest of the U.S. auto manufacturers, not only must compete with foreign car producers but also with the "Big Three," a fact which is evident from its operating results. Company's earnings performance in recent periods has been unimpressive: a substantial loss was reported for fiscal 1970; and a 19 cent share deficit was incurred in the second quarter of fiscal 1971. However, some improvement is apparent, for American reported a 28 cent share profit for the three months ended June versus a 57 cent share deficit in the like 1970 quarter. Net sales gained 12.8 per cent for the period.

Although American Motors is not considered as good quality an issue as its three U.S.competitors, the stock does have speculative appeal as a turnaround candidate and should be held at present levels.

HOUSE DESTROYED — Corte Madera firemen in a vain attempt to save this doomed house flood it with water, the car and garage are already gone. The house at 17 Constitution Drive and the one next door were destroyed yesterday in a fire that also damaged a third home. Damage to the three houses and contents was estimated by firemen to total $120,000. (Another photo, page 21)

Explosive Blaze Hits Three Homes

$120,000 In Damage Reported

Two houses in Corte Madera were destroyed and a third badly damaged yesterday when a car battery charger, left going for several days, exploded setting the homes afire.

The fire began at 17 Constitution Drive, residence of Linda B. Goldberg, her daughter and her brother, Leonard Boro, and spread to the homes of her two neighbors, Walter S. Smith Jr., of 13 Constitution Drive and Barry Blakely of 21 Constitution Drive.

When the 3 p.m. blaze was out, 90 minutes later, the Goldberg and Smith homes had been destroyed. Blakely's residence was livable but the attic had been thoroughly gutted.

The Corte Madera Fire Department responded with three units and called on Larkspur firemen to man their station while they were gone.

Firemen said they could spot smoke from the overpass on Highway 101 and saw the house explode as they approached. High winds hampered them in bringing the blaze under control.

None of the occupants was at home at the start of the blaze and no one was injured. Boro, owner of the vehicle in the garage, was out of town. Mrs. Goldberg had gone to pick up her daughter at nearby Granada School. Smith and Blakely returned home during the fire.

Apparently none of the victims lost all belongings firemen said, and Mrs. Goldberg reentered her house to salvage clothes and miscellaneous items.

Damage has been set at $50,000 to the Goldberg residence and its contents; $55,000 to the Smith house; and $15,000 to the Blakely residence.

Firemen said a battery charger attached to the Boro car for several days, become overheated and erupted starting the fire which spread to the rest of the home.

Mrs. Goldberg told firemen she and her daughter would spend the night with her parents in Belvedere; Smith was to stay with friends and the Blakelys reoccupied their home.

State To Keep Control Of Roads

The state director of public works will not recommend deleting Shoreline Highway and Tiburon Boulevard from the state highway system as long as Marin County wants them in the system.

That assurance came last night from Bruno Dentino, chief of transportation for the state director of public works, at a hearing at the Civic Center.

But Highway 17 — a highway that exists only on paper, because no one can agree on the route it should take to connect West Marin with Highway 101 — appears due for elimination from the system.

The three-man hearing committee, headed by Supervisor Donald M. Hillman of Tulare County, included Dentino and Harold Taylor, planning engineer for the State Divison of Highways.

Dentino announced that state Public Works Director James A. Moe must report in January to the State Legislature concerning deletions and additions to the state highway system.

"We recognize that deletions could create financial hardships to local areas, and so I want to emphasize that Mr. Moe will not recommend additions or deletions which are not jointly proposed by the state and the local governments involved," said Dentino.

Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., representing the Marin County Board of Supervisors, asked the state not to delete Shoreline Highway (from Richardson Bay Bridge to Point Reyes Station) and Tiburon Boulevard because both carry recreation traffic to major state and federal parks.

Similar argument for retaining the two highways were advanced by Ezilda Lucheta, speaking for Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood and several others.

Marin County Supervisors did not object to the state's deleting proposed Route 17, an east-west connector from Highway 101 to Nicasio or Point Reyes, because it is a paper route on whose alignment local agencies cannot agree.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell presented the position of Marin's City-County Planning Council, opposing the deletion of any route until comprehensive studies had been made on various modes of transportation, including rapid transit, that could be provided for recreation areas of Marin.

Robert Tartaul of Stinson Beach and Robert F. Raab of Fairfax, both representing conservation organizations, expressed concern that Shoreline Highway might be expanded into a speedway.

Under quizzing by Raab, Dentino said environment and esthetics are uppermost in the minds of the state, and the state will cooperate with local plans. "Before a freeway is built, the alignment has to be decided and an agreement reached with the local government," said Dentino. "The cities and the county would in effect have a veto power."

After the 90-minute hearing, Dentino said the message from Marin is clear. He said Public Works Director Moe will not recommend the deletion of Shoreline and Tiburon Boulevard to the Legislature in 1972 but will probably recommend the deletion of the paper Route 17.

Judge Dismisses All But 1 Charge Against Medina

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) —A military judge today reduced or dismissed all but one of the 102 murders charges against Capt. Ernest L. Medina, charged with overall responsibility for the massacre at My Lai.

The 34-year-old professional soldier originally had three specifications of murder lodged against him. He was accused of personally shooting a woman, of ordering the slaying of a little boy, and of permitting his troops to slaughter 100 others.

After the defense rested the military judge in the case, Col. Kenneth A. Howard, announced he was reducing the charge that Medina permitted his troops to kill 100 persons to one of involuntary manslaughter. The charge carries a 8-year maximum sentence upon conviction.

The charge that Medina ordered the shooting of the boy was thrown out entirely, leaving only one murder charge — that of shooting a woman during the March 16, 1968, infantry sweep through the My Lai area.

Medina has admitted shooting the woman, but said he did it in self defense —believing she was about to hurl a hand grenade at him.

After a morning long argument over the reduction of charges, the court was recessed until Tuesday because of a death in the family of the chief prosecutor, Maj. William D. Eckhardt.

The first of the charges reduced or dismissed involved the shooting of the little boy.

A former GI, Gene Oliver of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., came forth during the trial and testified that he had shot the boy by mistake, without ever having received an order from Medina to do so.

The prosecution made a surprise move just before the defense rested at 9:45 a.m. It recalled Oliver to the stand and asked Oliver whether he had ever threatened the life of the chief prosecutor, Maj. William D. Eckhardt, or Eckhardt's assistant, Capt. Frank Wurtzel.

Oliver said he had not, and Medina's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, immediately and viggrously objected. The jury was temporarily dismissed and Bailey protested the question should never have been put to Oliver with the jury present since, he said, this was grounds for mistrial.

The military judge refused to throw out the case, but said: "I'm going to direct a finding of not guilty as to this part of the charge (that Medina ordered the killing of a little boy), so it is not relevant anyway."

Howard then recalled the jury, and the defense announced it was resting, clearing the way for the prosecution to begin presentation of its rebuttal witnesses.

Medina took the stand Thursday and portrayed himself as a commander beset by a bumbling lieutenant — William L. Calley—inexperienced troops and lack of information.

Otis Interior Job Seems On Again

The off-again-on-again Department of the Interior job for Ross resident Webster Otis seemed to be on again today as Otis and his family quietly left for Washington, D.C.

Otis, 36-year-old executive of a land speculating firm, had earlier this summer been appointed to an Interior post by a fellow Ross resident, John W. Larson, new assistant secretary of the interior.

After newspaper reports of Otis's interest in a ranch sought for the Point Reyes National Seashore, Larson rescinded his earlier announcement of Otis's appointment as a special assistant.

He claimed that Otis had merely gone to Washington to be interviewed about job possibilities.

About a month ago, Larson said that the matter was being hashed over by Interior officials, and if Otis was appointed, the press would be notified.

Yesterday the Independent-Journal learned that Otis has leased his Ross home and taken his family to Washington, where he expects to take a job as a "consultant" to the Interior Department beginning Monday.

Friends of Otis said that he expects to go through Civil Service proceedings and then be appointed to a permanent position.

This announcement is expected to come along with a list of other Bay area appointments to the Republican administration.

Through a spokesman, Larson today confirmed that Otis "has been offered permanent employemnt with the Department of the Interior as one of a number of staff assistants in the (newly created) office of program and coordination."

The spokesman also said Otis would work on a temporary assignment until cleared through Civil Service. His salary will be somewhere between $24,000 and $31,500, the spokesman said.

Dirty Air May Choke Bay Growth

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Dirty air and noise already are so severe in the Bay Area that planning must switch from how to accept more growth to how to stop more growth.

This was the warning yesterday in an Association of Bay Area Governments report of the effect of aviation on the environment. The report was done for ABAG's regional airport study committee by its environmental design consultants, Wilsey and Ham of South Pasadena.

They concluded that "it is ecologically vital to realize that no population can continue to increase indefinitely in a given area. Therefore, it may well be time to plan to stop growth, not plan to accept more, or worse yet to encourage it."

People with respiratory problems are being advised by doctors to leave the area, and lung diseases are "on a dramatic increase, probably due to air pollution," the report said. "Many hundreds" have taken their doctors' advice and moved away from the area, it noted.

Plants and animals also are being affected by poor air quality in portions of the nine-county area.

"Thus, any increase in air

Senate Defeats Try To Table Draft Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted down today, 47 to 36, a strong move to block revival of the military draft. But citorious Senate forces supporting President Nixon still faced hard fighting to enact the legislation.

Rejected was a motion to table the bill to extend the draft until June 30, 1973. The aim was to attack a "rider" amendment to set an April 1 deadline for U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

The tabling motion went down to defeat in the face of strenuous efforts by President Nixon and administration forces.

The action was a victory for Nixon and another in a long series of reversals for senators who have sought to legislate a specific timetable for U.S. withdrawal.

The measure still must clear at least one more major obstacle, however—a filibuster by those who want no draft at all.

The next showdown probably will be a move next week to shut off further debate—an action that requires a two-thirds majority for success— always difficult to obtain.

Nobody has been inducted into the Army since that basic authority expired June 30 as Congress wrangled over renewal.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, an outspoken draft opponent, said in today's closed debate that rather than being irresponsible in delaying extension of the draft, the Senate was irresponsible in not denying Nixon the power to continue the Vietnam War.

In a closing argument before the vote on tabling the bill, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chair-

Warning On TV Rays Is Lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Two years ago the U.S. surgeon general warned television viewers they faced a potential radiation hazard if they sat closer than 6 to 10 feet in front of their sets.

Thursday the government lifted the warning. The Health, Education and Welfare Department said in a pamphlet that in the intervening period "steps have been taken by both government and industry" to reduce the potential hazard.

HEW said there was no evidence X-rays from television sets had resulted in human injury. It said the radiation potential had been reduced by development of a standard establishing a recommended emission rate, new procedures for government tests of TV sets before they are sold, redesigned components and new training for TV servicemen.

$75,000 County Subsidy For Seashore Shuttle Bus Proposed

A $75,000 county subsidy to Marin Transit Systems Inc. for shuttle bus service within Point Reyes National Seashore was proposed today by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste.

With possible federal matching funds, the total subsidy for the demonstration project could reach $225,000, Baptiste said.

The supervisor made his proposal before the transportation committee of the Golden Gate Bridge District. The committee endorsed his proposal and recommended to the full bridge board that the district's staff help the Marin City-based company get the federal money.

Baptiste said he has not yet taken his proposal before the Marin County Transit District but will do so at the next meeting of that board. That meeting had been set for next Tuesday but has been postponed to Oct. 5.

There was no discussion of how many buses would be involved in the demonstration project or how long the project would be conducted.

The project was endorsed by spokesmen for Marin Transit Systems, the League of Women Voters of Central Marin and the Sierra Club.

Firemen Battle Sequoia Blaze

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Helicopters shuttled men and supplies into a rugged area of Sequoia National Forest today to battle a forest fire which broke out Thursday afternoon.

Striking Teachers Fired

DALY CITY (UPI) —The Jefferson Elementary School District Board has begun dismissal procedures for 227 striking teachers.

The action came Thursday night during a brief meeting by the board. Afterwards, the board went into executive session while 700 parents remained to vote that the matter be turned over to State Superintendent Wilson C. Riles, who has offered to mediate the dispute.

The teachers went on strike Monday to force the board to negotiate their demands for working guarantees and for binding arbitration of grievances.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood answered that teachers had to return to work immediately or face dismissal. Substitute teachers at premium pay of $40 a day meanwhile were hired to handle classes.

Riles tried to head off trouble when he offered Thursday to mediate the dispute.

He said he was certain both sides were "committed to the welfare of the children ... but that because of honest differences the welfare of the children is suffering."

After the meeting, teacher spokesmen said they would be glad to have Riles settle the matter.

Greenwood previously announced that the board was willing to abide by a court decision over the legality of "collective bargaining resulting in a binding, bilateral contract for a fixed term" if the teachers would return to class before negotiations and also agree to the court decision.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Folsom Employee Killed

FOLSOM (UPI) — Authorities conducted a cell-by-cell search at Folsom State Prison today for weapons following the stabbing death of a civilian laundry supervisor.

Turner

Ronald L. Turner, 30, a civil service employee and father of four young children, was found dead Thursday of multiple stab wounds in the chest. It was the first killing of a Folsom Prison employee in more than 20 years.

Warden Walter Craven said the lockup of the prison's 1,800 inmates would remain in effect until the search for weapons has been completed and the attitude of inmates assessed.

He said the convicts were being let out of their cells only for meals and this was being handled on a tier-by-tier basis. He said no murder weapon had been found.

A suspect was being held in the prison's adjustment center and has been interrogated by prison authorities, the Sheriff's Department and the district attorney's office, a prison spokesman said.

Simple Auto Tire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Transportation Department today proposed a simplified automobile tire grading system designed to end consumer confusion over terms like "premium," "first line," and "second line" tires.

Under the system, tires would be graded for high speed performance, endurances and road hazard resistance using a simplified one-through-three numbering system.

"Each tire would have affixed to its tread surface a label containing the grades awarded, and an explanation of what each grade represents," said Douglas Toms, national highway traffic safety administrator.

The proposed rule would be effective Sept. 1, 1972. Citing "consumer confusion" over buying tires, Toms said the numbering system would give the buyer the guidance he needed to make "an intelligent, informed choice."

Neutral Bus Stand

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Members of the Pontiac Police Department, both black and white, have pledged to remain neutral in the city's volatile school busing controversy and enforce the law impartially.

At a news conference yesterday, Police Chief William Hanger and the leaders of the department's three officers' associations, also said they would remain neutral on all other public issues that could jeopardize police-community relations and the department's effectiveness.

The unusual action followed demands made at a public meeting Wednesday night that police refrain from endorsing one side or another in the busing dispute.

U.S. Favors Fin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Now that U Thant has declared that he will not serve another term as United Nations secretary general, the United States favors Ambassador Max Jakobson of Finland for the top leadership post of the world body.

Diplomatic sources said today they expected the search for a new secretary general would occupy part of the many conversations which Secretary of State William P. Rogers will have with visiting foreign ministers at the U.N. beginning next week.

Jakobson is known as an able ambassador who is particularly cool under pressure. His statements as Finland's permanent representative at the United Nations have been neutral enough to win the support of the Soviet Union.

Edith Weakening

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Hurricane Edith, whose destructive winds blew through Louisiana and into Mississippi Thursday, was mild compared with the mighty death-dealing hurricanes of recent years. Forecasters said today they hope Edith won't spoil evacuation efforts for future storms.

"They shouldn't be lulled into a false sense of security in the future because their experiences may not have been severe in Edith," said meteorologist Dale Goudeau.

Edith, spinning ever weaker in Mississippi early today but creating storms that have sparked tornadoes in Florida and prompted flood warnings to Pennsylvania, caused the heaviest damage Thursday in Baton Rouge.

Bomb Gunsite

SAIGON (UPI) — Three American F4 Phantom jets today bombed a Communist anti-aircraft gunsite in the northern half of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) after the jets were fired on while on a mission over the Ho Chi Minh trail in neighboring Laos.

It was the 59th in a series of what the U.S. command calls protective reaction strikes over North Vietnamese territory this year.

The command said the F4s struck 40 miles south of the coastal city of Dong Hoi. The northern half of the six mile wide DMZ is technically a part of North Vietnam.

Soldier Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A sniper shot and killed a British soldier in Belfast today in an exchange of fire with soldiers guarding explosives experts who were called in to investigate a planted bomb, an army spokesman said.

Gunfire wounded two other soldiers, one of them seriously, in the clash, the spokesman said.

Prouty's Senate Seat Is Filled

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Hastily appointed so he could support President Nixon's drive to revive the military draft, Robert T. Stafford was sworn in as a U.S. senator today, succeeding the late Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt.

Vermont Gov. Deane C. Davis elevated the Republican congressman to the Senate Thursday night just one day after Prouty's burial so that Stafford could be on hand for a key vote today on the draft bill.

Stafford, who has served as Vermont's sole congressman since 1961, was accompanied down the aisle by Vermont's other senator, George D. Aiken, the dean of Senate Republicans.

Only a handful of senators were present when the oath of office was administered to Stafford at 9:05 a.m. EDT as the first order of business.

"Sometimes he agrees with me and sometimes he doesn't. That's why I like him."

Davis announced Stafford's appointment at 9 p.m. Thursday and the White House sent an Air Force jet to Montpelier to pick him up.

Rockefeller Says Hostage Deaths Morally Justified

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller believes the nine hostages who died Monday in the storming of Attica state prison were caught in a gas-obscured crossfire of shotgun, rifle and pistol bullets.

He told a news conference in Albany Thursday the deaths were morally justified.

"I don't think there was indiscriminate shooting by state police," Rockefeller said. "I think the hostages were caught in a crossfire."

Rockefeller said police converged from "four different directions" under cover of tear gas after they had been ordered to take the prison back from the estimated 1,200 inmates who rioted and held two cellblocks of the prison for five days, holding 38 men hostage.

He was asked if the shootings of the hostages were justifiable homicide.

"When you use that term," the governor answered, "you're going beyond my legal expertise."

How about legally justified?

"Certainly," he said. "When you talk about morally, I certainly think so." He later said, "I thought there might have been more. We approached this from the philosophy of 'could any of these 38 hostages be saved?'"

The five-day riot and seige and the later takeover, in which 40 men died —10 prison employes and 30 inmates —has sparked a series of investigations. Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., was expected to arrive today with other members of the House Select Committee on Crime. A five-member panel of high-ranking judges picked by Rockefeller will meet Saturday to select a panel of citizens to make another study.

The state correctional department said the 30 inmate deaths was a revised figure. They said an earlier figure of 32 deaths was not correct and might have been the result of double counting.

HISTORY FALLS TO GROUND

The demolition of the old Courthouse in San Rafael is continuing with about half of the old building torn down by Ghilotti Brothers Inc. During the razing of the building, heavily damaged by fire in May, passersby have been able to see where the oldest section of the 99-year-old Courthouse was added to many years ago, with windows bricked up and another layer of rooms added. An old elevator shaft which once housed a gallows also became visible. County supervisors have put off to mid-October trying again to sell the property.

Ship Spills Oil At Richmond Wharf

I-J Special Report

RICHMOND — An oil line extending from the Swedish tanker Jacob Malmros broke early today, spilling more than 1,000 gallons of crude oil into the water at Richmond Long Wharf, according to the Coast Guard.

The vessel was unloading cargo at Pier 4 when the accident occurred at 1:55 a.m.

Booms to contain the oil were brought in by Standard Oil Co. and most of the spill was contained in the area, Coast Guard officers said.

Traces of oil, however, spread as far north as the Richmond side of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and to Ferry Point to the south.

Standard Oil in cooperation with Clean Days Inc., an oil cleanup contractor, was in charge of cleanup operations, a spokesman said.

Sadat Rattles Sabers; Golda Says Truce Shaky

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said in a radio and television address to the nat Thursday night: "I am ready to sacrifice a million people for the independence of our country and its liberation."

And in Tel Aviv Premier Golda Meir said in an interview with Israeli television that her nation is prepared for a possible breakdown of the 13-month-old cease-fire along the Suez Canal.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Sadat faced a crisis at home and Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said Sadat was once again turning to the Soviet Union for help.

Sadat in recent months has stated repeatedly the Middle East situation must be settled one way or another this year and in his television speech he said:

"Israel should be ready to sacrifice a million people, too. Israel will have to pay an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, napalm for napalm and deep penetration raids for deep penetration raids."

Eban, in an interview with the Tel Aviv newspaper Yedioth Ahronoth, attributed the war-like statements to Sadat's domestic crises —the treason trials now under way in Cairo, the Soviet involvement in Egypt and an army leadership pressing for war.

"If he emerges from this conflict, if he avoids former President Nasser's fatal mistake and will not be tempted to go to war without any logic but only through some self-delusion, he could be a very interesting personality," Eban said.

"Sadat is a great enigma, but like Nasser, he is capable of making peace."

Al Ahram sat raising the fighting capability of mechanized units."

Mrs. Meir, taking note of the worsening situation, said, "we are prepared for any eventuality."

Park Is No Longer Quentin Spokesman

James W. L. Park, outspoken associate warden at San Quentin, will no longer be the prison's spokesman to the press, the Independent-Journal learned today.

As a result of a job split because "the load was too heavy for one man," Park will devote all his time to running Death Row and to "inmate activities," according to the man who has replaced him.

Joseph R. O'Brien, who had been acting as public information officer at San Quentin while Park was on a vacation, has been named permanently to the assignment, he said today.

O'Brien said that he and Park were told of the new arrangement at a staff meeting Wednesday.

In the past, Park not only was in charge of Death Row but also spent a great deal of time answering news media questions.

His outspoken comments such as blaming the Aug. 21 bloody escape attempt at San Quentin on "bullxxxx talk by dilettante revolutionaries" had been defended by Ray K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections.

Park had also told newsmen that Soledad Brother George Jackson "would be alive today if it were not for his white advisers . . . They had nothing to lose by setting him up to be knocked down. If he had escaped, they would have had a hero to work with . . . Dead, he became a martyr."

The 49-year-old Park has been an associate warden at San Quentin since 1949.

Warden Louis S. Nelson said today that the new assignment for Park and O'Brien had been decided upon in July but that announcement was held up first because of the warden's vacation and later because of the Aug. 21 violence.

Mrs. Diane Feinstein Enters Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dianne Feinstein, president of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, entered the San Francisco mayor's race today on the last day for filing.

Mrs. Feinstein, 38, a slim matron with flashing blue eyes who was the biggest vote-getter in the Board of Supervisors race two years ago, announced her candidacy with a warning that "San Francisco is at a crossroads" between old-style and new-style politics.

The attractive wife of a San Francisco neurosurgeon, Mrs. Feinstein had been generally expected to stay out of the race in which Mayor Joseph Alioto, was considered by virtually all observers to be a shoo-in favorite despite a series of monumental legal difficulties over the next six months.

But in recent days she had been hinting that she might change her mind.

Mrs. Feinstein is the daughter of a world-famous surgeon, Dr. Leon Goldman of the University of California Medical Center. Her husband is Dr. Bertram Feinstein, who is associate chief of neurosurgery at Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center in San Francisco.

pollution from direct or indirect causes will probably increase the adverse effects on the lives of people and other living thing in the Bay Area, to say nothing of the detrimental effects on physical things such as paint, metals and clothing and their subsequent costs of repair or replacement," it said.

Noixe levels, especially from aircraft, "already disrupt the well being of many individuals in the Bay Area," according to the report. "Some evidence suggests that such noise increases stress," it added, "thus any increased noise levels will no doubt have detrimental inroads on the quality of life in the Bay Area."

The consultants suggested mapping "environmental sensitivity levels" throughout the region to describe the environmental impact of new and expanded aviation development. Such a measurement "is obviously very crude," it conceded, but it still would off a useful "early warning system" of sensitivity to environmental disruption. It would consider noise, air and water quality and wildlife habitat standards.

SANTA ROSA — A new charge of cultivation of marijuana has been lodged against James Kimmel, former Novato teacher and Universal Life Church minister.

Sonoma County sheriff's deputies said they confiscated several hundred marijuana plants growing in the form of a peace symbol at Kimmel's home in Sonoma on Sept. 3.

Kimmel, 36, is currently on trial in Sonoma County Superior court on a prior cultivation of marijuana charge. He has challenged the arrest on constitutional grounds, claiming that marijuana is used during his worship services.

Blocking Truck Deal Is Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An administration spokesman has denied the government blocked a plan by Mack Truck Inc. to build a plant in the Soviet Union.

The company announced this week it had canceled the project and cited as the reason a failure to receive government approval.

An administration official said Thursday, however, "the government did not stand in the way of the deal." He said the Commerce Department had "asked for some more information and Mack didn't provide it."

man of the Senate Armed Services committee declared that further delay in passing new draft legislation could worsen existing military problems to the point of national tragedy.

In his appeal for action, Stennis declared: "The problems of crime and morale in our military services are extremely serious and I charge the Senate that further delay on this draft bill will serve to make the problems approach dimensions of tragedy."

President Nixon personally warned that failure to approve a two-year extension of the draft would be one of "the most irresponsible acts on the part of the United States Senate that I could possibly think of."

Nixon said at a Thursday news conference a vote against the draft would "seriously jeopardize peace initiatives of the United States around the world" and "make the United States the second strongest nation in the world."

But Nixon's vocal support for the draft law was not what inspired a new controversy that threatened the bill. Instead it was a rumor reportedly circulated by a key White House aide about Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

William Safire, President Nixon's chief speechwriter, reportedly called several newsmen to report on a "background" basis that Mansfield was threatening to cut off campaign funds for Democrats who did not support him on the draft. United Press International learned about the calls Thursday night and a reliable White House source confirmed that Safire had been spreading the story.

Mansfield denied that he had told Democrats anything of the sort. "That isn't my style," he said. "I didn't do it and I would not do it. I have never told anyone to vote for anything on the basis of party —not on that or anything else."

Nixon persuaded Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., Thursday to quit blocking the draft bill. The price for Allott's acquiescence was Nixon's support for a $2.7 billion military pay increase designed to create an all-volunteer army.

McCloskey Charges Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who will challenge President Nixon for the GOP nomination next year, believes the administration's use of "petty deceit for political gains" has become commonplace.

Because of this, McCloskey said Thursday, he intends to cite each week an instance in which he believes the administration has refused to give the full truth to Congress and the public.

As a starter, McCloskey pointed to comments former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel made in a new book. He said Hickel's book showed Nixon withheld adverse information on the supersonic transport for two years while Congress voted funds for the project.

No Fee For Outsiders At Library

Mill Valley Library Board last night decided to drop the library fee for nonresidents in exchange for the county's promise of certain goods and services.

The board's unanimous decision must be ratified by the city council before it can become effective, according to Librarian Alberta L. Hankenson.

The county will provide $11,200 in services and goods annually in exchange for the elimination of the nonresident fee which provides the library with $9,240 a year.

In services, the county will purchase $2,500 in books for Mill Valley; pay the library board's membership fee of $4,000 to the North Bay Cooperative Library System and send out overdue notices, an annual savings in staff time and postage of $4,700, according to Miss Hankenson.

The nonresident fee, $14 a year for a family and $5 a year for students, provides the library board with $770 a month or $9,240 a year.

Although threatened this summer by a city council budget cut, the library continues to operate regular hours.

The council chopped $5,000 from the board's $148,000 budget which, according to Miss Hankenson, would have resulted in a cut in operating hours.

The council, however, later restored $2,000 to the budget and a saving resulted from the 33-day closure during the strike by city employees this summer.

In other business, the board reelected Waldi Hecht, chairman and Robert Urban secretary for the next year.

A business associate of Otis said today that Otis is in the process of divesting himself of his interest in the 2,500-acre Pierce Ranch, now under condemnation proceedings for the Point Reyes park.

He has also resigned as general manager for a company which owned a part interest in the ranch, according to friends. (Otis reportedly had owned about a 2 per cent interest in the property on which the owners had set a price of $7 million. The matter went to condemnation after the Department of the Interior offered a price near $1,700,000.)

Prison Rights Panel Formed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A new unit created within the Justice Department will deal with civil rights violations in prisons and other institutions.

Department officials said Thursday the forming of the new Office of Institutions and Facilities was not connected with the Attica, N.Y., prison riot.

The office will handle noncriminal violations such as segregated facilities, discriminatory hiring practices and complaints by prison inmates, Attorney General John N. Mitchell said in a statement.

No investigation of Attica is planned because of a departmental policy giving state officials jurisdiction in investigating alleged violations, a department spokesman said.

Three Held In Probe Of Heroin Sale

Two men and a woman who, narcotics agents said, were living in vans in a filled area at 240 Redwood Highway, near the Marin heliport, were arrested yesterday on suspicion of selling narcotics.

Dale Wilbourn, 37, Patrick Elmer Cox, 33, and Julie Lee Harmon, 28, were held at Marin County Jail to appear in Municipal Court today.

Wilbourn gave a San Francisco address when he was booked, and Cox and Miss Harmon both said they lived at 78 Douglas Drive, Inverness.

State agents said Cox had made three heroin sales in the past two months to narcotics agents, Miss Harmon had made two sales and Wilbourne one.

Cox and Miss Harmon were also booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana after agents said they found some marijuana seeds in their camper.

Trio Arrested On Probe Of Pot Smuggling

Three Marin residents were arrested yesterday by U.S. Customs officials, who said the three were part of a nationwide marijuana smuggling conspiracy.

Jo Anne Gail Fahey, 31, and Will Walker, 27, both of 51 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera, and Daniel Valentino Badaracco, 28, of 125 Piper Lane, Fairfax, were booked into Marin County Jail at 5:55 p.m. and then released and taken by customs agents to San Francisco.

Customs officials said details of the conspiracy were not yet available, but that the Marin residents were among 18 persons indicted by a federal grand jury in Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday for conspiring to smuggle marijuana into the United States.

Creek Plea Is Rejected By Ross

The Ross Town Council last night rejected a citizens' petition demanding that the council either rescind its approval of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project or put it to a referendum.

Acting on the written advice ot Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott, the council voted not to hold such a referendum on Phase Four of the project which will run through the town.

Seventeen residents of Ross had gathered 224 signatures objecting to the flood control project, primarily because of what they called "outmoded" concrete walls planned along the creek through Ross.

Elliott told the council, however, that first of all, since the council had only given administrative approval to the project and not taken legislative action, the matter was not subject to a referendum.

He also added that the flood control project has been preempted by the state which is paying for the project.

Any referendum should be directed to the state, not to the town of Ross, Elliott wrote to the council.

The Ross Town Council also:

WAGES — Heard an opinion from Mayor Frederick S. Allen that salary increases granted to town employees should be given retroactively since they were granted before President Nixon's wage-price freeze.

CROWDED — Learned that a house at 57 Ivy Drive, which neighbors had complained had been rented to more than five unrelated tenants, has been sold and that the new owner intends to evict the tenants and renovate the property.

VARIANCE — Granted permission to Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hanger of 34 Woodside Way to enlarge a back room of their house and add additional decking around a swimming pool.

SOCCER — Heard that 75 youngsters are involved in the town's soccer program, the first such project in the county.

CLOSED — Went into closed session to discuss a complaint against a town employee.

Novato Trustees In Goals Discussion

Should the Novato Unified School District give priority to training for teachers or to its program for less able learners? Or should the emphasis be on more volunteer aides or on standardization and continuity in learning?

These are on the list of educational objectives trustees are studying, determining which should be emphasized.

Several months ago the citizens' educational goals committee recommended 50 objectives, and the board is scheduled to pick "two or three" for "special emphasis" at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Novato High School lecture hall.

Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley said each trustee will select five to be considered for priority by the full board.

A committee recommendation which would have far-reaching effect is that the district adopt a continuous learning year, a year round operation.

Among the objectives which each trustee will nominate five for adoption are an enrichment program for more able learners, improved communication between teachers and parents and use of teaching methods that will emphasize creative thinking, methods of research and study skills.

There also are recommendations for a pilot program for nongraded schools, individualized instruction, expansion of vocational training, diagnostic testing of students within the first three weeks of school to aid a teacher in evaluating a student's learning and a change in the grading system, such as a combination of parent conference and report cards.

District administrators have given priority to a teacher training program, with expanded use of aides as their second choice, and standardization of learning as third choice.

Thirteen of the objectives presented by the committee "are being reasonably met" and won't be considered for emphasis, Mobley reported.

Among those being "reasonably met" are providing curriculum that prepares students for college and occupations, opportunity for student government, incorporating physical fitness performance into the physical education program, enlarging the summer school program, and an adult education program that offers vocational and avocational courses.

First Glasphalt Paving Project In Washington

VANCOUVER, WASH. (BW) — The West's oldest brewery has paved its parking lot with an experimental material containing 350,000 waste bottles and jars.

Peter N.T. Widdrington, president of Lucky Breweries, said 80 tons of crushed, multicolored glass containers went into the first "Glasphalt" paving project in this region.

"That's 80 tons of bottles and jars that might otherwise have added to our mounting solid-waste problems," Widdrington said.

Lucky laid a 10,000-square-foot, 1-½-inch-thick glasphalt surface over a 2-inch base, said Walter Syata, resident manager of the 114-year-old brewery. An adjacent 10,000-square-foot section was paved with standard asphalt at the same time.

In the years ahead, said syata, the two surfaces will be observed for endurance under identical conditions of weather and use.

Syata said the glass used in the project included 35 tons of recycled beer bottles that had been rejected at the plant here, as well as 45 tons of flint and green glass.

Stolen Gator Back At Zoo

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A three-foot alligator spent 30 hours uncaged near the San Diego Zoo before being spotted by a Hawaiian couple.

The visitors saw the reptile Wednesday as it poked its head from some bushes. They asked a zoo official if it was customary for large animals to run free.

The query led to the recovery of the gator stolen Tuesday morning from its pen.

A security officer captured one youth but said another burglar dropped a bag containing the alligator and when he tried to grab the reptile it snapped at him and slithered away.

VICTIM OF ITS OWN TRAILER

An unidentified tow truck operator appears to march triumphantly across an overturned automobile, but in reality is rescuing it from a ditch along northbound Highway 101, three miles north of Novato. The car was whipped into the ditch yesterday morning by its swerving trailer, which overturned on the highway, and three persons in the car were injured. Mildred Rainbolt, 59, of Orange, Orange County, who suffered fractured ribs and a collapsed lung, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital. Marj Grattidge, 69, who suffered multiple scrapes, and John Grattidge, 70, who suffered a cut right arm, both of San Carlos, were treated at the hospital.

Cutback In Welfare Predicted In Marin

Welfare aid to Marin residents will be cut back substantially both in the number of cases and in the amount of aid when the state's welfare reform program of 1971 goes into effect on Oct. 1.

That is the prediction of Donald M. Sanford, assistant director of public social services, who is in the process of recomputing eligibility and amount of aid on the basis of new directives from Sacramento.

In Marin County, almost 8,500 persons, one out of 25, are on welfare and they are scheduled to receive almost $11 million in direct aid during this fiscal year.

Sanford said he cannot say just how much that reduction will be. "We should have a clearer picture in about a week," he said.

The biggest impact of the welfare reform will be on Aid to Families With Dependent Children, said Sanford. "Every household without outside income will get a slight increase, and every household with outside income will get a slight decrease in aid. There will be a number of discontinuances."

Sanford said the overall effect would be a drop in the number of recipients and in the total payments. Significant changes caused by the welfare reform include greater financial responsibility put on stepfathers and reduced deductibility for working mothers.

In the past, a stepfather was not responsible for supporting his stepchildren. Under the new law, a part of the stepfather's earnings are considered outside income for his wife if she applies for welfare aid for her children from a previous marriage. Therefore, less aid will be given to her children than in the past.

The incentive program for working mothers has been modified so that she can deduct a maximum of $50 in work-related expenses, in addition to the cost of child care. In the past, there was no ceiling on the amount she could deduct for work-related expenses. This led to instances where a mother could be earning $10,000 per year or more and still qualify for welfare aid because of deductions allowed.

Another change is that Medi-Cal patients must pay a nominal fee of $1 per visit and 50 cents for each prescription. Also, doctor visits will be limited to 24 per year and prescriptions to two per month, unless the state authorizes more.

Middle and high income Californians will be required to contribute more for the support of aging parents on welfare.

Sanford said the welfare reform law will have little or no effect on the adult categories such as aid to the aged, blind and disabled.

Figures for last month show this breakdown of the number of persons on aid in Marin County:

Aid to the Aged — 1,260 persons; Aid to Blind — 42; Aid to the Disabled — 856; Aid to Families With Dependent Children — 6,211 (including 4,037 children and 2,174 adults); General Relief — 122; Total — 8,491.

Marin's total welfare budget for this year is $14,460,000, of which $11,000,000 is direct aid to recipients, and $3,460,000 is the cost of salaries, services, supplies and overhead. Marin pays about one-fourth of the total welfare cost, and the federal and state governments pick up three-fourths of the cost.

BELGRADE (UPI) — Five crewmen were killed when a Yemen Airlines DC3 crashed in southern Yugoslavia Thursday, the news agency Tanjug said. There were no passengers aboard.

Police Arrest Heroin Suspect

Otis Dell Robinson, 38, of no known address, was arrested last night by San Rafael police on a warrant charging him with selling narcotics.

Robinson was charged with selling three balloons containing 3.3 grams of heroin to an undercover agent in front of Gerstle Park on Aug. 5, sheriff's deputies reported.

San Rafael police sighted Robinson driving east on Third Street at Union Street at 11:30 p.m., halted him at Third and Embarcadero Way and arrested him.

He was booked at Marin County jail where bail was set at $18,750 and he was to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Courses To Explore History Of Blacks

The University of California's Education Extension Division will sponsor two three-credit courses in Afro-American history for teachers. One of the 10-week classes will begin at 4 p.m. Monday at Red Hill School in San Anselmo and the other will start at 7 p.m. Tuesday at San Rafael High School.

According to Dee Schilling, instructor for the courses, the classes will "explore the experience of being black in the U.S." Class topics will include Egypt and the early African states, European exploration and the slave trade, the psychology of the master-slave relationship, slave revolts and the status of free blacks before 1850.

Films will be shown each week and will include: "Negro Kingdom of Africa's Golden Age," "Slavery" and "Heritage of Slavery." The work of black leaders such as Benjamin Banneker, Frederick Douglass, Harriet Tubman, Nat Turner and Gabriel Prosser will be discussed.

Materials for use in elementary and high schools will be presented in the teachers' classes, according to Mrs. Schilling, who said the teachers will be encouraged to form a black, as well as a white perspective on U.S. history.

Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Schilling, 54 Bucklew Avenue, Marin City.

Flood Panel Backs Law On Debris

The directors of the Ross Valley Flood Control District subzone 9A have endorsed pending legislation in Sacramento to give the district authority to enforce the county's creek debris ordinance.

According to Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, the bill as proposed by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, would also permit the district to sponsor recreational activities along its creeks.

The bill, now in the Senate, would designate the district as a maintenance district empowering it to force property owners adjacent to streams to keep them debris-free.

Without such legislation, Murphy said, the flood control district would be forced to start a massive capital improvement project to clean up several troublesome creeks.

As for the recreational aspects of the bill, the district has no immediate plans of starting recreation activities, he said.

About 1.7 million automobile drivers were involved in accidents in April, 1970, says the Insurance Information Institute.

Marin Housing Vacancies A Mite More Plentiful

House-hunters may find rentals a tiny bit more plentiful in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties than they were last year, the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. reported yesterday.

After canvassing the number of its utility meters idle — indicating vacant houses or apartments — the utility firm found there were fewer empty homes in Southern Marin in June, but slightly more than a year ago in Central and Northern Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The Southern Marin area had 128 empty units, compared with 179 for a year ago, or a vacancy rate of 0.7 per cent compared to 1.1 per cent a year ago. The average throughout the PG&E service area was 1.8 per cent in June.

Central Marin had 363 open units in June, or 0.9 per cent vacancies, compared with 331 a year earlier. Northern Marin vacancies were 120 compared to 79 a year earlier. The Southern Sonoma County area had 144 vacancies, compared to 133 a year earlier.

PG&E statisticians said almost all of the increase in vacancies were due to new construction.

Robbery Count Is Dismissed

A felony charge of robbery against Jerry Ray Wade, 21, of San Rafael, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

The dismissal Tuesday was at the request of the district attorney's office which reported the alleged victim of the robbery, as well as a major witness, could not be located.

Wade was arrested Aug. 28 after Charles V. Dunn, 22, of San Anselmo, told police that Wade and another man forced their way into his home and took a $40 stereo.

The other man was never caught.

Innocent Plea To Molesting

Ernest Paul Carry, 47, of no known address, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of child molesting.

Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 28.

Petaluma Faces A Student Influx

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, heard last night that schools are already operating at full capacity and that an additional 200 students can be expected by Dec. 1.

Norman Ross, principal of La Tercera School, filled in for ailing schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan and told the board that a housing survey showed the 376 new homes will be ready for occupancy by Dec. 1.

He said the figure would probably run higher since Boise Cascade did not provide the district with an estimate on the number of houses it will complete in the Rancho Verde subdivision. Ross said the district must find room for at least 200 more children.

He recommended the district purchase three additional portable classrooms to accommodate the extra students, but advised the board to wait until Magowan returns and can give it more information.

Ross said a total of 1,841 students are currently enrolled in the district with the fifth grades at La Tercera especially crowded. The board approved the employment of Donald Clauder at a salary of $9,273 so that another fifth grade class can be formed.

He said the class would begin Monday and be held in the school library. Ross said library books would be distributed to various classes and the library closed.

He said teachers who used the area as a work room would now be required to use a storage room. Board meetings normally held in the library will be shifted to a classroom in the future, he said.

The district board also:

Heard that teachers' salaries must revert back to the 1970-71 school year scale until the national freeze on wage increases is lifted; approved the hiring of Marylou Brooks as a teacher at a salary of $9,206, and directed staff members to update the district civil defense and disaster preparedness plan.

House Moving Bid Accepted

The General Services Administration announced yesterday that it has accepted the one and only bid of $51.03 for four houses to be removed from Point Reyes National Seashore.

While the bid by B. Sellick of San Francisco seems low for the four houses, ranging in size from 825 square feet to 1,812 square feet, Edward Saylor, chief of the real property division, said "We are fortunate to have a positive bid."

Saylor explained that Sellick will have to pay to have the houses removed and if there were no bids, the cost of removal might have been as high as $5,000 to the government.

To Probe Crash

BUDAPEST (UPI) — An investigation team headed by the director of the Hungarian state airline traveled to the Soviet Union today to investigate the line's second crash in three weeks.

Return Of Firm's Bond Is Denied

The Cotati City Council last night denied the return of a performance bond to Storer Cable TV Inc., saying service has not been completely satisfactory.

District Mgr. Jack Harper had requested the cancellation of the $25,000 performance bond submitted in July 1968 when the firm became the franchise agent for the city.

City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen said his office has received complaints from residents about service and said the company has been slow to provide service to new customers until prodded by his office.

The Citati City Council also:

PLANNING — Delayed appointing a replacement for Patrick Geis on the planning commission until the commission can make a recommendation to the council.

POLICY — Asked that the city attorney's office prepare a formal policy making it clear to developers that they are responsible for engineering work on public improvements required of them.

MEETING— Adjourned to Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. to hear a report on water needs and to hold a closed session on personnel requested by councilman Lester Petersen.

Youth Injured As Cycle Flips

A 17-year-old San Rafael youth received cuts and bruises Wednesday when he was thrown from his motorcycle as it hit a speed bump on High Street, police reported yesterday.

Robert Joseph Helstrom of 14 Watt Ave. told police he was accelerating his cycle as he traveled north on High when he hit the bump and lost control of the vehicle.

Volunteer Park For Sausalito Is Backed

A plan by a Sausalito citizens' group to develop a community park on city-owned waterfront property between Napa and Litho streets won unanimous endorsement last night from the Sausalito Recreation Commission.

The proposal, submitted by Barry C. Hibben of Sausalito, representing Community Park Volunteers, would develop the park at no cost to the city through volunteer labor and donated materials, city engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger reported.

The 12-acres of waterfront land, including four acres of dry land and eight acres of water, was purchased by the city through a $560,000 bond issue approved by voters last November. Because the city has no money to develop the land at this time, Wohschlaeger said the volunteer group formed to prevent the property from sitting idle for months.

He said the park would be a "simple but pleasant" facility with open lawn, landscaping and a children's play area. No structure would be built and there would be no paving, the city engineer said.

The development plan submitted to the commission by Hibben was prepared by seven Sausalito architects and planners: Donald K. Olsen, Roland Mays, John O'Brien, Wayne Wedell, Ray Belknap, Eric Borgwardt and Wohschlaeger.

It proposes that overall supervision of the park construction and future maintenance be handled by the city park and recreation department and the city engineer.

The plan, along with the Recreation Commission's approval, will be presented to the Sausalito City Council Tuesday, the city engineer said.

Woman Fined For Having Pot

Western Marin Judicial Court Justice David R. Baty, sitting in Municipal Court Tuesday, also placed her on probation for one year.

She was arrested Aug. 15 when a prison guard found two marijuana cigarettes in her purse when she arrived at the prison to visit her brother, an inmate.

Man Arraigned In Car Theft

A Novato man was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of car theft after being arrested earlier in the day in Larkspur.

Frederick Neville Henderson, 39, of 2075 Hatch Road, Novato, was to appear in court today to enter a plea. He was held in jail in lieu of $1,250 bail.

Larkspur police said that they were called by employees of a business at 2060 Redwood Highway after Henderson left a 1971 Plymouth in front of the business. Police found Henderson walking north on Highway 101.

The car had been reported stolen several days ago by Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Thousands Join In Mexican Festivities

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Some 50,000 persons turned out at East Los Angeles Thursday to celebrate the 161st anniversary of the uprising by Father Miguel Hidalgo y Costillo which ultimately led to the Independence of Mexico.

Although full independence was not achieved until 1821, Father Hidalgo's 1810 revolution is considered the beginning of Mexican independence from Spain and the date of that uprising is celebrated as Mexican Independence Day.

Chromosome Breakthrough

HOUSTON (UPI)—Doctors at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute report they have perfected techniques for recognition of all 46 of the human chromosomes.

The chromosomes, submicroscopic rods within the nucleus of reproductive cells that carry the code of hereditary traits from parents to their offspring, first were counted in 1956. But doctors could not identify the individual rods.

The breakthrough by the M. D. Anderson research team, described in an article published by Washington's National Academy of Sciences, could smooth efforts to determine why birth defects occur. It could also provide early detection of hereditary problems, the article siad.

Judge Won't Prevent Indictments

By C. P. McCARTHY

Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson yesterday refused to prohibit Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales from seeking grand jury indictments in connection with the violent escape attempt at San Quentin Prison Aug. 21.

The prohibition had been sought in behalf of two San Quentin inmates and East Bay attorney Stephen M. Bingham. Bingham is already charged by Bales in Municipal Court with five counts of murder in connection with the prison violence.

Bales indicated previously he will seek indictments in connection with the case but has not indicated how soon he will act.

Attorneys for Bingham and the two inmates — Hugo A. Pinnel and John Larry Spain — argued that publicity stemming from the bloody escape attempt, in which six persons died, had prejudiced the grand jury against their clients.

Spain fled the adjustment center with Jackson, but dove into bushes when guards opened fire and was uninjured. A guard whose throat was slashed reportedly gasped, "Yogi did it," as he stumbled out of the adjustment center. Sources at the prison said "Yogi" was a nickname for Pinnel.

The action in behalf of Bingham had been sought by his father, Alfred M. Bingham, a Connecticut lawyer and former state senator. Bingham has been sought by authorities since the day of the escape attempt.

He is accused of smuggling in a gun to inmate George Jackson, touching off the escape attempt from the prison's adjustment center. Jackson, two other inmates and three prison guards were killed.

In a three-hour hearing yesterday, attorneys Carl Shapiro of San Anselmo, representing Pinnel and Spain, and David Nawi of Oakland, for Bingham, presented newspaper clippings and testimony by Bay Area radio and television personnel to indicate heavy coverage of the escape attempt and subsequent events — in particular statements by Bales at a press conference he held the day he filed the complaint against Bingham.

Bales said then that "There was no other way George Jackson could have obtained the death gun except through his visit with Attorney Stephen Bingham."

Wilson said there was no evidence to justify his interfering in the case.

He said he assumed the grand jury would act in a fair and impartial manner and that the district attorney would present it with legally sufficient evidence if indictments are to be returned.

If prosecution of the case — including any grand jury proceedings — are not carried out properly, Wilson said, the matter could then be called to the attention of the court and the court would still be free to act.

The judge also denied the attorney's request for a stay, pending their appeal of his decision.

Shapiro and Nawi said they would take their case to the state District Court of Appeal in San Francisco today.

Replica Of Famous Ship To Be Built

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — English shipwrights will lay the keel Sept. 30 for an exact replica of Sir Francis Drake's famous ship, Golden Hinde, a group of San Francisco and Marin businessmen announced yesterday.

After a three-year construction period and a maiden voyage to London, the Golden Hinde II will be sailed to a permanent berth in San Francisco Bay, which explorer Drake visited nearly four centuries ago.

The keel-laying will include appropriate ceremonies with British and United States officials, according to Albert D. Elledge, president of Golden Hinde Ltd., future owners of the new vessel. Elledge is also president of Harbor Carriers, Bay tourist vessel fleet.

Vice president of the new firm is Art Blum of Kentfield. San Rafael marine architect L. Christian Norgaard drew the plans for the three-masted, 102-foot-long sailing ship from old records, paintings and other historic data.

The J. Hinks and Sons shipyard of Devonshire, which built a replica of the historic Nonsuch for the Hudson's Bay Co., will build the Golden Hinde, principally of British oak and other woods.

Thermal Pollution Plan Is Branded 'Ineffective'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A geologist for the Southern California Edison Co. said Thursday that proposed revisions in thermal standards for coastal waters are arbitrary and ineffective.

J. L. McNey told the state Water Resources Control Board that the costs involved in complying with the proposed standards would outweigh the potential benefits.

The proposal before the board would limit temperature increases in coastal waters due to industrial water discharge to not more than four degrees within 1,000 feet of shore for more than 50 per cent of the time.

"The requirement will be difficult to monitor and to demonstrate compliance," McNey said.

Edison plants to build two new nuclear power plants near the existing facility at San Onofre and they would be affected by the proposed new rules.

McNey said the new requirement would add $20 million to the $25 million cost of a cooling tower planned for one of the sites. He said the increased cost eventually would be reflected in rates.

Harriman, 79, Will Wed Englishwoman

WASHINGTON (UPI) —AN acquaintanceship originating in London during part of Britain's blackest wartime days will culminate in the marriage, probably next month, of former diplomat and presidential aspirant W. Averell Harriman and Pamela Digby Churchill Hayward.

Harriman, who will be 80 on Nov. 15, and Mrs. Hayward, 51, first met when Harriman was sent to London in 1941 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to help expedite American aid to help Winston Churchill's beleaguered forces fend off the Nazis. Mrs. Hayward was then married to Churchill's son, Randolph.

Harriman's wife died a year ago. They had been married 40 years.

Mrs. Hayward, daughter of Sir Edward Digby, divorced Churchill in 1946. In 1960, she married Leland Hayward, a New York theatrical producer. Hayward died last spring. Mrs. Hayward continued to live in Westchester County, near New York.

The Washington Post said Harriman and Mrs. Hayward met for the first time in many years last spring at a Washington dinner party.

Harriman said the wedding would take place "before the end of the year—probably next month." He did not say where it would be held.

Kennedy's Son's Probation Ends

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (UPI) —Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and his cousin, R. Sargent Shriver III, have been released from 13 months probation.

Judge Michael J. Donahue in Juvenile Court accepted the report of a court officer Thursday that probation for the pair and several others be terminated. The judge made no findings as to guilt or innocence in dismissing the cases.

Kennedy and Shriver, both 17, were arrested a year ago last month in Hyannis when they were 16. They were charged with being delinquents by reason of possessing marijuana and pleaded "not true."

Vandenberg Fires 2 Target Missiles

VANDENBERG AFB (UPI)— The Navy launched two modified Bomarc missiles from this Air Force base Thursday night to give its first fleet some surface to air missile firing training.

An Air Force spokesman said the missiles were sent down the Air Force Western Test Range at 7:50 p. m. and 8.45 p. m. and then were diverted into the sea test area of the Navy's Pacific Missile Range.

EARLY WINTER IN WYOMING

The first snowstorm of the fall hit Wyoming yesterday and dropped a blanket on much of the state. A statue in front of the state capitol in Cheyenne reflects the pattern of the snowfall, which was driven into drifts by moderate winds. The snow came on the heels of a hot spell which had driven temperatures in the mountain states into the 90s.

Panel Backs Integration Guidelines

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee today approved legislation establishing guidelines for schools to follow in writing racial integration plans.

The measure, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was sent to the full Senate without opposition witnesses. Sen. John Holmdahl, D-Oakland, cast the sole audible dissenting vote.

"Without these guidelines, school districts are completely devoid of direction," Bagley told the committee.

The guidelines are similar to regulations adopted by the state Board of Education about two years ago. The regulations were later repealed after a Los Angeles judge used them as the basis for a decision which required busing to integrate schools.

The board's repealer was later reversed by a court and the guidelines put back into effect. Bagley's bill puts the guidelines into law.

One major difference between the lawmaker's proposal and the board's regulations is in the amount of deviation recommended for racial composition.

The board allowed only 15 per cent racial or ethnic deviation, while Bagley's bill says schools must not have "substantial" differences.

Materials Stolen

Building materials valued at $6,248 were stolen yesterday from the construction site of Casa Grande Manor subdivision, Petaluma, police reported. Material included lumber, metal gutters and exterior siding.

Petaluma Studying Year-Round Schools

Year-round schooling may be the answer to slowing spiraling school costs and crowding problems, the Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association has heard.

Dean D. Magowan, superintendent of the Old Adobe School District in East Petaluma, told the group Wednesday night that he and administrators from both the Petaluma and Cotati school districts are working on a plan to place all Southern Sonoma schools on a 12-month basis.

Magowan said all three districts must cooperate on the study since parents may have students in two different school districts and would be inconvenienced if they were on different schedules.

He said the program would move slowly with one of the four district schools converted to the year-round plan that would stagger vacation schedules and could put students in class for 45 days followed by 15 days of vacation.

Magowan said many problems must be considered before the plan could be put into operation. He said the effect on the team teaching approach must be weighed as well as how the schedule would affect the learning process for children.

He said the plan would permit the district to stagger the flow of students and get better use of schools, perhaps delaying the need for more buildings.

The Petaluma Board of Education has scheduled a program on year-round schooling for its Sept. 28 meeting.

Man To Answer Pot Charges

Paul Edward LeClair, 20, of San Anselmo, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of selling marijuana and hashish.

Two other San Anselmo residents, arrested after agents followed LeClair to their house following the alleged drug sale, are charged with possessing marijuana and hashish and possessing marijuana for sale.

James Franklin Reel, 22, and Martha Ann Martini, 28, are to plead to those charges tomorrow.

Fund Report Slipup By Clausen, Brown

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Both Congressman Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and California Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. apparently slipped up in following the rules that require candidates to report their election expenses.

Tom Quinn, spokesman for Brown, said yesterday that his office never received the personal campaign expenses statement that Clausen was to have filed after the April 1970 primary elections. Brown's office did receive a primary expense statement from Clausen's campaign committee, and both committee and personal statements for the November general election, Quinn reported.

However, Quinn admitted, Clausen improperly was issued a certificate of nomination to put his name on the general ballot as Republican nominee. "It was erroneously done by this office," Quinn said.

Clausen's field representative, Gordon Tippet, said in Santa Rosa yesterday that Brown's move to force a total of 134 candidates to file campaign expenses or face prosecution by district attorneys, had caught his office by surprise.

"I just talked with the Congressman's office in Washington," Tippet related. "They had no idea Brown's office never received the statement. And none of us, either here or in Washington, ever heard from Brown's office that anything was missing."

Quinn said that despite the error by Brown's staff, Clausen still must go through the formalities of obtaining a court order permitting him to file the report late — and do it before Oct. 15. The technicality cannot knock Clausen out of office, Quinn said.

Brown, the son of former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, told the press yesterday he would not only seek prosecution of candidates who don't comply, but would bar them from ever running for office in California.

Clausen was the only elected candidate on the list.

The 133 losers ranged from former Sen. George Murphy through Raymond H. Shone of Nicasio, state senate hopeful, and Raymond E. Paschke of Santa Rosa, who sought Republican nomination for a state Board of Equalization seat.

Shone could not be reached for comment on Brown's order.

Nixon Rules Out Viet Vote Entry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said Thursday it may take several generations before South Vietnam becomes a genuine Democracy, but he ruled out U.S. pressure to force a contested presidential election there.

Nixon told an impromptu news conference in his oval office he rejects suggestions that the United States should cut off military and economic aid to South Vietnam if President Nguyen Van Thieu goes ahead with plans to run unopposed for reelection Oct. 3.

Nixon said if Thieu is overthrown, it would be followed by "coup after coup on the dreary road to a Communist takeover." He said the United States became bogged down in Southeast Asia because Americans were involved in the overthrow of assassinated President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963.

"The way we got into Vietnam was through overthrowing Diem and the complicity in the murder of Diem and the way to get out of Vietnam in my opinion is not to overthrow Thieu," Nixon said.

He was asked if Thieu's one-man election meets U.S. hopes for a democratic South Vietnam.

"No," he replied. "As a matter of fact, that objective will not be met for perhaps several generations."

On other subjects in his wide-ranging 35-minute session with newsmen, Nixon:

—Said the economic stabilization measures to follow the current wage-price freeze will concentrate on "major" industries and will be backed up by enforcement programs with teeth in them.

—Chided Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination, for saying a black person could not be elected vice president next year.

—Said no date has been set for his trip to Peking but that negotiations with the Chinese on arrangements for the visit are "on schedule."

—Indicated he was willing to compromise with Congress on the details of his new economic package but vowed to fight hard to win passage of the basic measures.

—Hinted the United States may retain its 100 per cent extra tax on imports for some time and pressure other nations to accept a realignment of currency valuations.

Concerning his own visit to China, Nixon said he expected to engage in some frank talk with Chinese leaders about the many differences between the two nations.

"I think one of the reasons that these talks may be productive is that Premier Chou En-lai, both publicly and privately, doesn't take the usual naive sentimental idea, and neither do I, of, 'well, if we just get to know each other all of our differences are going to evaporate,'" Nixon said.

The President promised a strong and effective policy to deal with the economy after the wage-price-rent freeze expires Nov. 13.

"It will have teeth in it," he added. "You cannot have jawboning that is effective without teeth."

The President has said previously he would announce post freeze policy about mid-October.

In the most plainly political question of the news conference, Nixon was asked to assess Muskie's remark to a group of Negro politicians in Los Angeles that he would not want a black running mate because under present conditions such a ticket could not win.

Without using Muskie's name or implying he would welcome a black on his own ticket next year, Nixon said it was a "libel on the American people" to say they would vote against a candidate solely on the basis of race.

"I think it is very important for those of us in position of leadership not to tell a large number of people in America, whoever they are, that because of the accident of their birth they don't have a chance to go to the top," he said.

Pair Caught By Larkspur Police Chief

Two San Francisco men were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of burglary after their escape from sheriff's deputies was interrupted by the Larkspur Chief of Police.

Roy Chester Johnson, 27, and Anthony Paul Bell, 18, were held in lieu of $3,125 each to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Deputies said they were arrested on Doherty Drive in Larkspur by Police Chief Howard Clark after a bulletin was issued for them when they were seen driving out of Kent Woodlands with a television in the front seat of their car.

The television, as well as other property found in their car, had been stolen in a burglary of the residence of Herman A. Vanderkamp of 72 Ridgecrest Road.

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The season's monsoon floods and a cholera outbreak in Moghyr district in Bihar state about 200 miles northwest of Calcutta have claimed 54 lives.

Daley's Wife Dislikes A Book, So It's Taken Off The Shelves

Royko's story of the banning of "Boss" was told in his Chicago Daily News column, and it was confirmed by the manager of the South Side National Tea supermart where Mrs. Daley often shops.

"Holy smokes," said store manager Thomas Tamburo. "I told the story to somebody over the phone yesterday who said he was from the mayor's office. He didn't say anything about being on a newspaper."

Tamburo said he told the caller that Mrs. Daley, shopping in his store for the first time in two or three weeks, saw a prominent display of "Boss — Richard J. Daley of Chicago" on the magazine and book rack.

He said Mrs. Daley marched up to the rack and turned the cardboard sign face down, and then turned each paperback around to hide the title.

"She was pretty mad," Tamburo was quoted as saying. "She said she wanted the books taken out of the store and that she wasn't going to shop in the store anymore if they weren't removed."

Tamburo said he called National Tea Co. headquarters downtown and "told them what happened and how Mrs. Daley felt about the books."

Tamburo said he had the books off the racks within 10 minutes. He said that was on Monday. On Tuesday a directive from National's executive offices was sent to the more than 200 outlets in the Chicago area to remove the books and return them to the distributor.

The account of the banning of "Boss" differed from versions by the National executives, who said "no pressure of any kind" was brought for removal of the books.

Not a single copy of the book by Mike Royko was reported available at any of the nation's second largest city's three airports.

A spokesman for National Tea said Thursday many customers had complained that "Boss" was not a good book for Chicago's image. The spokesman did not say how many complaints were received.

No officials were available to comment on why visitors to Chicago's O'Hare International, Midway and Meigs airports aren't able to buy the book on concession stands.

Herb Fried, president of the Levy Company, said the book is selling "briskly" in the Chicago area.

Enrollment In Shoreline District Up

Opening-day enrollment at Shoreline Unified School District was 936, up 34 from opening day last year, Supt. Charles E. McCully reported last night to the district board.

McCully said the enrollment at Tomales High School was 270, up 15, and at West Marin School it was 354, up 21.

At Bodega Bay School and Tomales Elementary School enrollment was virtually the same as last year, he said.

Trustees approved an agreement to obtain a small strip of land needed for improvements to the road to Tomales High School, McCully reported.

The land, 295 square feet, owned by Kirkland, Martinelli and Greppi, will become district property on the condition that the district construct a fence and gate along the entrance to the private lands and give the owners an easement.

Autopsy Performed On Poison Victim

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — A preliminary autopsy report on an 18-year-old botulism victim showed that Juan Vega died of cerebral edema, or too much fluid on the brain, and showed "a touch of pneumonia," a conplication that often results from the food poisoning disease.

Hot, Smoggy Spell May Prove Blessing

The last few days have given California residents considerably greater awareness of how much pollution is in the air.

The first "smog alert" ever proclaimed by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District served to emphasize what just about everyone knew by then: that the hot air we had been breathing was not good air.

Plane travelers reported that all the way from San Diego and Los Angeles, the atmosphere below their high-flying craft looked like a sort of sickly green soup, with occasional clouds floating on it like dumplings.

FOR SUCH A VISIBLE smog layer to extend over hundreds of miles of the coast is very unusual. But it is not unusual to see just such a layer over some localities — Los Angeles, for instance, and increasingly in recent years, the S[illegible]ta Clara Valley.

Actually, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau, heavy air pollution is frequent at many California points for the simple reason that an atmospheric inversion — meaning the temperature is higher and the air stiller some distance above the ground than at the valley bottoms — is a frequent occurrence.

What brought on the first Bay Area "smog alert" was a situation in which lack of the usual west winds left the lower air undisturbed until the layer of hot air created by the inversion extended clear down to sea level — and kept getting hotter and hotter.

And with no breeze to blow them away near ground level, or drive them upward, the trapped pollutants soon reached a concentration that was all too apparent.

IF THE BAY AREA Air Pollution Control District took its smog readings at 3,000 feet elevation, instead of near ground level in the valleys, readings as high as those of this week might not be unusual.

Put simply: The pollution is there much of the time, but far enough above our heads so we don't notice it.

This experience should be enough to make all of us realize the seriousness of air pollution, especially in an area such as ours where atmospheric inversion is common.

It should be enough to make us start refiguring a lot of things, such as the value of pollution-creating industries vs. healthy atmosphere, of pollution-causing automobiles vs. other means of transportation, of basing our measures of smog on the usually breeze-blown lower layer of air instead of on that which sits above it.

If they start us thinking and acting with new awareness of the relative importance of clean air, the heat and suffering of the past few days may prove a blessing in disguise.

AFFARIS OF STATE

Do Freeways Inhibit Proper Mass Transit Planning?

By FRED W. KLINE

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In one way or another, California's freeways have always been controversial.

And while we might have a great deal more trouble getting from Point A to Point B by surface transportation, particularly during rush hours, without the growing freeway network, they still haven't solved our ever-increasing transportation problem.

Perhaps with good reason, many citizens are suspicious of state officials who, their critics say, seem intent on paving over the entire state. Some country freeways seem particularly useless, at least until they end.

It is, certainly, difficult to condone a proposed freeway which will inconvenience great numbers of people — even if it will also save even greater numbers of other people from other inconvenience.

THE PROPOSED Beverly Hills Freeway, or Route 2, may very well serve as an example.

"We are in a very difficult situation," he states. "Currently, more than 300,000 cars a day travel through Beverly Hills and the other communities along the proposed freeway route... and this will double to 700,000 within 10 years... The freeway is the only way to break up the congestion."

General Manager Gardiner Blackman of the Wilshire Center Chamber agrees with Friel. "The center of our city will decay," he believes, "if we cannot move traffic in and out."

IT SEEMS INEVITABLE, therefore, that these chambers would come into conflict with State Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Los Angeles, who introduced SB 844. This measure would in effect cancel the Beverly Hills Freeway.

The senator makes a good case in defense of his anti-freeway stance. The proposed Beverly Hills route, he says, will not be operational for at least another decade, will fill to capacity within five years of its completion, and will create more congestion at its junctions with the already full San Diego and Holywood freeways.

But the main thrust of the Beverly Hills resident senator's argument is not against the proposed Beverly Hills Freeway alone.

He is convinced, he says, that this freeway "cannot possibly contribute to the solution of the area's transportation problems.

"What is needed instead," he asserts, "is a fresh look at balanced multi-model urban transportation. I have concluded that we are not going to persuade anyone — be he public official, traffic engineer or voter — of the necessity for taking that fresh look until the plans... have been scrapped."

CALIFORNIA, SAYS Beilenson, has learned a lot about mass transit in the past three decades, not to mention what has been learned about air pollution produced by internal combustion engines, so that "there can be no excuse for failing to rethink urban transportation priorities."

The trouble is, he continues, that all the many civic and governmental groups now studying the subject are taking the state's freeway program for granted, resulting in "not comprehensive planning but patchwork.

"A clean slate is needed for fresh planning... urban freeways must be stopped or nothing else is going to start."

The Beverly Hills Freeway would cost taxpayers $300 million, and for that money, Senator Beilenson believes, "we could start a great deal" in planning new approaches to the state's transportation problems.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

True education makes for inequality: the inequality of individuality, the inequality of success; the glorious inequality of talent, of genius; for inequality, not mediocrity, individual superiority, not standardization, is the measure of the progress of the world. — Felix E. Schelling.

If freedom had been the happy, simple, relaxed state of ordinary humanity, man would have everywhere been free — whereas most of time and space he has been in chains. Do not let us make any mistake about this. The natural government of man is servitude. Tyranny is the normal pattern of government. — Adlai E. Stevenson.

Enforce Road Signs Or Remove Them

This is an open letter to the California Highway Patrol. I have always been under the impression that road signs should be obeyed by all motorists — and such signs be enforced by the relevant authority, in this case the C.H.P.

I am referring to the section of the Blackpoint cutoff, where headlights are required for a 9-mile section. I have no quarrel with the signs —the headlamps make it much easier to spot oncoming traffic — my quarrel is with 15 to 20 per cent of motorists who do not switch on their lights as instructed.

Let's face it, either the CHP enforce this regulation for all motorists, or let them take down the signs — after all, what good is it for a sizable majority to ignore them and pose a hazard to the remainder.

Chemical Compounds Vs. Organic Gardening

In reply to that "somewhat ancient square" Seth O. Benson ("How Escape Science in School System?" Sept. 9), I would rather resort to the organic gardener's way of life rather than his so I wouldn't end up 10 million years from now a perfectly preserved "dummy." If his "reality," "established knowledge," "Scientific method" and "truth" in food is, to say the least, BHA, BHT, sodium sulfite, sodium caseinate, sodium acid pyrophosphate, monosodium glutamate, gumaric acid, lecithin, pyridoxine hydrochloride, caffeine, phosphoric acid, folic acid, syanocobalamine, potassium sorbate, calcium disodium EDTA, etc., etc,. DDT and endless number of insecticides and chemical fertilizers, etc., etc., I guess I'll be a "common, rigidly styled, non-imaginative, and "ignorant," "bad," "knot-head" type and continue on my "impractical" search for organic foods.

Motorcycle Roundup Distresses Viewer

On the morning of Sunday, Sept. 5, I was out for an early ride with my family. I was passing through the town of Stinson Beach when a large group of 60 or 70 motorcycles passed me. Continuing up the road a few miles I found the entire group had been stoped in a highway patrol trap which I was waved past by a patrolman. When I asked what was going on (and observed for myself), I discovered all the cyclists were indiscriminately being charged with racing.

Now I realize the highway patrol has a job to do, and they do an excellent job. But to charge an entire group of 60 or 70 motorcyclists that are spread out over about two miles of highway with racing, seems to me to be a gross misinterpetation of one's duties, and totally unjust to the majority of the group who were obeying the law.

I discovered later it was an article in the San Francisco Examiner, Sunday edition, about a Sunday morning ride, that brought all these riders out. Why must a few ruin it for all?

Scene Was Gloucester Instead Of Tiburon

The write-up mentions that the painting is one of the scenes done in Tiburon.

I bought this painting in St. Helena (Napa Valley) from Mr. William Couper, and he told me that the scene was done in Gloucester, Mass. He has never done any painting in Tiburon.

Parking Fee Means Of Discouraging Cars

In your Sept. 13 I-J column, "What Our Readers Say," one Jean S. Barnard asks is there support among Mill Valley residents and homeowners for charging a small monthly fee for use of city streets in residential areas for permanent parking.

In answer, there is no support from this resident and homeowner. Such a fee in no foreseeable amount will pay for widening the streets to correct the parking problem; but such a fee will further antagonize already over-taxed car and property owners, also raise doubt as to the wisdom of local city representation.

If Jean S. Barnard (and I believe she is a city counciiwoman although her job title is not shown in her letter) wants to go on record and establish a city policy discouraging the existence of cars in Mill Valley let that be so stated rather than conceal the same intent behind a "small monthly fee" aimed to accomplish the same thing.

Any elimination of cars should be voted on as such, according to inherent merits or demerits undisguised.

Grand Jury Called For Prison Removal

Today's (Sept. 13) editorial in suggesting that San Quentin be abolished has brought back memories and a feeling of vindication. While I was chairman of the law enforcement committee of the 1964 grand jury we recommended that San Quentin be removed and the site be used for choice residential living. One of our arguments was that any prison of that size and that age is quite impractical.

We held the hearing in the first wing of the Civic Center. While we did not have the public or any solid group behind us for the removal of the "Bastille by the Bay" we did create quite a stir because the Independent-Journal and the San Francisco papers carried the stories on page one. And the head of the Department of Corrections arrived from Sacramento with four or five assistants and "volumes of evidence."

You are correct, what the state needs are more maximum security prisons with inmate population of not more than 500 and at locations not too easily accessible to demonstrators. The physical plant at San Quentin is not conducive to minimum security population.

I have often thought if we had been backed up in 1964 and a "ground swell" by subsequent grand juries to remove San Quentin, the tragedy at the Civic Center could not have happened.

Democratic Governors Find Their Ticket: Muskie-Jackson

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — The majority of the Democratic governors are convinced that the best way to defeat President Nixon is to nominate:

For President — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

For Vice President — Sen. Henry M. Jackson.

This is the ticket most of them want.

It is evident from my conversations that before 1972 is very far advanced, they will be working openly to bring it about.

They believe they will be in a position to exert substantial, perhaps decisive, influence at the '72 Miami convention.

GOV. WARREN E. HEARNES of Missouri, who was the most visible pro-Muskie advocate here at the governors' conference, is urging his Democratic colleagues to begin soon to mobilize their delegate strength in their own states. Purpose — to bring the consensus view of the governors to bear on the nomination.

That consensus began to take shape here at San Juan. It was clear before the conference ended at midweek that there was dominant support among the Democratic governors for a Muskie-Jackson ticket.

Some who said they would welcome a Muskie-Jackson ticket said they would personally prefer Jackson on top, but there was no doubt that a Muskie-Jackson ticket was preferred by most.

THERE IS FURTHER evidence which supports this finding.

Governor Hearnes said that only one out of the 46 governors attending objected to his initiative as conference chairman in inviting only Muskie among the numerous Democratic presidential hopefuls to address the governors.

The only other presidential prospects to get even incidental support among the Democratic governors were Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas.

Sen. Edward Kennedy was not even mentioned as a preferred candidate by any of the Democratic governors. All of this put Muskie-Jackson well in the lead.

AND WHY ARE the Democratic governors so strong for a Muskie-Jackson ticket — or, as an alternative, a Jackson-Muskie? The main reasons are these:

They feel that such a ticket comes nearer to reflecting what they think Democratic Party policy ought to be than any other combination.

They feel that a Muskie-Jackson ticket stands nearly at the political center of the party and that only a ticket which occupies this position has any good chance of winning.

The Democratic governors are themselves mostly middle-roaders and they shun extremists on the national ticket. As to the wisdom of doing this, some of them pointed to a Gallup Poll which found that only one Democrat in 14 classifies himself as "very liberal" and only one Republican in nine classifies himself as "very conservative."

This is why the Democratic governors turn away from such candidates as Senators George McGovern, Edward Kennedy, Fred Harris, Birch Bayh and Mayor John Lindsay.

WILL THE DEMOCRATIC governors prevail at the '72 convention? They're not the political power they used to be and there is not one of them politically strong enough to be a national candidate in his own right.

But the Democratic governors are numerically strong. They took a net of 10 governorships from the Republicans last year, including such key presidential states as Ohio, Pennsylvania, Florida, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The balance — 29 to 21 — now leans heavily to the Democratic side.

Collectively the Democratic governors can be politically powerful at the Miami convention and the evidence here is that Muskie and Jackson will be the beneficiaries.

Memories Of Khrushchev, The Great Unpredictable

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Khrushchev's passing snatches away one of the last of those memorable international characters who are gradually being replaced by computers. The wartime giants, Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin, Gandhi, are long gone. Chiang and Mao, although they apparently will live forever, are no longer functioning publicly. And while Khrushchev was a mere political general during their conflict and never approached the world stage until the cold war was near its peak, he ranks in stature with those towering figures, rather than beside the lesser leaders who were his post-World War II contemporaries in power. On the modern scale of political greatness, he was a great man.

Despite the fact that he was a clown, a bully, a boor, a collaborator in murder many times over and a gambler with the lives of millions, he was an inspirational leader of his people, and even a world statesman.

A DECADE AGO, covering the Soviet Union for a foreign newspaper became as much a fixation on one man as the much narrower assignment of covering the White House does in Washington. Never did "the cult of one man's personality," which Khrushchev decried when he did his verbal post-mortem on Stalin, so dominate the thinking of any group of newspapermen.

We were watching Khrushchev riding high, and he personified both party and government. He made and announced decisions off the top of his white-fringed head.

Sometimes vital foreign policy judgments were rendered ad lib to a passel of peasants in a Bulgarian pasture, who could only wonder what the man was talking about. Other times they came before heads of party and state, diplomats and cameras summoned to hear him speak beneath Lenin's profile in the great Kremlin Palace of Congresses.

AGAIN THE WORLD would be shaken by our reporting an angry line he dropped into a speech on soybean culture before some remote collective in Kazakhstan, which only became news when the Tass ticker passed it along at 4 a.m. Moscow time. He might slosh a headline over a glass of Tsinandali wine at an embassy reception where he had shown up by surprise. You could never take your eyes off him.

Not even when he was bouncing across the Bulgarian countryside in a sea-green Cadillac convertible, lecturing the natives on fertilizer and allied affairs;

Nor the day he exhorted the miners who sat in rows all the way up a steep hillside at Lupenyi, Romania, to take his word that better living conditions could only follow higher productivity;

Nor when he jabbed a pencil at Averell Harriman before they were seated in the Kremlin for preliminary talks on the nuclear test ban treaty, saying, "Let's go ahead and sign and get it over with";

Nor the afternoon he wore a silly miner's hat and swung a pick, clowning for workers in Slovenia while Tito stood by smirking behind his sunglasses, knowing who held the political aces at that moment;

Nor when sand splashed skyward with a boom and he embraced Nasser as they watched the diversion of the Nile from its historic course at Aswan.

YOU COULD NEVER leave him unattended because, if you omit bush leaguers like Castro and Lumumba, he was the most volatile wielder of political and military power in the world, and the power he presided over was immense and increasing.

Eventually, of course, it was that volatility that brought him down. All the time he was first secretary of the party and chairman of the council of ministers of the government, he nevertheless was theoretically accountable to his comrades. It just took a long time for that accountability to catch up with him.

The massively expensive attempt to cultivate the "virgin lands," the on-and-off relaxation of controls on artists and intellectuals, the false threats against West Berlin, the crackup with China were bad enough for the inflexible men around him. Then came the Cuban missile crisis, and his backdown before Kennedy's stubbornness. It was the beginning of the end for him.

There were no outward signs, just rumors. The Russian press played up the Cuban showdown as a victory for socialism. Only weeks later did Khrushchev slip into a routine Kremlin speech one reference to how very, very close to war we had come. It seems now that there was a subdued undertone to his public ebullience in those months — that he sensed what was coming, although we watching him could not yet believe it.

So Cuba was the miscalculation that finally sent him into ignominy. Yet it is well to remember that if he had not eventually conceded to end it just as he did, we might all be dead now.

Election Fever In Sausalito Appears Well Ahead Of Time

Three Sausalito City Council seats will be up for grabs next April and the election bandwagon is already rolling, despite the fact the balloting is still seven months away. Sausalito residents do take their local politics rather seriously and always have.

The other day I asked one man which candidate he was going to back in next year's election and expected an answer like Muskie or Lindsay. "Oh, I've already decided I'll support Wyman Hicks," he said cheerfully.

Robert D. Bauerle, president of the Sausalito Businessmen's Association and a downtown businessman, is the first person to announce he will run. Bauerle, who narrowly missed being elected to the council last year, has been a vocal foe of many recent city council policy decisions, particularly the park plaza plan. Another pretty certain candidate is Sally Stanford, who for the first time will run under that well known name which she legally adopted recently. Miss Stanford, whose former legal name was Marsha Owen, thinks she will pick up 30 or 40 votes with the Stanford name. "Who the hell knows who Marsha Owen is, anyway?" She asked after her last narrow defeat. Artist Serge Trubach, another perennial candiate, has shown no sign he plans to give up the fight for a council seat.

THE SEATS NOW held by Hicks, Mayor Alexander R. Imlay and Councilman Robin Sweeny will be up for election. At this point Sausalito oracles are predicting that Mrs. Sweeny and Hicks will run and that the mayor will not.

If Mrs. Sweeny runs and wins, she will be a likely candidate for mayor since she will be the councilman with the longest tenure who has not held the post. She now holds the job of vice mayor. In fact, if she doesn't become Sausalito's first lady mayor, the local women's liberation forces should launch a full-scale investigation. On the few occasions when she has taken over the gavel, she has done a very efficient job and zipped through the agenda in a rapid but complete fashion.

NEIL DAVIS, Sausalito's favorite publican, went off to Europe for an extended vacation last week. Just before leaving, the No Name Bar owner cancelled his return trip ticket, which could be an ominous sign.

There have been indications Davis may be fed up with life in the city by the bay. In a bitter letter to the city council last month, he deplored the condition of Sausalito's downtown and had especially harsh words for the takeout food businesses that operate along Bridgeway.

Saying that takeout food is "destroying an already tarnished and troubled" city by creating filthy conditions, litter and even bringing in rats, Davis appealed to the council to "do something" about the problem. "If you can't clean up this town, I will get out," he wrote.

PERHAPS BY the time this appears, the heat which has scorched Marin and the Bay Area will be a thing of the past. But if the heat continues or returns, Flo Glessner of Tamalpais Valley has a good suggestion on how to keep cool around the house. She says that tinfoil taped over windows (shiny side out) will reflect the sun's rays and turn back the heat. Masking tape is best for attaching the foil, she says, because it doesn't remove the paint on sills as does other sticky tape. The foil can be rerolled and used again and again, Mrs. Glessner said.

Mars Probe Expected To Yield 'Scientific Bonanza'

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — When the Mariner 9 explorer satellite reaches Mars in two months, it will set off "an information explosion" about the earth's nearest neighbor planet, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said yesterday.

Scientists may even be able to work up Martian weather forecasts.

The Mariner, racing a similiar Soviet satellite, "will produce a scientific bonanza without parallel in planetary exploration," the JPL said in a statement.

"If all goes well, we anticipate a veritable information explosion about the Mars terrain, climate and atmosphere, even its two tiny moons," said project scientist Robert H. Steinbacher.

"We even hope to establish daily and seasonal weather patterns," he said.

The spacecraft's cameras and instruments won't be able to detect life on Mars — but they will be able to tell if the environment would support life on the planet.

"The chances for some primitive form of life were enhanced this year by the laboratory findings of a team of JPL researchers," the laboratory said.

Previous Mariner Mars probes sailed past the planet at distances from 2,000 to 6,500 miles and in three missions radioed back a total of 2.2 billion computer "bits" of information.

Mariner 9 will swoop to within 750 miles of the Martian surface and send back 25 to 30 billion bits, JPL said.

The satellite should map more than 70 per cent of the planet, using detailed photos sometimes covering only 100 yards of surface at a time.

"The instrument complex will study certain phenomena which have aroused curiosity ... clouds, hazes, bright spots and dust storms.

"A specific objective is the study of the apparent 'wave of darkening' which seasonally sweeps across Mars. The spacecraft will arrive at the peak of this seasonal darkening period in the southern hemisphere," the laboratory said.

Tuesday night, the Mariner was 31.6 million miles from earth, travelling 58,214 miles per hour, after 108 days in space on the voyage to Mars that began May 30. It will drop into orbit around the red planet Nov. 13.

Roles Of Department Heads Impaired By Brasilia Regime

Who's the fellow who started the phrase, "The Sunny Side of the Bridge"? Avast with him! If the air conditioning in your home breaks down, there is one thing you can do; just think how nice and cool it is in the throne room out at Brasilia. "It's wunnerful!"

By the way, don't be misled by the new administrator's offer to operate with one less assistant. There was a forced demonstration during July and August that this could be done. There is no way to alibi.

If justice to the taxpayer should somehow prevail this is just the beginning of the journey. It's up to you. What follows is what I have been trying for months to start discussing.

CONSIDER THESE things: We have a whole complement of constitutionally elected department heads. People that we have had faith in — individuals that do not have to have a brother (neither big nor little) breathing down their necks. They have proven integrity, otherwise they wouldn't be there. The same is true of those departments whose heads are required by law to be appointed.

There has been much fanfare during the past 10 years about the administrator preparing the annual budget. Now, the code provides that the auditor-controller shall present the board of supervisors with a budget each year.

Mike Mitchell, the auditor-controller, each year has sat in day after day with the administrator and the department heads on each of the budgets. Prior to the advent of administrator, we operated with committees of the board of supervisors (composed of two members each) or some years the board as a committee of the whole.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN Q. Taxpayer, I might add, during the years I knew about, got a much better deal than they do now. The auditor-department heads and board members worked the budgets out as we went along. Our salaries were less than one-half of what the gents of the throne room drag down now as salary. Then they are cashing in on all the several other committees and bodies, up to total of $16,200 a year for one of the members.

In one of the columns last year I related that people who were very aware of things out at Brasilia were saying that they (the board members) just didn't know where it was at. That's the penalty of abdication. The penalty is levied on you, not them. I hope to continue this next week.

Little Use Of Consumer Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Low income families failed to make use of the Bay Area Consumer Protection Coordinating Committee in its first year of operation, it was reported Wednesday.

Committee Chairman L. Neil Gendel said nearly 3,000 complaints from consumers who felt they had been bilked were received in the nine Bay Area counties.

The committee made up of representatives from federal, state and local law enforcement groups was set up to receive complaints and channel them to the appropriate agencies for action.

Gendel said the committee would attempt to alert persons in low income areas that there is an organization interested in their complaints.

Innocent Plea To Arson Count

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Price, who told police he had been "hearing voices" for four years, surrendered himself at the San Rafael Police Station Friday and described setting fire to a garage at 157 Woodland Avenue Thursday night.

The fire caused $1,500 damage, police said.

The 'Crafts' Becoming Big Once Again

In keeping with fall fashion's nostalgic look at the past, many people are getting back in to the "crafts" thing this season.

Home sewing kits have easy-to-follow instructions as do leathercraft and mitten kits, but a bevy of creative ideas are needed.

Pre-cut fashions enable both novice and professional homesewers to put together many fashions in a jiffy. Skirts, pants and dress kits have been packaged to include fabric, notions and step-by-step instructions. And fabrics are more interesting than ever.

It's possible to crochet or sew together as many pairs of knit and buckskin mittens as desired — for personal use or as gifts.

Leathers weather the "do-it-yourself" tide with sets that convert hides into bags, lace-tie vests, wide buckled belts — even mocassins.

Butterflies, flowers, peasanty designs can be embroidered onto a wardrobe of fashions ranging from the most elegant gowns to knock-about jeans. The effect can be an interesting collage of bright patterns.

Hearts, animals, earth and sky motifs take a bigger perspective and therefore can be appliqued — with an iron — on outerwear and sportswear for a fun fashion tale.

The Shaped Dress

Symphony Opener Party List Grows

By MOLLY MARIN

The party list is growing for those who are hosting parties prior to the gala opening night program at the Marin Veterans' Memorial Building at Civic Center Sept. 25.

Many of the Marin Symphony supporters are planning to entertain at home and bring their guests on to the opening concert by the Marin Symphony with guest artist Dorothy Kirsten and the buffet dinner to follow.

Maestro Sandor Salgo, Marin Symphony conductor, and Mrs. Salgo will be among the guests at a pre-opening party given by Mr. and Mrs. Boris Lakusta in their San Rafael home. Other party hosts will be the Victor Carters, the Leonard Asianos, the Lester H. Clarks, Dr. and Mrs. Gerson Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Baptiste and J. Kevin Donovan.

After the opening performance an elaborate champagne buffet will be served from two buffet tables, one on stage, decorated with ice sculptures. The movable wall will be moved forward to accommodate the buffet tables at the back of the building, where the "black tie optional" party will continue for up to 2,000 guests munching on miniature shashlik, crenshaw melon with Italian ham, poulette en alligator pear, petit fours and other delectables.

Especially created for the pre-party guests, the Marin Symphony Association has printed commemorative invitations available from Mrs. Robert Schultz.

"SUN, SURF and sand weren't the only elements of our summer in Hawaii," Mrs. George Lester of San Rafael says. "We were kept in the mainland eddy as a constant trickle of Bay Area visitors freshened the stream."

Among the Marinites that George and Mary Ellen Lester hosted at their Diamond Head apartment are the John Burkes, Frank Scotts, Ralph Phelps and Paul Woelz, all of San Rafael, and the W. J. J. Smiths of Novato. Former Marinites, Suzi Colombo, a nurse at Queens Hospital in Honolulu, and J. M. Gragg, who taught at Novato High School and is now in business on Oahu, also visited the Lesters.

The Lesters' daughter, Pam, her husband, Max Handley of Novato, and his mother, Mrs. M. G. Handley of Larkspur, spent the month of August with the Lesters.

On Maui the Lesters visited former Ross residents, Art and Lee Gustafson, who are remodeling an old home on that island.

Next door neighbors of the Lesters in Hawaii were the Bob Trumbulls, also former Marinites. Marjorie Trumbull is researching material for an educational television series on Hawaiiana.

FROM FABULOUS FORTIES

MONICA BARISKI

Engagement Of Couple Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Bariski of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter, Monica Lynn, to Henry Dennis Reis of Novato.

The bride-elect is the sister of David N. Bariski. She was graduated from San Rafael High School and is attending Marinello School of Beauty in San Rafael.

Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Reis of Novato and the brother of Richard and Joellen Reis. He also is a Novato High School graduate and attends the College of Marin.

Open Fire Breakfast Should Be Simple

A hearty breakfast, cooked over an open fire should be filling and simple.

Gourmet scrambled eggs can be pre-mixed in the kitchen and carried in a vacuum bottle to the campsite. At home thoroughly mix six eggs, one-third cup milk, salt, papper, a pinch of paprika and bits of cubed, cooked ham. Pour uncooked into a quart-size vacuum bottle, where it will stay fresh for hours before cooking.

Sense Of Humor, Reality In Designs

Today's woman wants the freedom to do her own thing. Leo Narducci does clothes with a sense of humor and a sense of reality for this woman. His wide-lapeled, broad-shouldered blazers are contemporary, feminine.

EVERYONE'S SURPRISED

Woman Invades TV Repair Field

By KATHLEEN NEUMEYER

SIMI, Calif. (UPI)—They didn't laugh when Sandy Schaffner walked into an all-male television repair class.

They thought Mrs. Schaffner was the coffee wagon hostess.

But when graduation time came, Sandy was among the top students in the course, and she has been making home repair calls for her husband's electronics repair service ever since.

"My husband used to repair television sets in our garage," she said," and I used to watch.

"Then when he opened his own business, I started going down to help with the clerical work. I got interested in the lab work, and I enjoyed it more, the more he taught me.

"People brought in broken transistor radios, and Len wouldn't have time to fix them. So I decided to go to school so I would be able to fix the little things."

"I'm very good at cleaning tuners and changing high voltage transformers," she said.

About three times a week, wearing a white smock over her pantsuit, Mrs. Schaffner makes calls throughout the Los Angeles area.

"AT FIRST, they thought I was the Avon lady," she recalled. "But now they say, 'Oh, you're the woman TV repairman we've been hearing about'."

"One man came into the shop with a black and white portable television and asked where Len was," she said.

"I told him Len was out, but maybe I could help. He said he ought to wait for Len, but I looked at the set and took care of it.

"The man said, 'You really fixed it.' Then he added that if it didn't work, he'd come back."

"He hasn't been back, so either his set is working or he went somewhere else."

Mrs. Schaffner was the first female student at the Magnavox Service Training School in Torrance, and is one of the very few television repairwomen in the United States.

She has founded an organization called LITES—Ladies in Technical Electronic Servicing—to encourage more women to go into the field.

"WOMEN SHOULD be in this work because it's really not difficult at all. It's easy," she said.

"I want to go back now and learn how to repair phonographs and tape recorders," she said.

"And I'm learning to play the guitar. My son says, 'Mom, you'd try anything.' "

With Hot Soup

Try packing a school lunch with a hot soup entree. For a soup children will enjoy combine a can of condensed tomato soup with an equal amount of milk, 8 ounces of grated cheese and a dash of salt and pepper. Heat and pour into a vacuum bottle piping hot.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Just Remind This Queen Bee That A Ruler Can Be Deposed

DEAR HELEN:

What happens when the male ego is thwarted, crushed and destroyed? For nearly 25 years, this has happened to me. This is what my wife has done:

1. She knows more than anybody else; never concedes that she is wrong.

2. She eats secretly until she weighs over 225 pounds, then says fatness runs in her family.

3. She doesn't bathe regularly, and is unkempt in her dress; the type people don't stand close to.

4. She is a poor housekeeper, using the excuse that she works part time. The children and I do most of the housework.

5. She always wants to know the subject of conversation when the children and I are talking.

6. She resents the money I spend on our yard. (I don't drink, run around, play golf, or buy expensive personal items).

7. She nags constantly, and reverses what I tell the children, who incidentally, are all teenagers.

8. She's the queen bee and won't let anyone forget it. Always bossing, she never considers the wishes of others in the family.

I'm not interested in anyone else. I don't want a broken home. But what's a man to do? — DEGRADED AND DOWNTRODDEN

DEAR D AND D:

You've described a woman so sure of her queenship that she forgets rulers can be deposed. Let her know you can and will walk out, if she doesn't shape up — and not just figure-wise! — H.

P.S. Which means you'd better shape up, courage-wise.

DEAR HELEN:

Is it permissible for a divorced man to call himself a bachelor? The word "divorce" is an unpleasant reminder of a broken contract. I'm unhappy enough without rubbing my nose in it. — DISPLACED

DEAR DIS:

You may call yourself "single," "free," "unattached" but, technically speaking, a once-married man can never be a bachelor again.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not generally a writer-to-columns, but I must respond to those anti-bikini-underpants mothers. What's with people who see something licentious in every new style?

I'm a married woman and I love bikini panties. Like hip huggers, they're more comfortable, and I've never gotten my skin caught in a zipper yet.

Something no one has mentioned yet is that bikini underwear is great for pregnant women. Remember the bad old days when your panties' elastic crept up and up, and finally nestled just under your arm pits? (If the nylon stretched that far.) — FOR THEM

DEAR READERS:

Who would think that bikini panties would bring more reader-response than such noble subjects as women's lib, ecology, and "the Jesus people"? "To wear or not to wear" outdistanced almost every question on my "interest-meter" last month — except one: "Are girls unphotogenic nowadays because they wear less lipstick and more hangdown hair?"

Must be the summer bla-a-as. — H.

Mrs. Fratus Will Direct Arts Festival

President of the 15th annual Mill Valley Arts Festival is Mrs. Donald Norman Fratus of Larkspur. She has been affiliated with the festival for four years and previously served as vice president and treasurer.

In addition to the festival, which will be held on Oct. 2 and 3 in Old Mill Park, the organization operates an art gallery, the Genesis Gallery, in Mill Valley with the Mill Valley Arts Guild, where it sponsors an art show in January. Also planned is an amateur art show in the spring.

"Our purpose is to provide facilities for the exhibition of art, to increase public awareness and participation in art and to provide an educational program in the arts," says Dee Fratus, who is also a member of the Genesis Gallery board of directors.

A native of Greensburg, Pa., she attended high school in western Pennsylvania and El Camino College in Southern California. Mrs. Fratus was an accountant for 12 years. She has lived in Marin for five years. Her husband is an area agent with the California Department of Mental Hygiene and also a law student.

Reading, writing and collecting Roseville pottery are her hobbies.

ON BEING BLACK

Many Prominent Omissions In Multi-Ethnic Calendar

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

By referring regularly to the Office of Human Relations multi-ethnic calendar I've discovered a number of September events I would never have known. For example:

The late Rocky Marciano, an Italian-American boxer, was born on Sept. 1.

Charles Follen, noted German-American educator and abolitionist, was born on Sept. 4, 1796.

GERMAN DAY is celebrated the second week of September. This day honors the first German immigrants to America.

Frank Yerby, an Afro-American novelist, was born on Sept. 5.

Sept. 6 is the birthdate of Jane Addams (1860-1935), an English-American civil rights worker and Nobel peace prize winner.

Brazil's Independence Day is celebrated on Sept. 7, and it is also the birthdate of John O. Crow, a native American Indian (Cherokee) and Bureau of Indian Affairs official.

Sept. 12 is the birthdate of Prince Hall, Afro-American founder of the Negro Free Masonry; and Jesse Owens, Afro-American winner of three gold medals in track and field events at Olympic games.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT, French-American actress, was born on Sept. 13.

Sept. 15-26 (date variable) is set aside for the celebration of the Chinese-American Moon Festival. This is a woman's festival and is celebrated at night. It is the most romantic of Chinese festivals and the celebration is of a private nature. Bakeries in Chinatown prepare moon cakes for the occasion.

Sept. 16 is El Dia de Independencia — Independence Day for Mexicans and Mexican-Americans. It commemorates Mexico's fight for independence from Spain in 1810.

Sept. 17 is Citizenship Day. It was established by Congress in 1952 to give recognition to all who became American citizens in the preceding year. Orlando Cepeda, Puerto Rican baseball player, was also born on this day.

SEPT. 19 is the birthdate of Ben Reifel, a native American (Rosebud Sioux), congressman and recipient of Outstanding American Indian Award in 1956.

The Jewish New Year and Italian Garibaldi/Day are both celebrated on Sept. 20.

Sept. 22 is Emancipation Day — the anniversary of the day Lincoln read the Emancipation Proclamation in 1862. For obvious reasons, many contemporary blacks consider this a meaningless event.

Sept. 24 is the birthdate of Joseph M. Montoya, a Mexican-American lawyer and senator from New Mexico. It is also Schwenkenfelder, the Dutch and German-American Thanksgiving.

Sept. 24 is American Indian Day.

SEPT 29 is Yom Kippur and also the birthdate of Marie E. Zakrszewska, who fought for acceptance of women in medicine many years ago.

Sept. 30 is the birthdate of Johnny Mathis, Afro-American singer of such favorites as "Chances Are" and "Twelfth of Never."

Obviously there are many notable omissions. "Why isn't G-i-l-l-i-a-n under Sept. 3?" asks my 5-year-old daughter, Gillian. "Does multi-ethnic just mean people?"

Deer Park Villa Rites Unite Couple

The garden of Deer Park Villa restaurant in Fairfax was the setting for the marriage of Diane Barbara Levy and John Stewart Akers and for the reception that followed on Sept. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Levy of Fairfax are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Akers of San Jose.

Matron of honor was the bridegroom's sister Mrs. Ernest LaScola of San Jose, and the bride's sister, Linda Levy, was the bridesmaid.

Jim Aven of San Jose was best man, and Dan Declercq of Alameda and Dan McGuire of San Jose ushered.

Diane is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and San Jose State College. Michael Levy is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Harry Zimet and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Levy, all of San Francisco.

A graduate of Lincoln High School in San Jose, John also attended San Jose State College. He is employed by the Eastside Center in San Jose. Bonnie and April Akers are also his sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe the couple will live in San Jose.

Charles Hewson Weds Mary Kathleen Riley

Maid of honor was Susan Wildblood of Sacramento, and bridesmaids were Sandy Esudillo of Tiburon, Mrs. Steve Patten of San Rafael and Mrs. Randy Huntoon of Petaluma.

Dick Pierce of Natick, Mass., was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brothers, Terence Riley of Palo Alto and Michael Riley of Boulder, Colo.; Steve Patten and Martin Lowe, both of San Rafael; and Al North of Boston.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Fleet Admiral Nimitz Officers Club on Treasure Island. The couple will live in Greenbrae following a wedding trip to Victoria, British Columbia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orin J. Riley of Corte Madera. She was graduated from Mother Butler Memorial High School in San Jose and Bay City College of Dental-Medical Assistants in San Francisco. She also attended College of Marin and West Valley College in San Jose. Mary is employed by the Ross Valley Medical Clinic in Greenbrae.

Charles is the son of Mrs. Charles J. Hewson of Middleboro, Mass., and the late Mr. Hewson. He is the brother of Denise Hewson, Mrs. James Welvaret and Mrs. Maureen Smith, all of Massachusetts. The bridegroom was graduated from Boston English High School and Western State College in Colorado and is employed by Van Waters and Rogers in Brisbane.

THE ALUMNAE

"No, Ma'am. I'm not working my way through college, I completed my doctorate in physics last June."

Patent Unit Has Woman For Member

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in the history of the U.S. Patent Office, the 15-member Board of Examiners-in-Chief includes a woman, Brerton Sturtevant.

A special Presidential document of her nomination had to be printed to denote the new member's sex, replacing "he" and "him" with "she" and "her."

Miss Sturtevant says she intends to prove that male and female patent attorneys approach legal problems in the same way.

A 1942 graduate of Wellesley College, she received a law degree in 1949 from Temple University and worked as a research chemist and in private legal practice before she became a partner in a Wilmington, Del., law firm which specialized in patent and trademark law.

Miss Sturtevant had not planned to work for the government until a friend asked permission to submit her name to President Nixon. Like other women who have left private employment to accept federal positions, Miss Sturtevant said she took a salary cut. Her government pay is about $34,000 a year. She says she believes that inventions are important to the national economy because the country was built on ideas that were put into action.

About 1.5 per cent of all patents are issued to women, according to a patent office spokesman, and they are usually for products involved in their professions.

Hub Artist Is First In Marin Fair Show

A large plastic-on-metal entry submitted by artist Gary Allen of San Anselmo has been rated best-in-show in the art competition of the Marin County Fair and will receive the $150 top prize, Marcelle McCoy, fair manager, announced yesterday.

Judges considered some 300 entries before selecting five top winners, seven honorable mention entries and a total of 61 paintings and 10 sculptures which will compose the art display at the fair, Mrs. McCoy said.

The Marin County Fair is scheduled Oct. 8-11 at the Civic Center in San Rafael.

Allen's top award was for a four-foot-by-five-foot plastic on metal circle, titled "Oval-6." Second prize of $100 was awarded to Wesley Chamberlin of Mill Valley for a work titled, "Ward and Barthalomew Basin, C1805."

Irene Sullivan, San Rafael artist, earned the $85 third palce award for her traditional oil painting called "Silver City, Idaho," and fourth prize of $70 was given to Alton Raible of San Anselmo, for an oil painting titled "Enigma."

Another oil, by El Cerrito artist Philip Hocking called "Untitled #2," was rated No. 5 and received a $50 prize.

Honorable Mention awards were given to Blanche Ayers, Terra Linda, for a monoprint called "The Supplicants;" Girldine Merrill, Novato, for an acrylic titled "The First Snow;" Eric Rogers, San Rafael, an oil called "Seascape Mendocino;" Albert Garvey, Fairfax, a serigraph titled "Russian Easter;" Sydney Herschleb, Kentfield, an oil called "Corner of the Nursery;" Ralph O'Neill, Novato, a marble sculpture titled "Pentagon," and Bettyjo Norton, Larkspur, a collage called "Too Early Autumn."

San Marin Group Backs Moratorium Extension

The San Marin Improvement Association has recommended that single family dwellings be included in the proposed moratorium on housing construction in Novato.

The recommendation was made Wednesday night after members discussed a proposql by the North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations for a moratorium on townhouses and apartments until the city's general plan is revised.

The San Marin association approved the federation's proposal but wanted single family housing included so all aspects of housing are covered, according to Nancy Kuhn, a member.

The Novato Planning Commission has scheduled two meetings a month starting Oct. 4 to consider revisions to the general plan.

Girl, 7, Gets Medal For Saving Her Sisters

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Marilyn Sanut, 7, is wearing a medal for saving her three younger sisters, Margaret, 5, Marissa, 3, and Marina, 9 months, from a fire that swept through their Stockton, Calif., home.

Gov. Ronald Reagan pinned a silver medal on Marilyn, who sought help from neighbors before dashing through a blazing living room to rescue Margaret from another room Nov. 5.

"You were pretty brave. Now you're going to have to be brave again in case I stick you," joked Reagan at the ceremony.

Marilyn, daughter of Army S. Sgt. and Mrs. John C. Sanut, received the award from the Stockton Fire Department and the Hartford Insurance Co.

Audience Likes Naked Actress

Miss Stephenson stepped into the play for Thursday's opening night at the last minute after former lead Kay Barlow refused to appear naked.

She said after the show, "I am not shy and my husband doesn't mind."

The Mermaid's artistic director, Sir Bernard Miles, said last week he decided to portray Desdemona nude in the last scene because he had come to the conclusion it was what the author intended. He said no one had been "bright enough" before to figure it out.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Blue Water, White Death" — An outstanding documentary that records a 12,000-mile trek of white killer sharks.

"Red Tent" — Told by flashback is the fascinating true story of the 1928 ill-fated dirigible Arctic expedition. Awesome photography, very well acted but may be too long and confusing for young children.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Brother John" — Sidney Poitier is a mysterious heroic character who helps those in need and then disappears. A drama with elements of a high-minded message. Well acted, some rough language.

"Fools Parade" — A prisoner, played by James Stewart, is released from prison and gets a check for $25,000, his pay for 40 yards at hard labor. The town bank president does not want the check cashed, ever.

"Rio Lobo" — John Wayne is a Yankee colonel who after the war seeks an informer in a gold shipment robbery. Usual action-packed western.

"Ryan's Daughter" — A romantic epic, set in World War I. Photographed against an Irish landscape metaphoric for loneliness. Well acted.

"Support Your Local Sheriff" — Humorous western spins a tale about a temporary sheriff's attempt to clean up a gold-struck town in a few days. Rough language and inuendos.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Cool Hand Luke" — Brutal, downbeat story of a non-conformist prisoner in a southern prison camp and his attempted escapes. Well acted but depressing, tough drama.

"Doc" — Doc Holiday, Wyatt Earp, Kate Elder stripped of their usual glamour work together to gain control of a town using ruthless methods. Low-key character study that is explicit in sex and violence.

"Harper" — Highly skilled cast sparkle in a variety of offbeat roles in this deglamorized tense private eye adventure. Much violence and brutality.

"Summer of '42" — Three adolescent boys at a summer resort during World War II read a medical book to learn all about sex. Then they pick up girls and follow the instructions. Beautifully filmed, very low-key drama.

"Two Lane Black Top" — A depressing existential story about a stock car racing freak. His only real relationship is his car. A difficult film to watch.

ADULTS ONLY

"The Devils" — Story of a 17th-century priest whose ethics brought him in conflict with the Roman Catholic Church. It is a grizly, grotesque film using erotic fantasies and foul language for shock effect.

"Doctors Wives" — Marital and extramarital sex in medical circles, with operating room gore as added attraction.

"Love Machine" — Adaptation of Susann's bestseller leaves much to be desired. An oversexed TV newscaster becomes president of the network by bedding down with everyone. Some of the serious dramatic moments are quite funny.

"McCabe and Mrs. Miller" — A rugged zinc mining town at the turn of the century is victimized by a petty crook who sets up a brothel. Story is tasteless in the name of realism. Much brutality, vulgarity and nudity.

Angel Island Crew To Clean Hospital

The Army Community Action Program in conjunction with the state Department of Parks and Recreation will start Saturday cleaning out the old East Garrison Hospital on Angel Island to make it safe for visitors, the department has announced.

The 75-man Army crew under the direction of Capt. Joseph Howard Jr. will remove all hazards, broken glass, old wood and other debris.

Children's Chorus Auditions Tomorrow

Informal auditions for the Winifred Baker Children's Chorus will be held tomorrow at 10:45 a.m. in Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

The chorus, which is in its 14th year, is open to boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 13. Rehearsals are held Saturdays at 11 a.m. in Angelico Hall. Several concerts are performed during the year.

10 Residents Naturalized

Ten Marin and Southern Sonoma residents were naturalized last month in San Francisco, U.S. District Court has announced.

The new citizens are Peter Harold and Ann Hunter of 639 Cascade Drive, Fairfax; Mary Elizabeth O'Sullivan of 405 E. Strawberry Drive, Mill Valley; Mehmet Alp Demil (name changed to Alp Michael Demil) of 427 Via Herbosa, Ignacio.

Others include Toy Mae Dep (name changed to Joy Dep Chan) of 418 School Road, and Jaromir and Marie Antoinie Kostka, 434 Via Del Plano, all of Novato; Maribel Martinez of 708 Bassett Street, Petaluma; and Anne Keija and Samuel Wonyong Kim of 101 El Capitan Drive, San Rafael.

Innocent Plea To Auto Theft

William Frank Howard, 27, of San Francisco, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of car theft.

Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 28.

Howard was arrested Saturday after the California Highway Patrol attempted to stop him for a traffic violation on Highway 101 near Sausalito. Howard sped off, the highway patrol said, but his car spun out of control and went over an embankment. He was not injured, but a check revealed the car he was driving was stolen, the highway patrol said.

Peppard's Wife Asks Dissolution

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor George Peppard was sued for dissolution Wednesday by his wife of five years, actress Elizabeth Ashley.

She sought custody of their son, Christian, 3, child support and division of community property.

Peppard, 42, and Miss Ashley, 32, were married April 17, 1966. They separated May 29.

New $40 Smog Device Is Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An Orange County firm today had conditional approval of the state Air Resources Board for a smog-control device for use with 1955-1965 vintage automobiles.

The device may become required by law early next year.

The firm, Emission Control Technology, Inc., said it hoped to fulfill further requirements during the next few months. These include training installers and demonstrating that the device is available and does not hamper car performance.

The device, essentially an electronic engine regulator, will cost $40, the producer said.

A spokesman for General Motors Company said after the meeting that his company had a similar device now available for $9.95 and it would apply for approval from the Air Resources Board.

GM had not submitted its device earlier, the spokesman said, because it would not meet earlier standards, which have been eased.

There are an estimated 5 million cars in California older than 1965 which may have to have a smog-control device to be re-sold if presently planned regulations are imposed.

IDLE AT $100,000 A YEAR

Gleason Waiting For New Show

By ROBERT MUSEL

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — The world could use a few laughs these days and Jackie Gleason, who once provided lots of them, broods here in luxury and boredom about his chances of breaking the contract he believes stands between him and a return to television.

There is a hint of desperation in this belief, the knowledge that the memory of the public is short and even a contract that pays a man $100,000 a year for doing nothing can be a golden noose strangling a great show business career.

Gleason taped his last program for CBS-TV in February, 1969. The network dropped his show for the 1970 season for a number of reasons ranging from "demographics" — he wasn't pulling the age group that advertisers wanted at that moment — to the fact the program cost had escalated to where it was running at a loss.

And, suddenly, it was all over — the long years of learning his craft in cheap night clubs in dusty tank towns on the climb to the top that in his case was too hard won to let go by default. Recently he sat in a borrowed town house on the vast Inverrary estate which he helped plan and design, watching his own $500,000 five-level mansion take shape nearby.

"It looks like we might have to go to court," Jackie said. "It might come to that. I can't sit around here boozing and eating — I'm already 20 pounds overweight. Business is all right in its place — I've done my part here including setting up the $260,000 Gleason-Inverrary golf tournament for next February, top purse of the year.

"But I'm a performer and if CBS doesn't come up with something soon we'll have to consider legal measures. They keep saying they're working on a show but so far I haven't seen anything, just an idea for something with Lucy (Lucille Ball). I've no idea what they've really got in mind (it would be a special, not a series).

"NBC and ABC have both been down with offers that I can't take because of the CBS contract. And Alex Cohen (the Broadway producer) has something I'd really like to do. He wants me to play P.T. Barnum in a six-part television series, like the British just did with the six wives of Henry VIII."

Beverly, his wife of a year, a tall, quiet girl, slipped into the room just as someone reminded Jackie of the fate of Milton Berle who was the first great TV comedian of the postwar era and whose TV career never was able to surface after he spent years off the air on a network payroll. Jackie shuddered.

"Yes," he said gloomily. "They can keep you around till you lose your value. They can keep the competition from getting you."

"It's not good to be on that way," he said. "The old ones have been around about 20 times. The public can get sick of them."

Gleason said he had turned down offers of Broadway musicals because "doing the same thing every night would drive me nuts."

Is there anything he would like to do particularly on TV?

"I once did a show 'You're in the Picture,'" he said, "and it was so bad I don't know how CBS let me do it. I asked them if I could apologize. The next week I went out and sat in a chair and talked to the audience. It went over fine. That's what I'd like to do. And I'd like to do it alone though. If there was some spectacular guy who hand't been kicked around on the talk shows I might get him on with me."

He showed brief interest when he heard Merv Griffin might be giving up his CBS-TV talk show. But this, too, is the sort of five-night a week grind he would rather avoid and he thinks all talk shows are now on dangerous ground because the same guests work all of them all the time.

A week or so earlier Jackie had entertained Vice President Spiro Agnew at Inverrary and had partnered him in a golf match which they won, one up. "The same score we won by when I played a foursome with President Nixon," he said.

"When you played with the President," Beverly said, "a Secret Service man rode around the course in a cart filled with tommy guns."

"I don't know that," Jackie said. "But when Agnew was here the Secret Service took away all the unopened bottles. You have to open a fresh bottle for the V-P."

"They looked all over the place and even climbed into the rafters," Beverly said.

"And they brought a communications setup with them so Agnew could be in touch if needed," Jackie went on. "I liked Agnew, he's a very articulate man. He makes a few mistakes when he's playing golf but when he hits the ball he really creams it."

Beverly denited a published report that the new mansion would have a bar in every room.

"We have only three or four," Jackie said, "One in the bedroom."

The bedroom?

"Well", said Jackie "if you wake up in the middle of the night and you want a drink you don't want to have to trundle half a mile downstairs to get one, do you?"

The Fatal Betel

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — There is more mouth and throat cancer in Pakistan than anywhere else in the world. Dr. Manzoor Saidi, director of Pakistan's Cancer Institute, said this type of cancer in Pakistan is caused by chewing tobacco-filled "paan" or betel leaf.

AFTERNOON BLAZE ENDS IN DESTRUCTION

Corte Madera firemen scurried between three burning houses yesterday. The home of Barry Blakely (left arrow) at 21 Constitution Drive received major damage but was livable. The fire began when an overheated battery charger exploded in a garage at 17 Constitution Drive, (middle arrow) residence of Linda B. Goldberg, her brother and young daughter. A neighboring house owned by Walter S. Smith Jr., (right arrow) was also destroyed in the 3 p.m. blaze. The fire could be seen from Highway 101 and did $120,000 damage to the three houses and their contents. (See story, photos, page 1)

Alternative To National Tragedy

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A halt to economic growth and population someday will be the only alternative to national tragedy, the Redwood Empire Association was warned yesterday.

Spokesmen for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. said use of electricity will double in the next eight or nine years, and that only nuclear plants could supply the demand.

Lundborg, however, challenged the company's claim that the public's demand for electricity was growing far faster than the population. Much of this rising demand, he said, "is the result of skillful market manipulation" by the utility.

Lundborg, 44, whose father, Louis, retired last spring as chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of America, said the nation's environmental problems resulted from its "desperate need for continued economic growth."

Other members of the panel objected that this growth was essential to the nation's economic health. Gil Medeiros, San Rafael attorney primarily representing land developers, said "stagnancy is a very despicable thing."

Lundborg, also a member of the North Coast Regional Water Quality Control Board, persisted that "at some point in the future you have to reach an end point in economic growth. Population growth is going to stop, as we finally begin to run out of resources.

"Finally, the alternative is tragedy. There has to be a better alternative," Lundborg declared.

He said the halt to economic growth would not come in this generation, but added that "we've got to start thinking about it and start talking about it."

Another contrary view was offered by another panelist, Humboldt County Supervisor Leland Rice. He argued that "resources were put on the earth to be used for the benefit of man." Rice, a rancher, in a reference to conservationists, declared that he resented "people coming into our county and telling us what we have to do."

J. Dwight O'Dell, publisher of the Humboldt Beacon in Fortuna, complained that conservationists too often depend on arguments loaded with more fancy than fact. He also objected to television talk show hosts who "jump on the bandwagon" to defend the environment.

Medeiros, asserting that increasingly restrictive government regulations on land had "eroded the concept of property rights," said the only right still left to the property owner was to pay his property tax.

Decrying interference by governmental planning agencies in plans by developers, Medeiros said, "Planners don't know any damn better than the developer what's best for his land."

His arguments, however, were rebutted from the floor by Del Norte County Supervisor Harold Del Ponte, who said Medeiros was "putting blame on planners instead of his clients."

The supervisor, citing frequent misuse of land by developers, said that developers had it coming to them whenever tougher new land controls resulted.

The film on nuclear power plants was presented by J. Galen Foster, Northbay Division Manager for PG&E in San Rafael. He said such plants did not pollute, and helped conserve limited sources of coal, gas and oil.

He said that a three-year fuel load, 95 pounds of uranium, was equal to 7,150,000 tons of coal, 160 billion cubic feet of gas, 28.6 million barrels of oil, or the wood from 96,000 acres of virgin redwood forest.

The film, entitled "My Nuclear Neighbor," said that the nuclear power plants also "create new tax revenues for the public good," that "every precaution is taken," that half of all power plants will be nuclear in 30 years, and that they are needed "to continue the pattern of American prosperity."

Owen Davis, the utility's supervisor of environmental quality, discounted fears of thermal pollution by hot water dumped in the ocean after cooling nuclear plants. He predicted only "small incremental effects" that at most would see "a possible population shift" in the kinds of fish in the heated area.

In other business, delegates reelected their 1970-71 slate of officers for a second one-year term. They are: James A. Nealis of Eureka, president; Foster, Andrew Flynn of Crescent City and Donald J. McFarland of Lake Berryessa, vice presidents; Reed Hardester of Middletown, treasurer, and Carney J. Campion of San Rafael, secretary.

Park Is Shut For The Year

McNear Beach in East San Rafael will be closed for the rest of the year to permit contractors to install parking lot improvements and landscaping.

County park coordinator James Vande Weg said the beach park will be reopened after the improvements are completed, about the first of next year.

Bresnan-Dalecio Inc. of San Rafael will pave and improve the 200-stall parking area, and Cagwin and Dorward of San Rafael will landscape the area between the parking lot and the bay.

Vande Weg said McNear Beach, particularly its swimming pool, had heavy use this summer. From July 1 until last Sunday, when the park closed, gross receipts from parking and the swimming pool fees totalled $10,000. Between 3,000 and 5,000 persons used the park each week.

Another contract will be awarded next spring to add picnic facilities, improve sewer connections, and add more grass areas and trees.

"Next summer, after these improvements, we should be able to handle bigger crowds than this year," said Vande Weg.

Marin Land For English Village

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Officers of the Renaissance Center today announced purchase of 1,000 acres in Upper Lucas Valley where they intend to build a recreation of an Elizabethan era English village as a cultural study center in Renaissance and Medieval arts, crafts, humanities and performing arts.

The purchase of the old Grady Ranch five miles west of Highway 101, on Lucas Valley Road, was announced in a San Francisco press conference today by Phyllis and Ronald Patterson, president and secretary of the nonprofit education foundation.

Mrs. Patterson said the Lucas Valley site near Big Rock will be an educational and cultural center rather than an entertainment site such as the fair or Disneyland. The buyers have no plans to conduct future Marin versions of the annual Renaissance Faire on the Grady ranch, Mrs. Patterson said.

Land purchase and development of the cultural center will cost an estimated $3 million within the next five years, the Pattersons said. They predicted construction will begin within two years, and the center will be open in five.

Selection of the site capped a three-year search for land in the San Francisco Bay Area, the Pattersons said. They said they chose the Marin location because it physically resembled unspoiled English hill country, and because the cultural atmosphere of Marin encouraged such activities as the future study center.

At least 90 per cent of the 1,000 acres will be left in its natural state, the Pattersons said, for use by nature lovers and horseback riders. The village itself will be developed in stages over a period of years.

It will house master craftsmen and artists in residence, provide facilities for Medieval and Renaissance performing arts, and offer apprenticeship and instructional programs and facilities for studies of the life of Elizabethan England and earlier days.

While hunting for a site for its permanent home, the Renaissance Center has in the last three years given $100,000 in grants and honoraria to groups such as the Marin Shakespeare Festival Theater and schools involved in Renaissance cultural studies, Mrs. Patterson said.

Patient At Mental Unit Is Captured

A San Francisco man, charged with burglary and grand theft, who walked away from Marin Community Mental Health Center early yesterday, was found by sheriff's deputies a few hours later.

Robert John Westermeyer, 30, was found walking along railroad tracks near Highway 101 in Greenbrae about two hours after his 7 a.m. disappearance from the mental health center.

Westermeyer is charged with burglarizing the residence of Richard D. Hardin of Santa Venetia and stealing a boat belonging to a neighbor of Hardin in an attempt to evade arrest Aug. 27.

He was at the mental health center for an examination in connection with a motion by his attorney that he is not legally sane to stand trial.

ABAG Angry Over Delay Of Federal Plan Grant

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments last night complained bitterly to the federal government that "we cannot function" without the full planning grant being held up by the government. (Another ABAG story, page 1)

The association's executive committee sent the sharp statement to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which has disagreed with details of the annual planning program.

Marin Supervisor John F. McInnis said ABAG was "frustrated and furious" at the failure to get the full planning grant. The federal department has given ABAG a three-month grant for $89,000, way below the $360,000 ABAG wants for the year-long planning program.

The department's dissatisfaction has centered on the housing element in ABAG's planning program. The association also has been under fire by minority groups on the ground that it has failed to give them an adequate voice in such planning.

On-Job Injuries

HONG KONG (UPI) —More than 24,500 persons were injured, 259 fatally, at work in Hong Kong in 1970. Workmen's compensation paid during the year as a result of industrial accidents was more than 10 million Hong Kong dollars ($1.67 million US).

FESTIVAL REMINDER OF YESTERYEAR

The first oldtown festival and art show in Novato, a reminder of the community's past, will open at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow on East Grant Avenue, east of Highway 101.

The event, sponsored by the North Bay Artists and the Oldtown Merchants, will continue until 5 p. m. and will resume Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Grant Avenue will be blocked to traffic for two blocks from Machin Avenue to Reichert Avenue and tables will be set in the street.

There will be pony rides and clowns to entertain children. The generation gap, a singing group, will perform at 2 p.m. tomorrow and the Novato Rural Band will play at 2:30 p.m.

Planning Panel Rejects Units

The Novato Plan Review Committee has rejected plans for 189 apartment units southwest of Ignacio Boulevard and Alameda Del Prado.

The committee's major objections Wednesday were to the architectural details in the plan submitted by McSweeney and Schuppel, according to senior planner Mark Westfall.

The committee approved plans by Frank Fonseca for an 18-unit apartment building at Vallejo Avenue and Seventh Street and plans by Fred Mauroni for a four-unit apartment building at 1035 Fourth Street.

Bookmobile Is To Be Moved

The Petaluma Library board has agreed to move the bookmobile van to the Petaluma Plaza parking lot beginning next Wednesday.

Board chairman Kenneth M. Wightman said members on Tuesday felt the increased parking spaces made the plaza a better location than the Washington Square Shopping Center on South McDowell Boulevard.

Wightman said the board also began studies on installing a book drop at Fire Station No. 3 at 833 South McDowell Boulevard.

Secretary Arrested In Marijuana Probe

A Tamalpais High School District secretary was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana after she was stopped in a school car because a teen-age passenger was hanging out a window.

Booked into Marin County Jail, where she was still held today in lieu of $1,250 bail was Martha Dixon Skinner, 26, of 310 Poplar Street, Mill Valley.

Capt. Charles Mattos of the Larkspur police reported that he saw a car on Doherty Drive near the Tamalpais District office and that a passenger was sitting on the window sill of the car with his backside hanging out the window.

He stopped the car, which he said was driven by Mrs. Skinner and asked her for her driver's license. The officer said that when she pulled a license out of her wallet, he saw a plastic bag containing green vegetable matter in the wallet.

The youth who was sitting in the window, Robert C. Foster, 18, of San Anselmo, and another teen-age boy, who was also a passenger, were not arrested.

School officials said today that Mrs. Skinner has been a secretary at San Andreas High School, an "opportunity" school for potential drop-outs, since it opened two years ago.

They also said she had taken the car to run errands for the school. The two teen-agers are not students at San Andreas and school officials did not know why they were with Mrs. Skinner.

Court clerks said Mrs. Skinner has been charged with a misdemeanor count of possessing pot.

Senate Panel Approves Study Of San Quentin

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee today endorsed a study to decide whether San Quentin Prison should be renovated or abandoned.

The resolution by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was approved and sent to the Rules Committee for another hearing along with a related measure.

The rules panel Wednesday had tentatively set for hearing Sen. John A. Nejedly's resolution for a 10-member legislative committee to examine state corrections procedures. Bagley's measure will be heard along with it.

Bagley said his measure is to determine whether San Quentin should be renovated for an estimated $20 million or a new prison built elsewhere for that amount.

Yacht Harbor Plan Approved

The Sausalito Planning Commission has approved, "in principal," a conditional use permit application to permit extensive development of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor, Chairman Robert L. Nissen reported.

Although the commission gave general approval to the master plan presented by architect Roland Mays, the proposal will be subject to a number of conditions which the planners will formulate at an adjourned meeting Sept. 29, he said.

Nissen said the revised plan, which had been changed to incorporate some of the planners, earlier suggested alterations, including more open water area in the harbor, was approved by a 3-1 vote, with Commissioner Violeta Autumn dissenting and Commissioner Evert Heynneman absent.

Gas Main Break Closes Hamilton

A base spokesman said there was no fire or explosion when the line ruptured along Main Entrance Road near a gate.

Crews sealed off the line and the residents and office personnel were allowed to return to their buildings after about three hours.

Bridge Writers All Alike, But They Just Can't Count Trumps

"Bridge writers are all alike," an opponent sneered as we finished the last hand of a club duplicate game recently. "You preach like world beaters, but you can't even count trumps." Long experience has taught me to make no reply to such pleasantries, but my partner was indignant. "Change seats," she challenged, "and I'll bet you the card fees that you can't make the contract."

FIRST TIME

When I played the hand to begin with, I took the second spade, drew two rounds of trumps and then led clubs. East took the second club and led a third club. I could gain nothing by ruffing, so discarded a diamond, allowing West to ruff with his "forgotten" trump.

I took the diamond return, ruffed a spade in dummy and discarded my last diamond on dummy's good club. Four hearts bid and made.

After our little argument, we turned the duplicate board and let my tormentor be declarer. He won the second spade, drew three rounds of trumps and then led clubs. I took the second club, killing the dummy. Down two.

SECOND TRY

"I want to try it once more," the opponent insisted. "Double or nothing?" challenged my partner, not usually such a tigress but still annoyed. He nodded.

My opponent took the second spade, drew only two trumps this time and then led clubs. I took the second club and led the king of spades.

RUFFS IN DUMMY

If declarer ruffed in dummy, he could lead a club but my partner would ruff. Then South would eventually give up a diamond for down one. When South actually refused to ruff in dummy, I led a club. South ruffed high to shut my partner out, but then he could get only one discard on dummy's last club. Down one.

"Bridge writers are all alike," my opponent insisted as he paid his debt to my partner. "You look as though you're not smart enough to count trumps."

He had me there.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- K 9 8 2
♥- 8 6
♦- Q 10
♣- A 6 5 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, planning to show the spade support at your next turn.

This sequence of bids shows a hand that is too good for a raise to two spades but not good enough for a jump to three spades.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Sept. 17, the 260th day of 1971.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

Baron Von Steuben, a Prussian officer who served with the American Revolutionary Army in 1777 was born Sept. 17, 1720.

On this day in history:

In 1939 Russia invaded Poland in World War II, 16 days after Nazi Germany moved into the same country.

In 1968 George Wallace, former and now again governor of Alabama, was nominated for president by the American Independent Party.

A thought for today: A motto on the seal of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, said, "Rebellion to tryants is obedience to God."

Here's a one-owner, low mileage dependable little economy car that we sold new in '64 to local family. This clean little wagon has been used almost exclusively for transporting small children back and forth to their many activities. We just took back in trade on a new Buick station wagon.
Popular standard transmission gives better than 25 miles-per gallon of gas. Easy to run and easy to work on if needed — a real buy for that high school boy or girl. NONI

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Meat Proteins Valuable But Not Absolutely Essential

Meat proteins are essential elements but it makes little difference whether they come from beef, pork, sheep, horse, fish, birds, polar bears, dogs, rats, snails, locusts, snakes or venison. The type consumed depends upon availability and cultural patterns. Some day we may be forced to change our preferences because of necessity or to help feed the world.

GOOD PROTEINS also are found in wheat, rye, corn, legumes, nuts, soya and other beans. In this regard, a person on a vegetarian diet can be healthy. Meat, eggs and dairy products contain higher quality proteins than those from grains but they are not absolutely essential. A strict vegetarian diet excludes all products of animal origin.

It is a difficult regimen to balance, and as a result, milk (but not eggs) may be added. Vegetable products similar to meats in appearance and taste are available, as well as oils, spreads and synthetic cream made from corn, safflower, soybean, cotton, peanut and sunflower.

FOR MANY PEOPLE the staff of life has always been and remains a cereal, such as wheat, rice, maize, millet, barley, oats or rye. But this does not mean that man was never meant to be a meat eater.

Huns and Mongols who terrorized Romans and Europeans during the Middle Ages lived mainly on meat, mare's milk, cheese, fruits and buckwheat gruel.

MEAT PROTEINS, however, are a luxury. Nutritionally, a steer's value is based on what he eats. Putting him out to pasture or feeding him expensive grain until slaughter time is costly. Many authorities wonder why all feeds must first pass through the steer before they are processed for humans. Why not grow crops that are processed initially into food for human consumption? If this theory was also applied to lamb and pork, we could become bird and fish eaters, supplementing our diet with cereals, vegetables, fruits and eggs.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-adressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SUSPICIOUS OLDSTER

H. P. writes: Is it common for an old person who is retired to accuse his family of stealing his tools? This is happening with us and we don't know what to do.

REPLY

Yes, provided the man is senile. There is nothing to do except keep him in good health, protect him from injury and grin and bear the accusations. Be thankful he limits the accusations to tools.

INFORMATION ON SMOKING

REPLY

Write to the American Cancer Society, 219 E. 42nd St., New York, 10017; the American Heart Association, 44 East 23rd St., New York, 10010; and the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

DETERIORATED LUNG

E.B. writes: Will you please explain what might cause a lung to deteriorate, if cancer has been ruled out?

REPLY

Scar tissue from repeated or chronic respiratory infections. Circulatory changes, fungal diseases, and inhaling certain dusts may do the same.

INFECTION IN NEWBORNS

T. P. writes: Can a baby be born with an infection?

REPLY

Yes. Syphilis, pneumonia, malaria, chicken pox, measles, German measles, tuberculosis and other diseases have been noted in newborns.

Cancer Bill Is Criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A house subcommittee considering legislation to make conquest of cancer a prime national goal was told by the American Medical Association Thursday that a Senate-passed bill might hinder the effort.

Ingelfinger, editor of the New England Journal of Medicine, said the AMA endorses greatly increased funding of the cancer program but under the National Cancer Institute which is now part of the NIH.

Can 49ers Beat That S.I. Jinx?

The San Francisco 49ers in general and quarterback John Riley Brodie in particular have just received the infamous kiss of death. And it's really a smooch.

Everyone familiar with S.I. will understand the San Francisco team has been jinxed. The national slick is notorious for its hex on stars and teams. As soon as any one subject has appeared on the S.I. cover, it usually immediately falls flat on its kisser.

With the Niners favored over Atlanta in Sunday's National Football League opener, you can fear for the worst. Unless Coach Dick Nolan manages to buy up every copy of S.I. and burn them.

To compound the hex, the advertising department of S.I. also got into the act with a full-page splash for Pedwin, "NFL Boot of the year," with a picture of the natty Brodie, the NFL player of the Year, smiling, "I couldn't have said it better myself."

ANOTHER INTERESTING item in the current issue of S.I. mentions none other than big Larry Brink, the Mill Valley auto dealer and former All-Pro defensive end for the Los Angeles Rams.

In a mythical game between the 1951 Rams and 1971 Dallas Cowboys, author Tex Maule sets out to disprove some criticism that the game has deteriorated, flatly stating: "If the two teams were to play tomorrow the Cowboys would win by at least four touchdowns."

Anyway, Maule mentions Larry Brink thusly: "Blocking on Brink, who was exceptionally big (6-5, 240) for his day and who overpowered most tackles facing him, would be Rayfield Wright, who is bigger (6-6, 255) and more experienced. Brink would not have overpowered Wright and did not have the maneuverability to go around him."

I dunno about that. Last time I saw Larry he looked pretty maneuverable and overpowering. Sells more cars that way.

GETTING BACK to those 49ers, the Marin Chapter of their Goal Rushers Club will hold its first meeting of the year next Monday at San Rafael's Holiday Inn, noonish. President Ray Bennigson, former UCLA gridder, reports that 49er center Forrest Blue will be the guest player to answer questions about Sunday's victory (ahem) over Atlanta. Forrest Murrell Blue stands 6-5 and tips the Toledos at 260, so don't ask any intimidating questions, you guys.

FEW MISSES FOR THE MRS.

MARIN HIGH SCHOOL SLATE

A Big Football Weekend

All Marin County Athletic League football teams will be in action this weekend.

At 8 o'clock tonight Novato High School visits Riordan of San Francisco, Drake travels to Petaluma, while Terra Linda hosts Santa Rosa at San Rafael High School's stadium.

Tomorrow, San Rafael ventures to Lincoln High in San Francisco for an 11 a.m. tilt, while Tamalpais and San Marin high schools entertain Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland an Encinal of Alameda, respectively. Both afternoon games begin at 1 o'clock. Redwood opened its season this afternoon.

Of the three contests tonight, only defending champion Terra Linda is expected to come through without trouble as coach Don Lucas unveils heralded Napa transfer Kevin Donohoe at quarterback.

With him, Lucas admitted, "We're pretty good on offense, but we'll probably be inconsistent. But we whould still win. They're young, like us, yet they probably don't have as good a quarterback as we do."

The multi-talented Donohoe, bad back and all, will be in the lineup but starting monsterback Paul Berry is out with a dislocated finger. Converted quarterback John Buckley will attempt to fill the void. Despite the loss, Lucas considers his defense the team's strong suit. "We may make errors on offense, but we should be pretty solid defensively," he believes.

Lucas also pointed out that fullback Doug Long is doubtful, pending doctor's clearance on a troubled shoulder. Backup tackle Mike Costa is already scratched for the year with a similar injury. Otherwise, the Trojans enter the inaugural in "reasonably good shape," according to Lucas.

While Lucas and company are entertaining Santa Rosa, Drake tackles another Sonoma County Club, Petaluma High. The host Trojans will most likely show "three yards and a cloud of dust," Drake coach Bob Franceschini quipped.

With a relatively inexperienced quarterback at the helm in Ken Griffith, it is not surprising that Petaluma coach Howard Cadenhead leans heavily on the rushing abilities of halfbacks Bob Tiner and Al Harris. They are nursing ailing knees but should be ready to see action against the Franceschini footballers. Though noted in the past for a vaunted running game, Petaluma is working earnestly in developing the latent passing talents of Griffith. In pre-season escapades, Griffith has displayed improved aerial skills and a penchant for leadership. If he exhibits both attributes tonight, Cadenhead is confident victory can be achieved.

Novato High mentor Al Scott rests easily in the quarterbacking department with returning All-MCAL choice Marty Moroski leading the Club. His passing

Vida Blue To Pitch In TV Game Tonight

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Now that the Oakland A's have settled the issue of who will win the American League West Division perhaps Vida Blue can relax and get his 24th season victory.

Blue, who has had trouble getting over the 23 mark in his last three outings and says he's tired from so much pressure pitching this season, faces the Milwaukee Brewers tonight in a game that means very little to Oakland. But it will be televised back to the Bay Area by Channel 44.

The A's have already clinched their division. Yesterday they were guests of owner Charles O. Finley on his ranch in Laporte, Ind. for a party but the contest may mean something to the Brewers, who are 6½ games behind Minnesota and trying to get out of the A.L. west cellar.

The Brewers will pitch Marty Pattin, who has a 13-14 record this season. Blue, who started the year at a blistering pace, has now lost eight games.

The three-game series with Brewers will wind up the A's season on the road. Oakland opens its final home stand Tuesday with a doubleheader against Chicago.

Powerless Giants Vie With Padres

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If anyone has any ideas about how the San Francisco Giants can snap their hitting slump please relay them to manager Charlie Fox in care of Candlestick Park.

"I've tried everything I know to snap them out of it," Fox said Thursday after Ross Grimsley, a rookie lefthander, held the Giants to three hits in an 8-1 Cincinnati victory over San Francisco.

"I don't know what else I can do to help," Fox added glumly. "If anyone has any ideas or theories I'll gladly listen."

The latest defeat was the Giants' fourth in a row and 11th in their last 12 games. In four losses to the Dodgers and Reds this week the Giants managed a total of 23 hits, which averages out to less than six a game, and since Sept. 5 have batted only .165 as a team.

"You'd have to have the best pitching in the world to win with our hitting," said Fox, "and our pitching hasn't been all that good. I'll just have to go along with what we have and hope for something good to happen."

The Giants start their final home series of the season tonight against the San Diego Padres with Juan Marichal who hasn't won a game since Aug. 29, pitching against Steve Arlin.

Fox said he will shake up the batting order again with Willie Mays, who sat out the last two games, back in centerfield.

"If Mays plays then maybe I'll bench Ken Henderson," Fox said. "I'm really not sure what I'll do, but I'll do something."

Coach John McNamara, who as manager of the Oakland A's last year saw his team go through three different prolonged batting slumps, said there is little a manager can do to help.

"All you can do is send them out there and hope they'll come out of it," said McNamara. "They just have to keep swinging and come out of it themselves. I'll say this, if anyone knows how to snap a team out of a hitting slump he can make a lot of money."

John Cumberland was the hard-luck loser of Thursday's game. The Reds put three hits together at the start of the game for a 2-0 lead and it stayed that way until the fifth when Dick Dietz hit his 17th homer. Grimsley, who struck out four and walked one in gaining his 10th victory, had retired 13 batters in order until Dietz found the range.

Rookie shortstop Chris Speier missed a home run by a couple of inches leading off the sixth when his drive to left hit the top of the fence and bounced back for a double.

Cumberland, next up, squared around to bunt and when he missed the ball, catcher Johnny Bench caught Speier off second and Chris was nailed in a rundown.

At that moment Fox almost fainted.

"I couldn't believe it," said the Giants manager. "We can't even do the simplest things anymore without it costing us. There was no reason in the world for Speier to get caught off base."

That was the Giants' last gasp against Grimsley.

In the eighth the Reds batted around against Cumberland and Don McMahon for five runs with former Giant George Foster getting the big blow — his first big league grandslam.

Counting tonight's game with the Padres the Giants have only a dozen contests remaining. The same number the Dodgers have to go.

Laver To Open Tennis Tourney

By RON LENT

Top ranked pro Rod Laver of Australia will face an opponent "yet to be determined" Sept. 25 at noon in the opening match of the $50,000 Redwood Bank International Tennis Tournament at San Francisco's Golden Gateway club, tourney director Barry MacKay of Ross said yesterday.

The event, a 64-man competition featuring all 32 contract World Championship Tennis and assorted independent pros, plus America's leading amateurs, vie in San Francisco and at the Berkeley Tennis Club. East Bay play runs from Saturday through Oct. 3, while Golden Gateway matches are set for noon and 5:30 p.m. weekdays from Sept. 27-Oct. 1.

Those competing include the "best four pros in the world," explained MacKay, regarding the quartet of Laver, Ken Rosewall, Arthur Ashe and John Newcombe.

The stylish, 6-foot-4 former Davis Cupper pointed out "that most everyone ranks Laver number one, and Rosewall was the 1970 U.S. Open Champion." Ashe, the 1968 Open Winner, and Englishman Newcombe, 1971 Wimbledon champ, round out the group.

"This in itself, makes this the best field anywhere," said MacKay. "This one is better than the U.S. Open, which didn't have Laver or Rosewall."

After lauding the "big four," the dapper netter added that the depth quality involved is "truly impressive." In this category, MacKay listed Bob Lutz of Tiburon, Tom Okker of Holland, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, Chicago's Marty Riessen along with independent pros like Jeff Borowiak of Lafayette. NCAA champion Jim Connors of UCLA is also included in this grouping.

"Because we have this type of wide field, we can honestly call this an 'open.' "

Redwood Bank president Byron Leydecker concurred, commenting "we at the bank believe any activity that is good for the Bay Area is good for the bank. That is why we're sponsoring this."

Leydecker, though saddled with a health problem which prevents his playing, is still an avid tennis buff. "Tennis allows people to express themselves in a constructive way. You can play or watch, whether you are nine or 90.

"And, besides that, tennis is a growing sport; we're just trying to help it along," he said to a Golden Gateway luncheon gathering yesterday.

The congenial bank leader then praised his two-time tournament director MacKay and Ashe for their work with the underprivileged, particularly in Harlem four years ago.

Referring to MacKay's benevolent endeavors, Leydecker noted "he has devoted a good portion of his life working with these people."

prowess is unquestioned in Marin circles, however, Riordan High has always been a doubting Thomas. With their stingy defense, the Crusaders of Coach Bob Toledo have every right to be.

The purple clad San Franciscans worked intently throughout the week to contain Moroski and his catch-crazed ends, Charley Chung and Greg Straw, plus halfbacks Leo Magers and Stan Conti. The home "11" will also have to stop Novato lineman Pat Parinen and Ross Weklych, two outstanding Hornet defenders well known for destroying offenses. The pair plus the Rennier brothers, Mike and John, key a defensive unit which will be sorely tested by a usually productive Riordan attack.

In San Francisco tomorrow morning, Bob Muster's beefy San Rafael Bulldogs will take on a massive Mustang aggregate, but bulk never posed a problem to the shifty San Rafael backs Scott Duncan, Dirk Gansloser and Mark Ferrar. The three, particularly returning All-Leaguer Duncan, have excelled previously against large-sized opponents. Lincoln, a perennial pigskin power, has aspirations of an unbeaten season. Lincoln followers claim the Mustangs have all the horses for a title gallop.

But first, the hosts must try to escape the clutches of a front six San Rafael defensive line featuring the Lechner brothers, Bill and John. Duncan is the steller secondary performer.

Later that afternoon, Tamalpais and San Marin high schools will seek their first wins in home fights with Bishop O'Dowd and Encinal, respectively.

The lineups:

Marin In Home Opener

By JIM SMITH

Marin, whose starting lineup has been a game of musical chairs since last week's offensively encouraging but defensively depressing scrimmages against Diablo Valley College of Concord, will be one afternoon hope to equal last year's record of one victory. Anything beyond that would be frosting on the cake as Marin lost all eight of its other games last season.

Marin coach Dick Read today announced Kevin Peak, former Drake High School star, would start at quarterback on the strength of his better passing ability than alternate quarterback Bob Daniele.

"Kevin has to come through for us," said Read about his starting signal caller. The better passer of the two quarterbacks, Peak has excellent receivers in ends Tom McGrath and Mike Corder and wingback Dave Perron, all two-way performers on both offense and defense.

"Bob Sutherland is three times the runner he was last year," Read said, as Sutherland and teammate Gary Agee will lead the running attack.

The offensive line is a strange brew of defensive ends, and reserves, strung together by injury and expediency. At center is Dennis Miller, who replaces Blair Bavuso because of a leg injury. Guard Rick Gifford has been moved to left tackle, while Tim Thompson is at right. The guards are Craig Cunningham and Art Herrnberger.

"We're going to be better against the run, but the pass defense needs adjustment," said Read, as safeties Corder and McGrath, and cornerbacks Neal Given, and Perron are inexperienced. "He's a good hitter" said Read about Given. "We expect him to play a lot of offense and defense for us."

Tar stalwarts Chris Fenton and Rick Puccinelli are set at linebackers, while Chris Chapman and Frank Pomilla are at left tackle and middle guard, respectively. Ross Gondak and Ken Blasingame are at right tackle and left defensive end.

Thomas Seeks Reinstatement

DALLAS — Controversial running back Duane Thomas, who criticized Dallas Cowboys' management and then disappeared into retirement, has asked the club to reinstate him.

The Cowboys Thursday said they would accept back their former rookie sensation, but only if he passed the team physical and received clearance from National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The outspoken 36-year-old defensive tackle, cut adrift by the Detroit Lions Tuesday, decided Thursday not to further investigate a low-key offer from the Los Angeles Rams.

"I don't have anything to prove," said Karras.

SINGING THE BLUES

Alston Learning Fox' Old Tune

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Walter Alston may be the senior manager in the major leagues but he's learning one thing fast from Charlie Fox—it's called singing the blues.

The National League's Western Division race remained a stalemate Thursday as the Cincinnati Reds upended the first-place San Francisco Giants 8-1 and the San Diego Padres stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1. The Giants hold a one-game lead with each team having 12 games left.

Fox, who watched his Giants fall to their fourth straight loss and 11th in the last 12 games, has been singing songs of woe late, a far cry from early this season when the Giants threatened to make a mockery of the Western race. And now Alston seems to have learned the song,

"I've tried everything I know to snap them out of it," said Fox, referring to the Giants' hitting slump. "I don't know what else I can do to help. If anyone has any ideas or theories, I'll gladly listen. You have to have the best pitching in the world to win with our hitting and our pitching hasn't been all that good."

The words were different but Alston's tune was the same. "anytime you lose you look sluggish," he said as the last-place Padres bumped his Dodgers for the second straight night. "There's not much you can do if you can't get guys on base and then if you get guys on base, they can't slide into home unless somebody hits them in. I think we've had some of this coming. We didn't do a lot to help ourselves the last two nights."

Dodger hitters left nine men on base in each loss and produced only one run in each game.

Rookie Ross Grismley stopped San Francisco on three hits and former Giant George Foster smashed a grand slam homer in the five-run eight to break the game open. Lee May had four hits and Pete Rose added three for the Reds.

Nate Colbert, Larry Stahl and John Jeter hit home runs to back Fred Norman's seven-hitter in the Padres' victory. It was only the third victory in 15 decisions for Norman, a former Dodger.

The Padres, who seem determined to be the deciding factor in the race, try to work their magic spell against the Giants tonight. Steve Arlin will pitch for San Diego against Juan Marichal, who hasn't won since Aug. 29.

The Dodgers are scheduled to face Atlanta with Claude Osteen, idled all week with the flu, set to face the Braves' George Stone.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis 6-1, Chicago edged New York 1-0, Montreal beat Philadelphia 6-2 and Atlanta nipped Houston 4-3.

In American League action, Detroit topped Washington 3-1, Baltimore defeated New York 6-2, California edged Kansas City 2-1, Boston outlasted Cleveland 10-7 and Minnesota downed Milwaukee 7-3.

Ramon Hernandez, a St. Louis castoff, stopped the Cardinals in relief for the second straight night to give Pittsburgh the victory and help the Pirates reduce their magic number for clinching the Eastern title to three.

FISH AND GAME

Warden Misses Culprit But Arrests A Salmon

By AL GIDDINGS

Last Tuesday I wrote a column on the salmon run of big fish off California City and I've had a few complaints of illegal fishing in that location since then.

One serious complaint was that a commercial boat had fished the area over the weekend, taking 18 salmon. This is strictly illegal as this area (District 12) is never open to commercial salmon fishing. Investigation for this boat is continuing. There were also some complaints of people using two rods. Inside the Golden Gate Bridge, the number of rods legal per fisherman is one!

One day this week I patrolled the area by boat. It was a beastly hot day! I thought it might be cooler out there, more so than along the shoreline. I left Loch Lomond Harbor in San Rafael about 1:15 p.m., taking an ice box along with six sodas and a frozen two and one-half gallon jug of ice water.

There were about 40 boats working the area off the old net depot at California City. The best way for me as a fish and game warden to work this type of setup with all the boats moving and having lines out is to forget a license check and just observe the entire fishing operation that is going on. This way, the litterers, the two rodders, the undersized fish catchers and a possible commercial boat or overlimits can generally be noted.

Now, to make this a more reasonable operation, I usually put a trolling rod out! This day, I had a friend along who really enjoys fishing! He came along just for the ride! There's an extra old beat up rod in the boat, so I told him to hook it up, along with my rod; that we might as well troll while we were there.

I guess we trolled around about a half hour, when we noted a single person in a boat using two rods. He was perhaps two blocks away. We began to work our way slowly up to his boat, when about that time another boat went whipping by. As this boat passed ours the fellow using the two rods yelled and whistled to him. I guess he wanted to show him a fish. I thought "We'll this guy," so I speeded up the motor! What do you think happened? A huge fish hit my friend's line. I had to slow the motor and our "two-rodding" friend must have noticed the F&G insignia on my boat. He was gone right now.

We finally landed the fish — a 31 pounder! Well, we gave it another half hour or so, checking with some of the boats as to their catches. The party boat "Ed: Bob" had four. Quite a few boats had one or two. All the fish were top quality. Things looked pretty legal, except for the one boat that left the area and it was so torrid out there that we decided to go in.

Wouldn't you know it, a second fish hit that beat up old rod. My friend suggested that I take the rod this time which I happily did. The fish turned out to be almost identical to the first fish. One was a male, the other a female. Our total time in the area was two hours: 1:30 to 3:30, fishing the last of the outgoing tide using two pounds of weight and forty pullouts. We used herring for bait. It's a great and safe fishing area.

THE DEPT. of Fish and Game checked 2,781 sage grouse hunters at 10 check station this past three day season (Sept. 4-5-6). The hunter success was .68 birds per hunter.

Lassen County had 1,004 hunters checked with 568 birds, Modoc had 226 hunters with 123 birds and Mono-Inyo had 1551 hunters checked with 1,187 birds. The overall picture showed that the number of hunters this year was up 25 per cent over last year. The bird hunting success was almost identical.

San Jose State Opens Season Against Fresno

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Pacific Coast Athletic Association football race gets started Saturday with San Jose State at Fresno State, the first league battle of 1971.

Other association members with the exception of San Diego State meet nonconference foes Saturday with Cal State Los Angeles at United States International University; UC Santa Barbara at Tennessee; Cal State Long Beach at Northern Illinois; and Pacific at Texas, El Paso.

San Diego State, preseason favorite to win the PCAA football crown on the basis of a sports writers and sportscasters vote, does not open its campaign until Sept. 25 at Jackson, Miss., against Southern Mississippi.

Pacific-8 Attempts Comeback

By RON SUPINSKI
United Press International

This is shaping up as redemption week for UCLA, USC, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington State and California football teams of the Pacific-8 Conference.

All of them were beaten in season openers against intersectional foes last week and are deadly desirous of breaking into the win column. But UCLA and California might find the going a bit rough.

The Bruins are 12 1-2-point underdogs to the Texas Longhorns and their bruising ground game out of the wishbone-T. Quarterback Eddie Phillips will guide Texas against the Bruins in a nationally televised contest.

Junior college transfer Jay Cruze will be starting his first varsity game at quarterback for the Bears in place of Reed Chastang who was injured against the Razorbacks and will miss more than half the season. Running backs Isaac Curtis and Tim Todd have shaken off injuries which allowed them only limited service last week and they will go full blast against the Mountaineers.

But West Virginia has strong credentials. They handled Boston College 45-14 last week and boast a powerful inside running game featuring fullback Pete Wood and quarterback Bernie Galiffa.

In other games involving Pacific-8 teams, Washington and Sonny Sixkiller are at home to entertain Purdue, Arizona of the Western Athletic conference opens its season at Washington State, Iowa visits Oregon State and Stanford is at Army. Oregon hosts Utah and USC is at Rice in night contests.

The Trojans, beaten by Alabama last week, are 10-point favorites over Rice. In Lou Harris and Sam Cunningham, the Trojans have another pair of devastating runners which the Owls might have difficulty in stopping.

Stanford is favored to whip Army by at least 16 points but Indians coach John Ralston notes the Cadets have lost only five of their 81 home openers at West Point. The Cadets are considerably improved over their 1-9-1 record of last season and are led by Dick Atha, a lefthanded quarterback who may pose some problems for Stanford defenders.

In the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, UC Santa Barbara jumps from the frying pan into the fire. After being shellacked 65-7 by Washington last week, the Gauchos find themselves going against the Tennessee Vols who are rated better than Washington.

THIS DAY IN SPORTS

A Surprise For U.S. Golf Team

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Nonplaying captain Jay Hebert tried to pair "two guys who can put the ball on the green" for today's competition against Great Britain's charging Ryder Cup team, holding a 4 1-2 to 3 1-2 edge over the Americans after the first day of play.

Except for Arnold Palmer and Gardner Dickinson, who won two matches, the U.S. golf stars might have been farther behind, and Britain's captain Eric Brown said he was "overjoyed" anyhow because "this is the first time we've been in the lead after the first day on American soil."

Hebert, whose players lost three of four matches in the morning and then rallied to win two and halve another of four in the afternoon, declared the weather favored the British. There was overnight rain and low temperatures, in the 60's, throughout the day.

"It was difficult for my boys to play under those conditions," Hebert said. "If I'd known it was going to be wet, I'd have paired my long hitters together. Foursomes require more playing together. Four ball needs two guys who can put the ball on the green, and then you've got two putts at the hole."

The British lead was exactly the same as they held in 1969 after the first round at Royal Berkdale in England, when the Americans managed to tie after two days of play before Great Britain came from behind in the final-day singles matches for the only deadlock in the series, 16-16. The U.S. team has won 14 matches, Great Britain 3.

1976 OLYMPIC GAMES HOPEFUL

Lad's Motto: Walk, Do Not Run

By RON LENT

San Rafael High School has a 1976 Olympic Games hopeful in senior Jerry Lansing.

The 17-year-old athlete is earnestly training today to compete in the walking events a half-decade hence, he is receiving help and encouragement enroute from fellow walkers, veterans Tom Dooley, Bill Ranney and Goetz Klopfer, all teachers at SRHS.

However, Lansing takes all their kind words in stride, for he is enveloped in a rigorous conditioning program which includes: Tuesday, series of 880 runs; Wednesdays, 10 miles covered in a walk race pace; Thursday, more track for speed development; Friday, walk an "easy" eight to 10 miles; Sunday, a 30 mile walk.

Lansing jumped into walking after running distance races three years ago. "When coach (Bill) Ranney (the American 15 mile and 25 kilometer American record holder in this event) would walk while we jogged, Idecided to try it.

"You might say I was a natural at it. I caught on right away, so I was able to concentrate on other things like endurance and strength."

Lansing's innate walking talents enable him to refine his skills by taking on an ambitious distance schedule he walks through, no mean feet.

Though such undertakings can be painfully boring and trying on his soles, Lansing keeps in step by gallavanting with Ranney, Klopfer and Dooley. "Or I sometimes go with other walkers from school," he explained.

The 6-foot-1, 150-pounder was admittedly" small and squat" in his junior high school days. "But," he stated, "I gradually thinned out and got into condition. So when my brother (Joe) went out for cross country in high school, I did too."

Yet, Jerry discovered that, by his own admission, "I'm a better walker than runner."

However, his running has conditioned him for walking. For example, the speed garnered from running sets of half-miles is a boon in any stretch drive during a race. But Lansing is the first to admit that different muscles are used in his specialty.

"We use a lot of knee and hip action," he pointed out. "It may look funny to see the tail flying," Lansing agreed, "but without the exagerated movement, you could not move. And it also helps increase the stride."

The elbows flail in a motion similar to that of a washing machine, while the competitor carefully touches both the heel and toe to the ground.

Although mastering these intricacies are difficult, Lansing has found that, because of them, he may walk right into college with a full scholarship. "They just started putting walking races into small college events, which will mean scholarships. I hope to get one."

This, coupled with making the 1976 Olympic Games in Germany, are his immediate aspirations. He has not determined a career goal, so he may go for a walk to think of a way to find one — if only to keep in step with college requirements.

Coody, Miller In Kaiser Fold

NAPA, Calif. (UPI) — Charles Coody and John Miller, recent winners of two major golf tournaments will play in the fifth edition of the Kaiser International Open here, Oct. 18-24.

Coody, 1971 master champion, announced he would take up the challenge of the Silverado courses for the fifth consecutive time at a news conference immediately following his one-shot victory in the world series of golf at Akron, Ohio.

Miller, who won the Southern open in Columbus, Ga., by five shots on the same day as Coody's victory, also has said he will play in the $150,000 tournament on his home courses.

American prisons are very much in the news these days with their seething unrest and too frequent explosions. Much less is being heard, however, of institutions and agencies striving to reduce our prison populations by turning troubled youths into new, more constructive directions. One such is Sunny Hills at San Anselmo. And Marin Magazine editor Don Keown writes about this treatment center for emotionally disturbed adolescents as a special and important feature for tomorrow's I-J supplement.

Each week the Marin Magazine's "Profile of a Marinite" series introduces its readers to another prominent and interesting resident of their county. Few, however, have been more interesting than tomorrow's subject. He is Benjamin P. Draper of Mill Valley. He is a man of many talents and of multiple interests, although best known as the producer of the long-running "Science in Action" TV series. U.S. Studies Cheap Energy Source

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor.

NEW YORK (UPI)—A nation needs energy to survive and prosper in today's world. Even then it may not survive unless world pollution is brought under control.

Why, then, ask many scientists and energy experts, is the United States allowing Russia to get such a big lead in an energy producing technique that gives "more bang for the buck" and is pollution free?

They refer to magnetohydrodynamics (MHD), the art of generating electricity by direct heat conversion. Russia, which doesn't toss money around lightly, already has three such plants in commercial operation, and another $300 million, 1,500-megawatt MHD complex is on the drawing board.

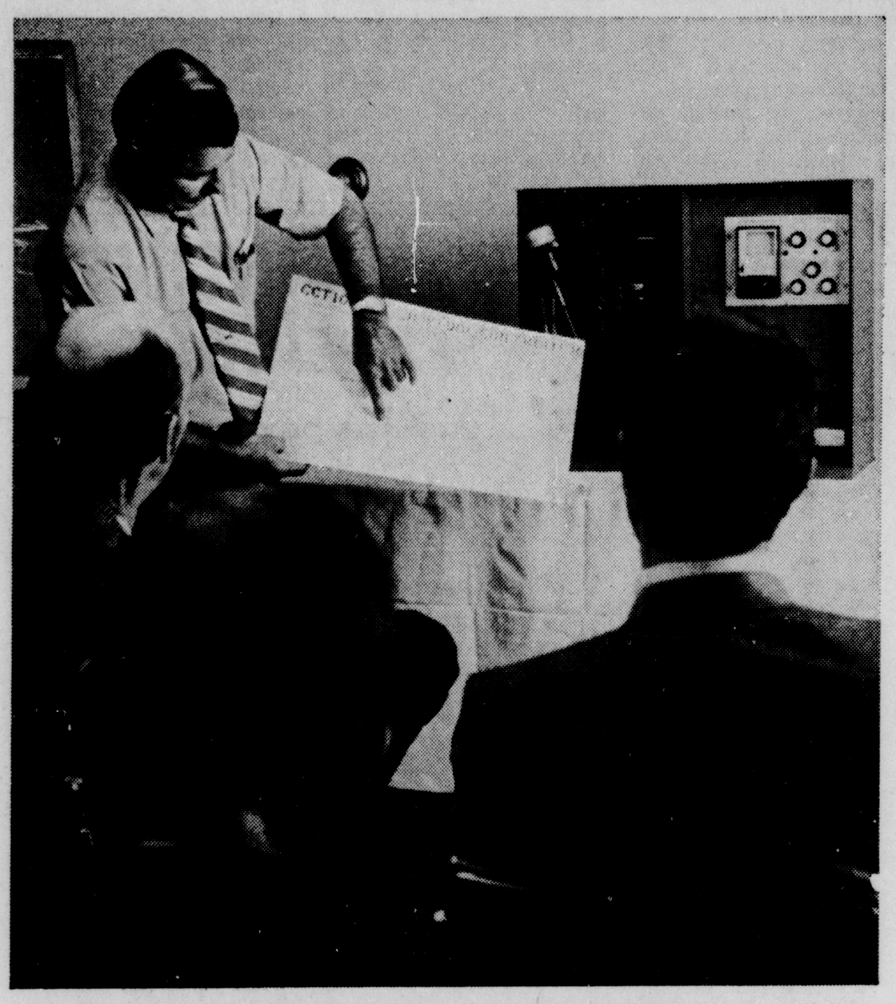
The Soviets are said to be from three to 10 years ahead of the United States even though the United States and West Germany agreed recently to cooperate on MHD plants. Their feasibility has been studied for years by General Electric, Avco, Westinghouse, General Dynamics, Martin and the American Electric Power Service Corp. Cutbacks in governmental and industrial research and development projects have hurt the MHD program here.

On March 25, 1971, the Russian government announced through Tass, its news agency, that it had achieved a "breakthrough" with a thermionic converter system. Like MHD, it is capable of converting nuclear energy directly into electricity rather than through the heating of steam to drive a turbine generator. And like MHD, it depends largely on cesium, the most easily ionized of all metals and one that burns instantly and explosively on contact with oxygen.

Direct heat conversion in the MHD process involves seeding a helium plasma with cesium. The ionized gas then circulates under great heat between electromagnets. As the ionized atoms pass between the magnets, the electrons circulate in one direction and the nuclei in the other. Such separation of negative and positive electric charges produces voltage.

Chemalloy Minerals Ltd. of Toronto, Canada, is the company most likely to profit by any MHD boom. Its mine at Bernic Lake, Manitoba, has the largest cesium deposits in the world and the only substantive one in the Western Hemisphere. Two smaller deposits, totalling about half the Bernic field, are being worked in Africa.

"Bernic contains approximately 120 million pounds of cesium oxide," said David T. Winchell, president of Chemalloy during a recent New York interview. "We already have sold the Russians 250,000 pounds and are negotiating for larger quantities."



COMPUTER AGAINST POLLUTION

George Condrashoff of Chem Corp Engineering, Sausalito, demonstrates that company's latest pollution control device, the CCT-100, Ph (Orp) Controller, to representatives of Signetics, Hills Brothers, and Fairchild Semiconductor. The unimpressive-looking device applies computerized logic to the measurement and control of phosphate emissions. It was given its preview showing recently at Chem Corp's headquarters at 2660-A Bridgeway.

Bank Will Offer New Issue Of Bonds

WASHINGTON, D.C. (BW) — The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development has announced that the bank proposes to offer in the United States on Aug. 11, a new issue of $175 million, principal amount of 25-year bonds.

The bonds will be non-redeemable for a period of 12½ years and will be offered through a nationwide group of underwriters headed by the First Boston Corp. and Morgan Stanley & Co. Inc.

Market Is Up Slightly; No Surprise

Some analysts said the firmness was to be expected in view of the softness of the list this week.

Shortly before the noon hour advances topped declines, 605 to 423, with 1,419 issues traded.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also were higher, with 360 advances and 218 declines among 841 issues traded. Braniff A was the most active issue —74,300 shares, up 3-8 to 13. Crystal Oil gained 1-8 to 8 1-8 on 16,200 shares and Presley Development added 1 3-8 to 54 1-8 on 13,000 shares.

Most active issues on the Big Board included Amerada Hess, up 2 1-8 to 58 1-8, and Boise Cascade Corp., up 1-8 to 26 1-2.

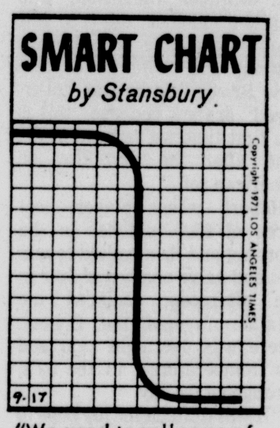
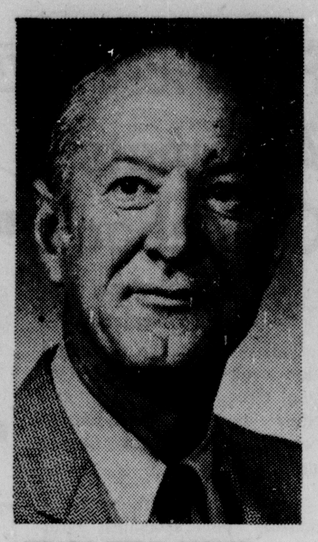
Film Firm's Profit

NEW YORK (BW) — Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. has reported a profit before taxes and extraordinary items for the second quarter of 1971 of $2,658,000 compared with a loss before taxes of $23,289,000 for the second quarter of 1970.



"We used to sell some of the people all of the time. Now we sell all of the people none of the time."



HEADS TITLE OFFICE — Burton J. Stutz of San Anselmo has been appointed vice president and manager of the San Rafael office of Pacific Coast Title Co. Stutz started in the land title business in Marin in 1946, and for the past seven years has been manager of the Napa branch of Security Title Insurance Co.

Gas Firm Joins A Study Group

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Pacific Lighting Gas Development Co., Los Angeles, and the Alberta Gas Trunk Line Co. Ltd., Calgary, have signed an agreement whereby Pacific Lighting Gas Development Co. becomes a full member of the Gas Arctic Systems study group.

Pacific Lighting Gas Development Co. is a subsidiary of Pacific Lighting Corp., and was formed last year to develop new supplies of natural gas for Southern California.

Participation in Gas Arctic Systems study group now provides Pacific Lighting an avenue to bring its new potential gas interests from the Arctic to market.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Hold American For Potential Rebound

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What are the future prospects for American Motors (NYSE) stock? I hold 50 shares which I purchased in 1966 at around $16. — G.S.

A. As I am sure you have noted, the entire auto sector has become the target of renewed investor enthusiasm. Following President Nixon's dramatic Aug. 15 announcement, investors seemed to single out U.S. automakers as the chief beneficiaries of the new "game plan" which is designed to stimulate consumer spending, curb foreign imports and let the dollar float.

The proposed repeal of the 7 per cent excise tax, if enacted, will render American-made cars less expensive (in many cases by about $200), while the imposition of the 10 per cent surcharge on imports is expected to strengthen U.S. automakers' competive position. Imports have been cornering a larger and larger share of the domestic auto market. In fact, foreign car sales rose a sharp 31 per cent in the first half of 1971 alone.

While this new economic program may be constructed as bullish for the auto makers, they still have some longer-range problems to face, notably higher costs from pollution control and safety equipment requirements.

American Motors, the smallest of the U.S. auto manufacturers, not only must compete with foreign car producers but also with the "Big Three," a fact which is evident from its operating results. Company's earnings performance in recent periods has been unimpressive: a substantial loss was reported for fiscal 1970; and a 19 cent share deficit was incurred in the second quarter of fiscal 1971. However, some improvement is apparent, for American reported a 28 cent share profit for the three months ended June versus a 57 cent share deficit in the like 1970 quarter. Net sales gained 12.8 per cent for the period.

Although American Motors is not considered as good quality an issue as its three U.S.competitors, the stock does have speculative appeal as a turnaround candidate and should be held at present levels.
